WHY FRUIT GROWERS SHOULD KEEP BEES.

Beekeeping is a valuable aid in cultivation of fruit and seed crops. Insects which feed on nectar play important part in the fertilization of flowers. Fertilization is effected in other ways, but the agency of insects is the more certain and efficacious, and no other insect is comparable with the honey bee in this respect. A strong hive contains 10,000 bees in February, 15,000 in March, 40,000 in April, and from 60,000 to 80,000 in May. It has been discovered by skillful observers that the average load of nectar carried to the hive by a bee is about 3-10 of a grain, so that the collection of one pound of nectar requires nearly 23,000 foraging excursions. By means of hives set on balances it has been found that the daily increase of weight in May averages 3.3 pounds. Occasionally, more than 11 pounds is gained in one day; and when the amount consumed by the bees and the loss of weight by evaporation are considered, it appears probable that the average daily quantity of nectar collected is not less than 11 pounds, which would load 250,000 bees. As a bee visits 10 flowers on the average in collecting a single load, some 2,500,000 flowers are visited in one day by the bees of a single hive. An additional large number of visits is required for the collection of pollen. These figures explain why many trees and plants bear small crops in the absence of bees. Every orchardist should keep bees.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Feeding the Work Horse.

No sudden changes of food are good for the work horse, says the Ohio Farmer. People berate the steady, monotonous rations of oats, bran, corn and hay, but it is far safer to practice such monotonous feeding than to be continually giving the horse the sudden and complete changes of food suggested or even advocated by well meaning but ill informed humanitarians and theorists. Lastly, the horse requires no medicines or stock food or condimental foods or condition powders. Feed and care for him sensibly and carefully, work him properly, groom him well, see that his stable is sanitary, and he will thrive, work and enjoy life. Horses enjoying the luxury of life such as we have outlined are damaged and insulted by every dose of dope mixed in their feed or squirted or poured into their mouths.

Poultry Notes.

Hens will go without drink rather than drink dirty water. Have it clean for them and plenty of it too.

Don't rob chickens, but see if you can't have some sour milk for the hens every day.

You have noticed how the hens dive for the scraps of boiled potato you give them from the kitchen table. That ought to be a pointer that it would pay you to boil some on purpose for the hens now and then.

Do not allow anybody to go into your henhouse and scare your birds. It is one of the worst things that can be done.

Begin your fight against things that worry the hens now. Mites and such things never wait for a better invitation than a few days of neglect. Clean up, keep clean.

Forty good hens never can make up for ten poor ones.—Farm Journal.

Sheep Feeding Hints.

Up to lambing time, about March 20, feed breeding ewes on good clean clover hay, corn fodder and straw morning and night. At night, before the hay feed, give four pounds of mangel and a handful of oats to each ewe. After lambing give all the mangels they will eat night and morning, and at night, before hay feed, give each one a quart of bran with a handful of oats and one of linseed meal mixed in. It is best to put the ewes with twins by themselves and give a bit more grain, as they require it. Keep water by them all the time and salt. Mix condition powder with the salt, one-tenth powder and nine-tenths salt. This is a preventive better than cure. Every pleasant day turn them out for a run of three or four hours in the early afternoon.—New England Homestead.

An advertisement is to a merchant very much what sowing seed is to a farmer. It may take a little time for the results to become apparent, but they are sure to come. The wise farmer is not niggardly with his seed, nor the wise merchant with his advertisement.

Regardless of the delay in the building of the concrete sidewalk in front of the Leader office and the torn up condition of the street, the Leader has received a number of voluntary new subscriptions this week and was forced to put an extra man, Dave Hendricks, in its job printing department to keep up with the increased demand for job printing. This unusual liberal patronage is duly appreciated by the Leader management.

Special School Meeting.

Things to Adore

The world is in a transitory state. With a comparatively sparse population and resources bountiful, we have been living in an age of luxury and waste, but now, with an ever increasing population and no new territory to plunder, we are drifting into an intensely practical age, evidence of which is seen from the national legislation for the conservation of resources, down to the increased activity of the junk man. Yesterday you burned your straw-pile, but by the morrow, if you have not learned better than to rob the land and yourself by persisting in such pernicious folly, you may be subjected to a fine. Today, you part with your rags, old rubbers and iron for a paltry sum and next month you may be glad to bound over the country in an automobile purchased at a fairly reasonable price, made possible—thanks to the junk man—by converting your old hard riding mower into the frame, and your much trodden rubbers into the tires of a self-moving machine. If your new overcoat could disclose its history, perhaps it was once your uncle's wedding suit—transformed.

THE SPORTING WORLD

Gibson's Great Work.

There is always one man on a ball club around whom the playing machinery revolves. That man is the catcher. He may not be spectacular, and he may be neither a good base runner nor a good hitter, but he must be reliable, quick of thought and quick of action. Without a good catcher no ball club can win a pennant.

We may talk of the Tinkers, the Mathewsons, the Leaches, the Clarkes and the Wagners, but there is one man who could have been withdrawn from the lineup of the Pirates a month or so ago and the club would not have had a chance to win the pennant. The athlete in mind is Catcher Gibson.

Gibson has been the backbone of the Pittsburg club since the beginning of the season, and the importance of his work can be seen from the fact that he has caught practically every game the Pirates played.

It is the business of a catcher to prevent the other team from scoring. He is the major general of the club when it is playing on the defensive. He must work his pitchers so as to handicap the base runners and when it comes to a showdown and he is forced to throw his heaves to second must be as true as a rifle shot. Gibson has been in charge of that work for the Pirates this season, and the answer is found in the standing of the clubs. Four years ago Gibson was considered a second rate catcher, but he has stuck to the job so faithfully and has improved with such rapid strides that his great work was instrumental in the Pirates winning the pennant. Without him they would be lost.

Handle Factory For Creswell.

Creswell has secured an ax-handle factory, L. R. Rush having commenced work on a building 20 x42 feet to be used for this purpose. The oak grubs and old trees of this part of the county are said to be excellent for this purpose. Mr. Rush will also make pick, hoe, fork, shovel and peevy handles.

Any sparsely settled road district in Oregon can get good roads now by simply voting in December on the initiative of ten per cent of its citizens such funds as may be required. The cash can come from the absentee land speculators and the residents can get their money back in warrants for work. The roads will raise land values permanently, and the idle tracts can be made to pay their share by a little acting together.
