HAYWOOD WILL SPEAK IN COTTAGE GROVE

Wm. D. Haywood of the Western Federation of Miners, will speak in Cottage Grove Wednesday evening, May 12th at Masonic hall.

This will be a free lecture and affords an opportunity for those who may wish, to see one of the "Undesirables" for "Bill" Haywood is the original "Undesirable." Mr. Haywood will be remembered as a prominent figure in the great Steunenberg murder trial at Boise, Idaho.

Billy Sunday offered a Hood River man $50,000 for his place, but didn't get it.

SNOW MELTED ON BOHEMIA RIDGES

The snow is almost gone from Bohemia and work will begin on the camps very soon, says Walter Eaton, a mining engineering student at the University, who has been working in Bohemia as a mining engineer during the winter. Only a foot or so of snow remains on the ridges now though the date is early for the white mantle to go off.

A 140 acre farm in grain and alfalfa, between Medford and Jacksonville sold for $30,500 to Idaho parties.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM THE BOHEMIA GOLD MINES

New Cynide Plant Will Soon be Ready to Make Test Run---The West Coast and Hard Properties Showing Up Well

Parties holding claims in the Bohemia mining district predict greater activity the coming season than in any previous summer in this well known camp. The Kelso Gold Mining & Milling Co's large new plant will make its first run this month. This is probably the largest reduction plant in the state, having a capacity of 120 tons of ore per day. The plant consists of two Chilian mills with a minimum capacity of 50 tons each, fine water power, rock crushers, concentrators and synide tanks.

On account of the company getting in their supplies late last fall, but one of the mortars will be placed in operation at present, but W. P. Ely, general manager of the company hopes to have the whole plant running by August 1st. This company is the owner of several good claims and the leases of the Mayflower group. Two of the veins are very large measuring over 30 feet between walls. The natural location of the properties makes them easily worked as all the company's holdings can be developed to the creek levels by tunnels and every pound of ore carried to their large plant by gravity. The company has been very fortunate in securing the services of an experienced man in the person of Mr. J. K. Turner, who has had years of experience in handling low grade ores by the cynide and amalgamation process and who tested the ores from the company's property before assuming the position of mill foreman. Mr. Turner has worked in various camps in Idaho and Montana and visited many of the mining districts in the west and says the Bohemia camp gives the best showing of any camp he ever seen.

A. R. Remick, A. G. Huntington and Chas. Rankin, stockholders of Kelso, Washington, the former, one of the directors and treasurer of the company, visited the property last week and were well pleased with the showing and declare they were agreeably surprised at the wonderful richness of the camp and the large ore bodies.

W. P. Fly, known to many of our readers and one of the veteran prospectors of the camp, came down to Cottage Grove accompanying his Kelso friends out and also to see about taking in a complete assay outfit and some needed supplies. While he did not care to say much about the Mayflower group on account of being a heavy holder and one of the original discoverers of the property, he stated to a Leader reporter that while at Orseco he visited the underground workings of the West Coast Co's mine and took various samples from the different car loads of ore that were being taken to the mill and that every piece of rock mortered panned a fine string of gold and that all of the soft or decomposed ores also panned well. The West Coast Co. is the owner of the old Musick mine and Mr. Ely says a crew of miners are taking out rich ore there and that the big mill at Orseco will start crushing ore about the fifteenth of this month and predicts a bonanza clean up under the able management of Mr. Ryan, the superintendent.

Probably there are few men better versed as to the character of the ores in Bohemia than W. P. Ely and in speaking of the camp generally he predicts that the Vesuvius, Oregon-Colorado and Riverside claims owned by F. J. Hard and associates, the old Noonday, Anna and Knott veins, the LeRoy Golden Slipper group, Grizzly and North Fairview properties will all be dividend payers in the near future. He says there are other claims in the camp that show up well but that he has personally examined the above properties and thinks they are all the making of good paying mines.

