COTTAGE GROVE, OREGON, TUESDAY, JUNE 21, 1910

NOT OUT FOR GOVERNOR.

The Leader is in a position to state that Circuit Judge J. W. Hamilton, of Roseburg, will not be a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, as much as his friends would like to have him accept this nomination. However, he has decided to accept the re-nomination for the circuit judgeship, an office he has held for two terms and which he has filled with dignity, equality, credit to himself and satisfaction of the bar and public generally. Of Judge Hamilton it may truthfully be said that he is a man of the strictest integrity, unprejudiced in his rulings, his decisions being rendered without fear or favor. He enjoys the distinction of having a very small per cent of his decisions reversed in the higher courts and the expeditious manner in which he handles the court docket in his district has been a matter of much favorable comment. That he has twice been elected on the democratic ticket and served on the bench in a strong republican district is evidence that his qualifications and fitness for the office is recognized and appreciated by the voters, and that politics are very properly eliminated so far as the circuit judgeship is concerned. It will require a very strong and a very good man to defeat Judge Hamilton for the bench in his district.

SAME OLD BOOZE SCHEME.

A petition which proposes to amend the Oregon constitution so that cities and towns may have complete control over the regulation and sale of liquor, has been filed with the secretary of state. If this amendment is adopted it will exclude all cities and towns from the operation of the present local option law. The local option law provides that the vote of a county in favor of the prohibition of the sale of liquor will also prohibit the sale of liquor in the cities of that county notwithstanding they may have themselves voted to allow the sale of liquor. If one county alone is not sufficiently large to accomplish the result, counties may be grouped and voted in bunches. It is the 15th measure that the people will be called to pass upon at the next general election in November. This is very similar to the amendment voted on two years ago and which was snowed under by a tremendous majority and will be again at the forthcoming election. If carried, it would no doubt be declared unconstitutional as it would render towns and cities independent of, or not subject to the state and county laws.

Last week's issue of the American Grocer gives figures showing that the consumption of alcoholic liquors in the United States has decreased $110,185,600 worth during the past two years, while the population has been increasing. This may be one of the best reasons why the brewers have decided to work with the "true temperance people" for reform quite radically on the hopes that the "prohibition wave" may pass over.

A woman in a neighboring town bought a new faugled coffee pot from a peddler. In the evening she showed it to her husband, a hardware dealer, who told her he kept the same thing in his store for half the price she had paid. "Well," she said, "why don't you advertise? Nobody ever knows what you have for sale."

Harry McAllister has tendered his resignation as master fish warden to accept the position of manager of the home rule association, an organization which will put forth an effort to defeat state wide prohibition and which position carries a salary of $6000 a year. It is not announced who will probably succeed Mr. McAllister as fish warden.

A meeting of the democratic county central committee will be held soon, the exact date of which will be given out later. Care will need to be taken that it does not assemble, but just meet, otherwise some of the thunder that has been made against the republican assembly will be lost.—Myrtle Point Enterprise.

A father's experience makes him the best adviser of his daughter, says the president of a girl's school. Perhaps "should make him" would come a little nearer the truth. There is a great difference in fathers.

Many other Oregon towns following Cottage Grove's example are buying road rollers and rock crushers. Woodburn, Junction and Falls city are the latest to make such investments.

It is now Governor Bowerman and we all take off our hats to eastern Oregon, Governor Benson being in San Francisco where he is receiving medical treatment.

A prominent commercial traveler has the slogan: Oregon dry in 1910, and he isn't afraid to let people know it.

There is to be a battle royal in this state at the November election over the "wet" and "dry" question.

LADIES TOGGERY SUMMER SALE.

Miss Bartels "summer sale" at the Ladies Toggery, is now the sole attraction of the ladies of this community, as never has there been greater values offered by a business house through a special sale in this city. Miss Bartels has an extra force of clerks and sales-ladies and customers are given prompt attention. The sale will continue this week only and those ladies who miss it will miss some rare bargains which will not again be duplicated in this city in any of these lines. Call early and avoid the inevitable rush and secure your pick of the large select stock.

Concert a Success.

One of the best, most enjoyable and entertaining concerts given in this city was that of Monday evening, which was given in Phillips hall by Mrs. Leon Des Larzes of Oregon City, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the M. E. church. The following program was rendered:

PROGRAMME.

PART I.
Chorus—"The Dawn is Breaking o'er us," W. W. Gilchrist.
Solo—Waiting.....H. Millard, Mrs. Leon Des Larzes.
Duet—Instrumental—"Que Vivi—G a n z" Mrs. Sutcliffe, Armored Sutcliffe.
Reading—Selected.....H. B. Brehaut.
Solo—"The Lost Chord"—A. Sullivan. (By Request) Mrs. Leon Des Larzes.

