THE ELECTION.

In their wisdom the people of the country have selected Mr. Taft for the presidency, and, judged by the election day methods in Oregon, there is every reason to believe that it is a sincere verdict. It is a verdict decisive enough to remove all doubt as to the popular will and it comes straight from the ballot box. The people of the country are its rulers and the ballot box is their means of announcing their wishes. Their judgment is final, and there have been no instances in which they have not met all responsibilities of government with intelligence and competency. If their decisions are not to be fully trusted, then self-government is a failure and rule by the people a myth. To avoid chaotic conditions the will of the majority must be accepted, and in this instance a strong majority has called Mr. Taft to the presidential chair, very sensibly remarks the Portland Journal. His supporters have claimed that Mr. Taft is a man of splendid fitness and capacity for the office of chief magistrate. They have urged that the government can be better administered by him than by another. It is within the easy possibilities that Mr. Taft is all that has been claimed for him and that he will do his utmost to give the country a wise and just administration. It is easier to believe, and as easy to hope, that when the power finally passes into his hands that he will use it with a discerning wisdom that shall gratify his most earnest supporters and please those who were his opponents. In any event he is to be the president of the republic and he should at all times be accepted and hailed as such by the people and all applause be given his official acts whenever they shall appear to be for the general welfare.

Having a good mine, that is a mine which will supply a plentiful amount of pay ore, do not figure that it will pay to stoop out everything put in sight. In the best mines there is always large quantities of ore which is comparatively barren. Set the lowest limit at which you can mine and make even, and then so shape your property that you can take out your ore to the best possible advantage and at the lowest limit of expense.

Street paving commenced in Medford last week and most of the business streets will soon present a metropolitan appearance. Entertaining Medford.

It is important while a mine is in good ore to crosscut and reach out after new shoots, in other words to dig a mine in instead of digging it out.

Archbishop Christie officiated at the dedication of Albany's new seminary building Sunday and that city now has one of the best seminaries for young women in the state.

County Treasurer Eastland sent in to the state Monday the last half of the tax due the state from Lane county. It was in the shape of a draft for $26,565.

Marion county apples are being shipped to London, the varieties being the Spitzenbergs and Jonathans.

"Let the people rule." They show a disposition to do so, without much letting.

Election being over, business can now proceed without further interruption.

The new county of Hood river has about 1,600 voters and 9,000 population.

The Lady—Little boy, don't you know smoking will shorten your life? The Kid—Shucks! Wot do I care? I've seen everyting dere is.

Fails to Implicate Atwoods.

A coroner's jury yesterday failed to implicate the Drs. Atwood in causing the death of Pearl Lamb of Eugene which occurred a week ago as the result of a criminal operation. Dr. C. H. Atwood and Dr. C. H. T. Atwood had been arrested and are under bonds in connection with the young lady's death. The jury declared in its verdict that the young woman had come to her death as the result of "a criminal operation by persons unknown." A number of witnesses were examined, but the investigation failed to place the responsibility for the young woman's death.—Oregonian.

New Sewer Being Laid.

Contractor Harry Hart put a force of men to work Wednesday morning on his new sewer contract on Third and Shepherd street. He commenced at the corner of Mrs. Cottle's residence property opposite the Presbyterian church and runs one block south to Shepherd street, thence west to Fourth, a distance of 454 feet. Six inch sewer pipe is being laid and the contract price is $315.52.

Dr. W. W. Oglesby, a democratic war horse of this city, says he returned home early in the evening of election day and upon retiring about 9 o'clock was soon afterwards awakened by the crowing of his neighbors chickens, whereupon he remarked to his wife: "Well, Taft is elected, don't you hear every blamed republican rooster in this neighborhood crowing?" and the doctor swears those roosters kept crowing all night long.

The Oregonian has the supreme "nerve" to assert that the Oregon hens are lazy. The idea! Why, the poor hens are working over time. The trouble is there isn't enough of them. Oregon's real gold mines will be her poultry ranches in the future.

WHAT THE DISCIPLES OF CHRIST PRACTICE AND TEACH—LOYALTY AND UNITY

The "Disciples of Christ" call themselves "Christians," "Churches of Christ," "Disciples of Christ," using only authorized scriptural designations for themselves, and refuse all sectarian appellations as disloyal to the Lord and productive of divisions among His people. Believers were forbidden by the Apostle Paul to call themselves by the name of Cephas, Apollos or Paul, or to indulge a sectarian spirit. Loyalty to Christ requires both His name and His spirit.

The seventeenth chapter of John records the prayer of Jesus that all His followers may be one, not in any human leader or creed, but in Him and the Father only, in order that the world may believe.

The church is called the bride of Christ and should be known only by the bridegroom's name. It is called the body of Christ and should bear only the name of its Head.

CHRISTIANS ONLY.

The "Disciples of Christ" are not satisfied with mere human reformatory, but seek the complete restoration of the Christianity of Christ and His inspired apostles in teaching and in practice. They believe that Christians should be Christians only—plus nothing, minus nothing.

ing, divided by nothing—that where Christ speaks they should speak and where He is silent, they should be silent; binding nothing on men's consciences He has not bound, loosing nothing He has not loosed.

IMPORTANT PRINCIPLES.

The Disciples of Christ emphasize the following among other scriptural considerations:

1. A faithful declaration of the Word of God only, as vital to salvation and all-sufficient for doctrine and discipline, without the aid of human creeds as tests of fellowship.
2. The terms of admission into the Kingdom of God, as given by the Lord and His inspired apostles, without any human modification.
3. The observance of the Divine ordinances—baptism and the Lord's supper—according to the spirit and letter of the New Testament practice.
4. The church of Christ as a democracy in all matters of expedience, but an absolute monarchy whereinssoever the King hath revealed His will.
5. The indwelling of the spirit of Christ, in fullness and power, working the Father's will, the unspeakable privilege of every obedient believer.
6. The enjoyment of all the liberty granted in Christ, both in doctrine and conduct, without any sectarian license or limitation.
7. The unity of all believers in the Father and in the Son in order to the world's salvation, as pleaded by the Savior. R.
