

HENDERSON Habit Back

Corsets "FRONT LACED"

THE front laced models are the culmination of the latest and best ideas in corset fashion. They remodel the figure, giving it a perfectly moulded back, giving it lines of grace and symmetry and the long, tapering curves which are so artistically beautiful. They reduce the full figure, giving it the flattened front and slender hip effects. They are absolutely hygienic and have the endorsement of the leading physicians and dressmakers. We call special attention to the model illustrated which is made in two lengths, high bust, for the tall figure, and medium bust, for the shorter waisted stout figure. This model is extremely long over the back and hips. The extra lacing in the back from the waist-line down permits an absolutely perfect adjustment over the back and assists further in keeping the hips in perfect subjection, thus giving the so-called hipless figure. We carry the front laced corsets in a varied line of materials at prices ranging from $2.50 to $12. We cordially invite the ladies of our city and vicinity to visit our corset department and inspect these most exquisite models. Consultation and fitting free.

WHERE YOU DO BETTER

ANY CHUMP CAN KNOCK.

Don't criticise your neighbor's faults, no matter what they do; Don't ridicule the masses or malign the chosen few; Don't think yourself a censor of the silly human flock, And just remember as you go that any chump can knock. Don't laugh at those who make mistakes or stumble on the way, For you are apt to follow them—and almost any day. Don't think the others shifting sand and you are solid rock, And don't forget for heavens' sake, that any chump can knock. Don't be a pull-down of fame on other men conferred; Don't give a parting kick to one who fell because he erred; Don't think that you are perfect and the only size in flock, And now, once more, just bear in mind that any chump can knock.

Creswell Drama a Success.

A very humorous comedy drama, "A Family Affair" was given at Creswell last Friday evening by local talent for the benefit of the Creswell band. The characters were all very ably sustained and the play was well attended, every body being more than pleased with the presentation. Among those in the cast receiving special mention were Win McDaniel, as the Swede, and A. Howe, in the role of the deacon, while they were ably sustained by the rest of the Company. An effort is being put forth to induce the Creswell young people to present their drama in the Armory theater at this place, in which event they are certainly assured a good crowd, owing to the splendid satisfaction they gave at Creswell. If they decide to come to Cottage Grove they will be accompanied by the Creswell band.

Royal Intermediate School Items

We are glad to see Will Moore back to school again. Mrs. Owens spent Friday night at the home of Mrs. Wheeler. Mr. George Gildersleve made a trip to Cottage Grove Saturday evening. A young man from Cottage Grove called on three of the young ladies of the Royal School, one day last week though it was a pretty cold day (for him.)

A Rat Story.

Mr. Kelly, father-in-law of Henry Damewood, who lives in the vicinity of the west Cottage Grove public school, has been annoyed by rats about his premises recently. He accordingly baited and set a small steel trap and the first night caught a large wood rat. He set the trap again the next night and to his surprise the next morning had five half grown rats entrapped, some by the front legs, some by the hind legs and some by the tails. It is thought that the trap trigger was hard to spring and did not trip until the whole bunch of youngsters were gnawing at the bait, when five of them were trapped. Mr. Kelly has not been troubled with rats since his big haul.

Making Ready for New Brick.

C. C. Woodward late of Colorado, who purchased the McQueen & Ostrander corner lot on main and 3rd streets last fall will entertain bids for the building of a new two story modern brick thereon at an early date. Contractors should get busy and put in their bids, as Mr. Woodward desires to begin work as soon as settled spring weather comes.

Preliminary Hearing. Today

This is the day set for the preliminary hearing of Fay Allison and Charles Dyer, the Cottage Grove young men charged with a serious crime, and a dozen or more witnesses were subpoenaed to Eugene.

Strange, how women will all take their hats off at a concert of show, but insist on keeping them on at a church service, where if in any place in the world, they should display a Christian spirit, for keeping hats on in an audience is the acme of selfishness, remarks an exchange.

It has stood an acid test.

A SUCCESS STORY.

From section hand to vice president of a great railroad system is a long, hard climb, but an Iowa boy made it.

Early in the seventies W. C. Brown, aged sixteen, was a section hand on the Milwaukee road. Those were the days when western railroads used wood instead of coal on their locomotives. It was observed that Brown would load as much wood as two ordinary men.

