looks after the sanitation of her home for the sake of her husband, her children, herself. Careful and scientific plumbing counts for much, and costs not much more than the old, indifferent, slapdash style of work. Only one word more: We are modern, sanitary plumbers.

DANGEROUS TEACHERS.

The writer's attention recently has been called to certain peripatetic "teachers" who are said to be exploiting the doctrine that it is sinful for men and women to live with one another in any other way save that of "the spiritual life."

Beware of these wolves in sheep's clothing!

They have broken up many happy homes.

The best advice one can give is this: Should this sort try to make disciples in your community see that they are sent away.

Charlatans of this kind have ruined homes in many places.

They peddle a kind of cult that appeals at the first blush to intellectual persons, women in particular. Afterward, when the disciple is believed to be "strong in the faith," the inner teaching is revealed.

There is much talk of "exoteric" and "esoteric" teaching, the outside for the world, the inside for the faithful.

First comes the piously put declaration that "the life of the spirit" is the only true life.

Then comes the inner teaching—the delicate suggestion of "spiritual affinity."

And then—destruction.

It may seem strange that sensible people should become devotees of these cults and be victimized by apostles of such teaching, but it should be remembered—

Every normal human being is hungry for spiritual food. The craving is just as keen as that of the physical appetite. And the appetite itself is not always the most accurate judge of what is best.

The fads exploited by many of the long haired itinerants are not dangerous. They are for the most part sublimely silly. But—

There is a specious plea that does attack the heaven ordained relations of husband and wife and that leads—to HELL ON EARTH.

Thousands of poor derelicts on the sea of life have been wrecked and set adrift by pious pirates.

Society needs to keep an eye on dangerous social interlopers who masquerade in the guise of religious prophets.

Whenever and wherever the sanctity of family life is imperiled by the propaganda of any preacher, prophet, medium, professor or what not—

BEAUTIFUL PLAY OF THE DAYS OF OUR SAVIOR, THE HOLY CITY

The influence of the Saviour of mankind permeates and illumines every scene of "The Holy City." Clarence Bennett's powerful religious play, which was the offering at the Grand yesterday afternoon and night. This is all the more remarkable when the fact is considered that He does not appear upon the stage. Mr. Bennett has so ingeniously and masterfully conjured up the atmosphere of those bitter days two thousand years ago, the scriptural story. It is the scriptural story without alteration or change, the narrative as recorded by the evangelists. There is an added story which deals with the love of Salome, the daughter of Herodias, for Marius, a young Roman, but that is entirely separate and distinct, and does not detract from the other story of the persecution, death and glorious resurrection of the Christ.

The play is presented by a company of rare excellence. Nearly all of the parts are character parts and players having especial facility in the delineation of strongly marked rolls were chosen for the principal characters. The settings are usually ornate, massive and rich and the costuming is lavish in the extreme.

Those who witnessed this masterly production were highly pleased from the beginning to the end—Meridian Morning Dispatch, November 16th 1907. It is an adaptation of
