Kansas Family Arrives Here.

Thos. Schild and family, of Goodland, Kansas, arrived at this place Thursday with a large carload of personal effects, including five horses, two colts, two cows, pigs, chickens, ducks, farm implements, wagons and household goods. Mr. Schild has purchased the DeLure Hemenway place six miles south of town and will move thereon at once. Mr. Schild appears to be a prosperous farmer and will no doubt succeed in favored old Oregon, where crops never fail.

Dog Suicides By Hanging.

Bryson Sears who lives on a farm two and a half miles northeast of this city, lost a valuable young varmint hound Wednesday in a peculiar way. The dog attempted to jump over a picket fence, while running and in falling back its neck slipped down between two pickets and it was choked to death before located by Mr. Sears. He regrets his loss very much.

E. J. Lewis a well known socialist speaker, addressed a fair sized audience at the armory hall Wednesday evening. He presented the principles of socialism in quite a convincing and entertaining manner.

Wm. Veatch and Family Welcomed

Gowdyville, Oct. 3, 1908. Mr. Wm. Veatch and family having just moved back into their nice little home here, on last Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Manzo Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McKernon, Mr. and Mrs. Magee, Mesdames Wilbur and Chas. McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. Beales, Mr. and Mrs. Trailer, Mrs. Maj Canfield, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Handy, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Coleman and Cyrus C. Brock, all neighbors and friends, called at Mr. Veatch's to show and express their pleasure upon their return back to their home. All enjoyed the evening pleasantly. However, some of them overindulged in refreshments but still got home safely before midnight.

Entertained State Officer.

Mrs. Alice Porges of Portland, Deputy State Commander of the L. O. T. M., visited this city the first of the week, in the interest of the local Hive. She was the guest of Mrs. H. A. Miller during her visit.

The members of Lady Lamson Hive, Mrs. A. W. Kime commander, tendered her a reception at a special afternoon session on Monday, and at its close, served a delicious five o'clock tea, which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

A Leader representative called on Sam G. Lockwood Thursday at his home on Wall street and found him to be anything but the "critically ill" man which he was reported to be in our last issue. He is up and around and says he feels much better than he did on his arrival home from San Francisco lately. He is afflicted with a cancer in his ear, but says the swelling is reduced and many other symptoms of the arrest of the disease are apparent. Mr. Lockwood is very cheerful, looks well and thinks he has the better of the affliction with which he has been troubled for some time.

THE MONTANA LIMITED A FIRST CLASS SHOW

"The Montana Limited" is a thrilling play of life in the great west, by Charles Ulrich and W. L. Roberts. Critics are unanimous in its praise as one of the strongest western dramas produced. "Not a dull moment from the first to the last curtain. A series of thrilling incidents graphically told, superb scenic effects. A very marvelously realistic train robbery. An absorbing love story, teeming with virile life of the western mountains. Cowboys, road agents, Mexicans, Indians. A play replete with the odor of the mountain pines and the bracing ozone from mountain and plain. Once seen always in memory. Armory hall, October 14. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents.

J. S. Camp, a civil engineer has located in Cottage Grove, having fitted up offices upstairs in the new Phillips building. Mr. Camp was formerly locating engineer for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad company. He is prepared to make surveys for mining patents and has considerable work laid out for him in the Bohemia mines for next season. In the meantime he sees plenty of local work in his line to occupy his attention during the winter. He makes a specialty of railroad locations and estimates, municipal and land surveys, water and sewer plans and estimates, mining surveys surface and under ground. Timberlands also located and timber estimated. Mr. Camp has no doubt selected a good point for a location as there has long been an opening for just such a man here.
