PERT PARAGRAPHS.

Most of us don't mind earning our living, but we are impatient of the system that makes it take so much of our time to do so.

We are apt to suspect people who always agree with us and to dislike them if they don't.

There may be some people who marry to get money, but did you ever know anybody to marry to lose it?

There is plenty of food for thought lying about, but there seems to be a very small demand for it.

We may not admire a pachyderm, but members of that class do seem comfortable under what to most of us seem to be distressing conditions.

There doubtless is a difference between a lie and a skillful handling of the truth, and the popularity of the operator clearly shows it.

The man who always does as he pleases is either a brute or a diplomat.

A short answer very often makes a long account that ultimately has to be settled.

The thought that we had it coming to us does not take the bitter taste out of our mouths.

It is hard to please everybody, but that isn't any reason why we should let it hard to please anybody.

Some people require to be treated with so much dignity that knowing them is a bad investment.

The man who doesn't talk back has the crowd guessing as to what he may have up his sleeve.

It is about as hard to believe what you hear as it is to hear what you believe.

"IN A BAD WAY"

Many a Cottage Grove Reader Will Feel Grateful for This Information

When your back gives out;
Becomes lame, weak or aching;
When urinary troubles set in,
Your kidneys are "in a bad way."

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.
Here is local evidence to prove it:

E. S. Gilkinson, retired, of Cottage Grove, Ore., says: "I suffered for ten years from kidney trouble. The most annoying symptom was the too frequent passage of the secretions over which I seemed to have no control. My back was very weak and painful. I was unable to sleep well and would arise in the morning feeling tired out. At times I was so lame that I could hardly get about and if I attempted to stoop, sharp pricks would dart through my back. I was also subject to headaches and spells of dizziness. I used numerous remedies, plasters and liniments without obtaining relief. Finally I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Benson's Pharmacy, and improved steadily from the first. My back became stronger and the trouble soon left me. I owe my present good health to Doan's Kidney Pills." For sale by all dealers. Price
50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PUBLICITY.

The actor says you cannot judge
By what the showbills say
Or by the way his name appears
In gorgeous red display.
He may not be the grandest scout
That ever held a spear,
But still they must announce him so
To make the crowds appear.

Upon the stage he may not act,
Like others of his type,
For lemons hardly ripe,
For sour apples or, indeed,
For sour apples or, indeed,
In his advance advice
That he was nothing but a dud,
Not worth the published price?

Advance announcements, as you know,
Are but a self made puff,
And you may gamble that it will
Be stated strong enough,
For chronic modesty is not
In this enlightened day
The ruling passion of the man
Who figures in the play.

And does he differ very much
From those who do not act
Although in more aggressive tones
He may proclaim the fact?
You'll find that men are much the same,
Though from the stage afar.
Just let the others get your ear
To tell you who they are.

Had the Proof.
"Dremboy is a true poet."
"I never read any of his works."
"Neither did I."
"How do you know, then?"
"I am on intimate terms with his tailor."

Saved His Few.

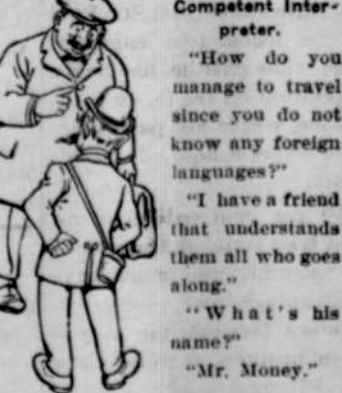

"You look all battered up."
"I was in a railroad wreck."
"Any lives lost?"
"None of mine were."

So Many Do.
"He is going to write a book."
"On what line?"
"Exposing something."
"Exposing what?"
"His ignorance, I guess."

Classified.
"What did you mean by all that spell?"
"Nothing."
"Say, what magazine do you write for?"

Quite the Thing.
"Poor Brown is gone."
"Did he die a natural death?"
"Yes; he was run over by an automobile."
