At Opera House Two Nights.

The popular theatrical aggregation, Eckhardt's Ideals, will appear at the opera house Friday and Saturday nights, November 6th and 7th, the big dramatic event of the year, presenting the greatest of laugh makers, the Village Schoolmaster. It is one of those plays that catch you in the short ribs and you laugh from beginning to the end. The production was a great success in New York, where it had a phenomenal run. Manager Eckhardt witnessed the first production and immediately secured it for the coast. It gives all of the cast a chance for good work and also gives the ladies an opportunity to wear some swell gowns of the dressmakers' art. The company this year is the best ever enrolled under the management of Mr. Eckhardt. There will be no long waits, as there are vaudeville sketches between acts. Prices: children 25 cents, general admission 35 cents, reserved seats 50 cents. Seats on sale at the New Era drug store.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to the kind neighbors and friends who rendered us so much assistance and sought to comfort us during the illness and death of a beloved wife and mother.

HENRY DAMEWOOD AND FAMILY.

Shoe Shop in New Quarters.

A few roomers or roomers and boarders will be taken by Mrs. W. T. Kayser at her home one block west and two blocks north of the bridge. 28t

Hallow'en Party.

Miss Emma Job entertained a number of her friends at her home Wednesday evening.

The porch and rooms were lighted with Jack O'Lanterns and beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and red berries.

A ghost welcomed you at the door by extending a cold, clammy hand, which you were expected to shake as heartily as you pleased.

When the guests arrived they were told to find a diamond ring, hidden in the rooms. Then came the eating of doughnuts and apples suspended on a string.

Some learned their fate by means of three dishes of coffee, tea and water. Others experienced fright in the dark when commanded to grasp that which was thrust into their hands and when they did, found it to be chestnut burrs, cold starch and the like.

The ghosts escorted all to the basement, one by one, and by the weird sounds and noises the remaining ones were assured to meet the same doom.

In the ghosts' domain they found hung over a fire, a huge kettle which held walnuts. A nut concealing the future of each person.

The fortunes were read followed by stories of ghosts and haunted houses.

A gypsy waited up stairs to tell fortunes and there was much amusement over the fates of her victims.

Partners for lunch were secured by matching miniature pumpkins. At midnight the ghosts departed and the spell was broken.

The guests were: Misses Berg, Moore, Mundy, Curran, Coffee, Neva and Leah Perkins, Knowlton, Hefty, Jones and Lea. Messrs Thomas, Trask, Harvey, Curran, Anderson, Ernest, Scovell and Sanford.

Dr. Macey's New Office.

Some Varieties of Pheasants.

"Are you a good wing shot?"

"They say so."

"Well, just wait till the Reeves pheasant gets loose in this country and you'll waste your powder on the desert air."

The Reeves is the rage in the old world for size, beauty and juicy breast meat. See that seven foot tall? When lovenaking he holds it perpendicular or spreads it like a peacock. Its flight he is a flash of light, buzzing with twice the velocity of our native birds and able to stop at full speed and drop straight down into a tree.

"Easy mark," did you say? An Englishman didn't think so. He threw down his gun in disgust and grunted, "That's no pheasant; that's a long tailed skyrocket!"

The birds adapted to our country are the common, Chinese, Japanese, Mongolian, Reeves, Hagenbecks, Prince of Wales and Soemmerrings. Those for the avlary are the Golden, Silver, Amberst, Eared, Impeyan and Argus. The crosses among these are legion. Best known in United States are English, Chinese, Mongolian, Golden, Silver, Amberst and Reeves.

The business birds that are used to restock the west are mostly a cross of the English and Chinese.

China ships most game birds to the United States; Belgium and Canada next in number.

The Reeves, from China, is the popular bird in England and especially adapted to Scotland. In one season on the Suffolk estate 9,700 birds were bagged and 101,000 eggs gathered.

New Jersey raises as high as 20,000 birds a year, and private reserves scattered through the country rear many.

Colorado has an avlary at Denver of 3,000 pheasants on exhibition, a larger collection than that of all the parks of Europe together. As these birds require no more care than thoroughbred chickens, they will soon be bred everywhere.

Yes, dear, the time is nigh when you will no longer drag your weary feet o'er rough mountain roads and through trouser tearing thickets in vain attempt to find a chipmunk on which to try your $500 hammerless. The woods will be full of high fliers, and to bag one Reeves will be glory enough to shed a halo round you for a lifetime.

Died.

EMERSON—At the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Emerson, at Latham, Thursday morning Oct. 29, 1908, Chris Emerson, aged about 22 years of consumption.