In the evenings young Brown stayed around the telegraph office of the little station, where an obliging agent allowed him to practice on the key. Brown soon mastered telegraphy.

In a little while Section Hand Brown was a telegraph operator. And soon he was known as the best operator on his division.

Brown then took another round of the upward ladder. When he was twenty-two years of age he was a train dispatcher on the "Q" system, with headquarters at Burlington.

One Sunday night in midwinter a fierce blizzard swept over the middle west. In the yards at East Burlington were some 300 carloads of cattle. Unless they could be got into the sheds the Burlington would lose thousands of dollars.

Officials lay awake that night dreading the result of the storm.

It was none of Brown's business, but after his day's work he went to the superintendent and asked to take the job of caring for the live stock. He said he was once a section hand and knew just what to do.

And all that night, assisted by section men, Brown worked to save the cattle.

The next morning T. J. Potter, head of the Burlington system, came down to the superintendent's office and said, "Things are pretty bad over at the east yards, I suppose?"

"They would have been but for that young train dispatcher." And when Potter was told what had been done he said:

"What is his name? A man like that is worth watching."

After that Brown went up rapidly—chief train dispatcher, trainmaster, superintendent, general manager. Then came vice presidencies, and now he is the executive head of the great New York Central—actual head of the Vanderbilt system.

How did he get up? HE ALWAYS DID MORE THAN WAS EXPECTED OF HIM. He was never afraid of doing too much. Knowing the railroad business literally from the ground up, he knew what to do, how to do, and he never pushed himself. He pushed himself. You simply can't keep that sort of pace down.

2300 VOLTS PASS THROUGH MAN'S BODY

Great excitement was created Friday by the announcement that a man was hanging on an electric light pole near the Baptist church insensible from a severe electric shock. Great crowds rushed to the place and stood there watching the operation of taking him down which was not accomplished until full 40 minutes had elapsed.

Harry Anderson who has been employed for over two years with the lighting department of the Willamette Valley company, was in the act of cutting into a wire which carries the full 2300 volts, when for some reason he received the entire voltage, short circuited through his arms and shoulders and, had he not taken the precaution to throw his body strap over one of the iron footholds he would have fallen to the pavement and been killed. As it was his body fell across the wires which supported him, leaving his head hanging back—the best position possible for him to be resuscitated.

After much fussing around the ladders, men were brought from the fire department and a rope swung around his body and he was lowered to the ground, but he had recovered consciousness sufficiently to walk to the ambulance with some assistance and he was taken to the Eugene hospital where it was found both hands were badly burned. It was found necessary to amputate the middle, third and fourth fingers and part of the left hand, as the flesh had been burned to a crisp and it was impossible to save them.—Register.

MORE FANCIERS AND FANCY BIRDS

In reviewing the poultry fanciers of this community last Friday the Leader overlooked those mentioned below, not contemplating what a task it had taken up until it was publication day and no time left to gather further data for Friday's paper:

Nattie Martin is the exclusive breeder of White Langshans in this community and he has some fine birds.

For Blue Andalusians Mrs. Eakin has a flock, which is hard to beat.

Mrs. Edgar King has birds good enough for any show room in the Black Langshan, Buff Orpington and White Rock class.

Mrs. McReynolds has a nice flock of White Rocks and is going to give Silver and Golden Wyandottes a trial.

Those Silver Gray Dorkings of Mrs. J. C. Johnson are good enough for any company.

Tom C. Wheeler has a beautiful $10 Barred Rock male at the head of his pens.

Mr. Simeral has sold his stock of Black Minorca chickens to Dr. J. O. Van Winkle. They are good enough for any show room.

Harry Wynne shipped a nice trio of Silver Laced Wyandottes to a Salem purchaser Monday from his poultry pens in this city.

An appropriate sign on the demonstration train read: "Don't keep a hen until she has lost her teeth from old age."

If the male parent is old and the females young, more females will be had: the contrary is true if the male is young and the females old.

A lousy hen is no value as a layer or breeder. Get rid of the lice if you have to lose the hen as well.

Eggs selected in the early part of the season usually produce more males than females.

Professor Withycombe says that hen fruit is going to increase rapidly in Oregon. How about the price?

Don't send dirty eggs to market. If you would only notice the difference between a display of nice clean eggs and the dirty ones—which may be seen any day at the markets, you would never send another dirty egg. It takes so little time to sponge off the dirty ones.
