His Good Work.

The director of a prison received an order after many years' service. He had all the prisoners called together and made the following speech to them:

"As you see, I have been decorated, by royal grace, with an order. But I willingly acknowledge that this has been attained not alone by my own merits, but by the co-operation of all of us. I can also declare, with pleasure, that since I have occupied this office the number of prisoners has increased from 400 to 700—a fact of which both you and I may be justly proud."—London Tit-Bits.

Just Shopping.

Such an amount of money she will buy a Count;
A Duke costs something more.

She flutters o'er the pages and here and there she'll stop

A Storekeeper Says:

"A lady came into my store lately and said:
"I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my apartment. I want one now for my summer home. I think these oil stoves are wonderful. If only women knew what a comfort they are, they would all have one. I spoke about my stove to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was small and smoke from an oil stove, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give hers up for five times its cost."
The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a kettle of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now—she knows.
Do you really appreciate what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove means to you? No more coal to carry, no more coming to the dinner table so tired that you can't eat. Just light a Perfection Stove and immediately the heat from an intense blue flame shoots up to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven. But the room isn't heated. There is no smoke, no smell, no outside heat, no drudgery in the kitchen where one of these stoves is used.

One Quiet Spot.

"This," said the chauffeur, pointing to a large and imposing mansion, surrounded by beautiful and well kept grounds, some distance back from the roadway, "is the only place around here where they have an absolutely safe and sane Fourth of July."
"What place is it?" asked one of the passengers.
"It's the county insane asylum," answered the chauffeur.

Utterly Wasted.

"What are you glum about now?"
"I was just reviewing my past life."
"Well?"
"And thinking of all the useless worrying I have done."

Household Remedy
Taken in the Spring for Years.

Ralph Rust, Willis, Mich., writes:
"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been a household remedy in our home as long as I can remember. I have taken it in the spring for several years. It has no equal for cleansing the blood and expelling the humors that accumulate during the winter. Being a farmer and exposed to bad weather, my system is often affected, and I often take Hood's Sarsaparilla with good results." Hood's Sarsaparilla is Peculiar to Itself. There is no "just as good." Get it today in usual liquid form or tablets called Sarasatabs.

A Grave Thought.

A woman in widow's weeds was standing at one of the entrances to Wadsworth cemetery, accompanied by her small son, who was weeping bitterly. Coaxing having failed to pacify the lad, the mother indulged in this threat: "If you don't stop crying this minute I'll not take you in to see your father's grave."

Cheated.

"I paid that doctor a thousand dollars in the space of six months."
"What for?"
"Keeping me from getting softening of the brain."
"Did he tell you he kept you from it?"
"Certainly, why?"
"You ought to demand your money back."—Houston Post.

How He Remembered.

"No, Dickey; I can't let you go fishing to-day. You want to go entirely too often."
"Maw, the last time I went fishin' was three weeks ago yesterday."
"Surely that wasn't the last time, Dickey."
"Yes, it was, maw. I remember it 'cause that was the day you held me in the bathtub an' made me take a bath."

Hard to Swallow.

"Yes, my lad," the health crank was remarking, "people should be careful not to eat much when they are going to take exercise. I once took a walk of fifty miles on nothing but a few soft boiled eggs."
"Gee!" said the boy. "What lookin' feet you must have had when you got there!"

PREVENTION THE BEST SAFEGUARD

If for any cause the horse or other domestic animal exhibits a lack of energy, proper relief for food, or an appearance of general debility, timely action should be taken for the restoration of its health. In the natural food of our domestic animals Nature provides certain peculiar medicinal herbs, leaves, barks and roots which seem necessary for their health. Pacific Stock Food in greatly condensed form is intended to supply the essential virtues of those health-giving natural remedies and is prepared expressly for those animals deprived by man of their natural food. It is an alterative tonic which stimulates the various organs of the body, promotes the secretions, tones up the general system and restores the disordered conditions to a normal state. It stimulates the appetite, improves the digestion and assimilation of food, purifies the blood, and insures a good, healthy condition. Booklet free.