EXPERT ORCHARDIST VISITS COTTAGE GROVE

J. H. Sanders, an expert orchardist of Chico, California, who has recently completed a big job of grafting, pruning and treating diseased fruit trees at Yakima, Wash., Hood River and Albany, Oregon, stopped over in this city to put the young 35 acre apple orchard of J. I. Jones in first class shape. He has just completed the work and has certainly done it well. He first pruned the trees uniformly and severely, then followed up with a dope of his own compounding—sulphur, lime and mercury—which he applies with a paint brush to the body of the tree and larger limbs commencing down at the very roots. This composition soon dries and appears perfectly white like whitewash, but is said to deal death to all kinds of pests and disease.

Mr. Sanders appears to be a thorough and a rapid workman in his line and has met with splendid success in the delicate task of grafting English walnuts. He put the 210 young fruit trees of the writer in first class condition this week, treating apparently successfully, three valuable trees which had become seriously diseased. Mr. Sanders has done much orchard work in Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California and owns a nice young lemon and orange orchard in California, which requires some of his attention. However, he expects to visit Cottage Grove again hereafter and give his services to the Cottage Grove orchardists who may be in need of them. He says the 35 acre apple orchard of J. I. Jones is one of the finest young apple orchards he has seen on the Pacific coast.

This speaks well for this locality as an apple growing section.

Transfer Business Changes Hands

W. A. Hogate has sold his transfer business to Dennis Slagle who recently purchased a home on Wall street and moved into this city from the country. Mr. Slagle is well and favorably known here and will no doubt be favored with a liberal share of the transfer business. He is a son-in-law of W. H. Lincoln.

It is estimated that the late frost damaged the Douglas county fruit crop to the extent of $50,000.

CITY COUNCIL DOES THINGS

License on Sunday Theaters is Prohibitive.

Beer Must Go

The city council met in regular session Monday evening.

A merchants committee comprising Messrs Burkholder, Veatch and Brund addressed the council advocating the passage of an ordinance requiring a license on peddling in this city. They also advocated the oiling of Main street and the side streets running therefrom for a distance of one block, proposing that the merchants bear the expense fronting their property and the city the expense of oiling the squares at the street intersections. Regarding peddling the recorder was instructed to secure legal advice and have an ordinance drawn covering the matter, to be presented at the next regular meeting.

The matter of oiling the streets was referred to the street committee for consideration and report at the next regular meeting of the council.

A petition forbidding the running of theaters on Sundays was presented and read. The recorder was instructed to notify the proprietors if they open their theaters on Sundays their licenses will be raised to $50 per month.

The license fees of the moving picture shows was raised to $15 a quarter.

Ordinance 219 to prohibit the sale or disposal of non-intoxicating malt liquors in the city of Cottage Grove was passed to its first reading and further action deferred until the next regular meeting.

An ordinance was ordered prepared for passage at the next meeting prohibiting minors from frequenting card and pool rooms, the same to conform to the state law and to provide that one-half of the fine in such cases be paid to the officer making the arrest and securing conviction.

A petition for a lateral 6 inch sewer on the north side of West

COLORADO MINING MAN VISITS BOHEMIA DISTRICT

Gard Brooks Corey, a prominent young mining man of Telluride, Colorado, a son-in-law of Mr. Kem of the Cottage Grove Electric Light and Power Co., accompanied G. G. Warner, a well known local mining man, to the Bohemia mines Saturday returning Tuesday. Their time being limited they could only visit the big plant and mines of the West Coast Mining Co. at Orseco, in the Champion basin, which is one of the largest mining plants in the districts and has much fine ore in sight. Messrs Corey and Warner visited the various properties of the company taking samples from the several tunnels, all of which made a very favorable impression upon the visitor and he will carry these samples back to Colorado to exhibit to his friends and associates, some of whom may interest themselves in Bohemia a little later. Mr. Corey is a cynide process expert and thinks this method of treating Bohemia ores would prove very successful as well as inexpensive. A plant of this kind is being installed by the Kelso people on the Mayflower group of mines and will soon be ready for a test run.

Mr. Corey expressed himself as well pleased not only with the character of the Bohemia ore, but also with the many advantages of the camp—water and timber in abundance, good mountain roads, and railroad transportation facilities within ten miles of the camp already, which may soon be extended into the camp.