Proportional Insurance.

By falling from a cart a Chinaman who carried a large insurance, says Tit-Bits, was quite seriously injured. There was some doubt even of his ever getting better.

Teeth Should Be Examined.

A great many of the troubles of the horse come when the owner thinks he is treating him the best in winter when there is little work and the horse is turned out to pasture, or to an alfalfa stack. There are a number of points to keep in mind when disposing of the horse for the winter, says a Colorado bulletin.

Reducing the Meat Bill.

In many American families meat is eaten two or three times a day, in such cases the simplest way of reducing the meat bill would very likely be to cut down the amount used, either by serving it less often or by using less at a time. Deficiency of protein need not be feared when one good meat dish a day is served, especially if such nitrogenous materials as eggs, milk, cheese and beans are used in addition. In localities where fish can be obtained fresh and cheap, it might well be more frequently substituted for meat for the sake of variety as well as economy. Ingenious cooks have ways of "extending the flavor" of meat; that is, of combining a small quantity with other materials to make a large dish, as in meat pies, stews, and similar dishes.

Properly Braced Corner Post.

The ordinary braces set in line with the wires do not prevent the corner post from leaning. A brace set in the direction that a post would lean, or a stay wire in the opposite direction, are either effective, but both are undesirable. The two posts on each side of and nearest to the corner post should be braced, as shown in the cut. A wire should run from the top of one post to the bottom of the other to tighten the brace, which will throw the strain on five posts instead of one.—C. C. Ormsbee, in Farm and Home.

Bracing for the Corner Post.

Chickens for Market.

Old and young chickens to be sold for market purposes will bring much more if they are confined in close quarters for a week or more and fed heavily during the time. A part of the well-equipped poultry plant, therefore, should consist of a poultry fattening pen, provided with adequate feeding and watering devices.—Journal of Agriculture.

Value of Guinea Fowl.

The guinea fowl is growing in favor as a market bird, the flesh coming nearer to the flavor of game than any of our domestic poultry.

Each man who is to milk twelve or fifteen cows will need to spend twelve or fifteen minutes in cleaning them. This cleaning is very simple and inexpensive, and yet nine out of every ten farmers scout the idea as preposterous.

During the past year a woman who has a house and lot on the edge of a thriving country town in the South has, besides raising all the vegetables consumed by a family of four, sold $100 worth to the provision dealers in town.

FARM NOTES

Plan for Feed-Box.

The illustration of a feed box is self-explanatory, and with the following list of dimensions should be easy to build: The legs are made from 4x4's 34 inches on the high side, sawing a bevel at one end of 12 inches; the sides are 2x12 inches; the length of the box is 8 feet. The bottom is made by joining seven common floor boards, generally using fence flooring clear of knots as possible. The best way to lay the bottom is to take 16-foot fence boards, laying the two end 2x4 cross pieces 4 inches from the end. Across the center lay two other 2x4's apart, sawing the bottom in two to make the bottoms for two boxes. The 2x4 across the center, which is used for supporting the center of the bottom, should be made of hard wood. Clamps go around this 2x4 and over the top of the box. Use a 16-inch clamp, such as commonly used for building hay racks; bore through the 2x4, place the clamp bottom side up over the side of the box and draw it up tight. The lower edge of the 2x12 used for sides should be planed to a bevel to match the bottom of the box.

For feeding meal it would be well to place a corn crib strip 1x4 inches around the top of the box. This will prevent the wind from blowing the meal out, as it projects over on the inside 2 inches.

A New Dip for Cattle.

The Oklahoma State Board of Agriculture has adopted a new dipping solution for cattle. The crude oil method has been abandoned on account of its often injurious effect on steers. All cattle shipped in from Texas must be dipped in order to keep out Texas fever by killing the ticks, which carry the disease. The new dip is an arsenical solution, much cheaper than the crude oil, just as effective and less injurious. It is made by boiling 10 pounds of commercial arsenic, 24 pounds of sal soda and 1 gallon of pine tar in 40 gallons of water. It is then increased to 50 gallons by adding water, and this solution is enough for 450 gallons of water when mixed with it. The cost is about a cent a gallon, or about 25 cents per steer in dipping. The only danger from the use of this dip is that a steer might accidentally swallow some of the solution, a quart of which would cause death.

A Novel Insect Catcher.

Only people who have had crops or plants destroyed by insects can appreciate what a pest these little things are. Always excepting, of course, the victims of the voracious mosquito. In the country all sorts of homely devices are used to catch the bugs and kill them, and an Oregon man, who probably had his apple orchard overrun by some destructive species, patented a trap for the pests. A barrel has pieces cut out of the upper portion and is half filled with rotten or bruised apples or some other odoriferous fruit. On top of the barrel is placed a pan partially filled with water, oil or some poisonous liquid. From the apex of a tripod that keeps the barrel from falling off the barrel hangs a lantern. In the daytime the insects will be attracted by the odor of the fruit, and in flying up to feast many of them are likely to fly into the water. At night the lantern is lighted and bugs will come from afar to flutter against it and meet their death in the liquid below.

Hints About the Farm.

Avoid extremes in everything. Refill the salt box in the pasture. Give the horses a bran mash twice a week. Money invested in land cannot easily be lost. A good swing stanchion is not uncomfortable to the cow. Gratifying the appetite adds greatly to the thrift of the flock. No ups and downs in care and feed, but keeping everlastingly at it. Set the strawberries in rows four feet apart and two feet in the row. If the pump bucket leaks, take it to town with you. The tinner will fix it while you wait.

The plan of hay farming with chemicals has its attractions, especially for the oldish man, who desires to get rid of the care of live stock, and to cut down his labor outgo to the lowest possible amount. Milk from unhealthy cows is not safe to use and only cows in good health can make profitable use of the food given them. The herd should be inspected at regular intervals by a competent veterinarian.

A garden of an acre, well tended, will produce vegetables enough to supply an ordinary family year in and year out, as well as to feed a flock of fowls whose eggs may be traded for groceries at any country store.

The man who puts the finest products on the market is the one who reaps the bountiful rewards. Be sure your products are in the most acceptable condition before marketing if there is a desire to win new customers.

"I understand that Frillman has come to the conclusion to contest his wife's will."
"Well, what is there courageous about that? She's dead, isn't she?"

"Do you whistle or sing or recite?"
"No."
"Can you do anything to entertain the guests?"
"Well, I can name all the vice-presidents we've ever had. The accomplishment has been mentioned as unusual."
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

From Experience.

Mrs. Hespock—Wonder why they call the man who stands up with the groom the best man at a wedding?
Mr. Hespock—Because he's the best of all.

How Much Seed to Sow.

The question of the proper amount of seed to sow is never settled. Two and one-half bushels of average oats, sown broadcast, are not too many on average land, average seasons; and about one-half bushel less when drilled in, is looked upon as about right by most oat growers.

Many good farmers differ, however, on this, many thinking a peck will bring as good or better results. There are varieties of oats with a very large berry which would have to be increased to get the same number of plants to the acre that the very small berry oats would give. Still, as a rule, a large vigorous seed will produce a large vigorous plant and this would need more room than a smaller one. The season and soil make considerable difference, too, with the amount of seed. Pasturing grain with sheep or other light stock, tends to thicken it, also to shorten the straw and to prevent lodging, though it frequently adds to the length of time for ripening. When there is danger of oats lodging, thick seeding tends to prevent it.

How Is Your Appetite Today?

Is it keen and normal, or do you have that "don't care" sort of feeling? Loss of appetite is one of the surest signs of inward weakness, and if you are wise you will heed the warning promptly and take a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The system requires a certain amount of nourishment every day in order to keep up health and strength and to replace the waste portions. This can only be accomplished with a keen appetite and perfect digestion and assimilation of the food. Then again Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be taken. It will stimulate the flow of gastric juices, so essential to perfect digestion, and aid in every way possible. For over 50 years it has been used with wonderful success in cases of Poor Appetite, Heartburn, Flatulency, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Biliousness and Malaria.