PART II.

Chorus—"A Maying".....Minetti.
Song.....Little Gracie Brehaut.
Solo—"The Spirit of Spring"—L. Parker. Mrs. Leon Des Larzes.
Quartet—"Virginia".....Veta Holderman, Carrie Woods, Lottie Whitsett, Ursula Lockwood.
Solo—"For All Eternity"—Angelo Mascaroni, Mrs. Leon Des Larzes.

The first number or opening chorus by mixed voices was full of animation characteristic of all huntsmen songs and the two soprano solos in the chorus were most ably rendered by Mrs. B. K. Lawson and Mrs. H. B. Brehaut.

The solo "Waiting" by Mrs. Leon Des Larzes completely captivated the good sized audience and Mrs. Des Larzes responded to a hearty encore. She possesses a rich, sweet, lyric soprano voice which she controls perfectly, and the ease and grace with which she renders the most difficult selections was commented upon by all of her hearers. Never have the people of Cottage Grove listened to a more pleasing and sweet voiced singer. As an instructor and director of chorus work, Mrs. Des-Larzes also excels.

The piano duet "Que Vivi," by Mrs. Robt. Sutcliffe and daughter, Miss Armored, was also a decided hit, being full of life and very tuneful. The dialect reading by H. B. Brehaut brought a hearty encore and a second selection by Mr. Brehaut.

The ladies chorus "A Maying" was well rendered and as refreshing as the springtime.

The soprano solos, "The Lost Chord," "Spirit of Spring" and "For all Eternity" by Mrs. Des Larzes were excellent and no less captivating than her first number and these selections gave her voice full range and scope and each number brought forth a hearty encore.

The girls quartet, "Virginia" was very sweetly rendered as was also the encore, "I don't know when I love you best." A fitting climax was the difficult solo which was rendered in a very pleasing manner by little Gracie Brehaut. When called she created much merriment by replying, "Papa is Here," inferring that he was a better entertainer.

Special Trains To Vaughn.

The Oregon & Southeastern will run two trains to Vaughn's Spur on the Fourth, one leaving Cottage Grove at 8 a. m. and the other at 2 p. m. The latter returning will leave the picnic grounds at 9 o'clock.

While in Portland recently the Leader editor examined the vitrified brick pavement, the cedar block, the cement and the bituminous pavements and must admit that the latter appeared to us to be the best of any of them.

Fishing Tackle, Jointed Rods, Reels And Flies

The season opens on April 1st. You will want to be there with your rod and line. If you have no rod and line the best thing you can do, will be to make a bee line for our store, because we have the biggest and best stock of fishing tackle you can find in this neck of the woods. Let us tell you what we have.

We have a split bamboo rod that we sell for $1.00, it has a cork grip and nickel plated mountings and is well made and all right in every way. We have better ones at from $2.50 to $14.00. We have steel rods at from $2.50 to $6.50 each. You ought to have one of these, they are the most durable rod to buy.

Fish lines at all prices from 5 cents to $4.00 each. We have some dandy ones, 25 cents for 50 feet. Our Martin and King-fisher lines have given the best satisfaction of any we have ever sold. They are made of pure silk and are flexible and free running when used on a reel, and at the same time will not water-log.

Reels at from 25 cents to $7.50 each. We have them to suit the small boy and at the same time the most exacting sportsman. Flies at from 50 cents to $3.50 per dozen. We have something special for you this year.

WILL BORROW OF TOMORROW.

Have you ever heard of Will borrow, Who's looking for trouble tomorrow? Oh, my, it's sad, 'tis dreadful bad—Boohoo!—that future sorrow!

On Monday wife may get the goat, And he must hang the washing out And nurse the baby. Think of that—To tend that awful squalling trait!

On Tuesday the town bank may break And some thief all his savings take, Then to the poorhouse they must go To die disgraced. Oh, my! Oh, oh!

On Wednesday the old gray may die, The milky cow, too, may go dry, A skunk may get into the hens, And gobble all the yaller hens.

On Thursday—will it come to this?—To interrupt their wedded bliss, Wife's mother might come there to live, Her sage advice to ever give.

On Friday he may get real ill, Then think of that big doctor bill! And if disease lays him out dead, His wife may quickly run to wed.

On Saturday he'll make a will For fear she'll treat his memory ill, He'll fix his money so she can't Not spend it on some other man.

But, say—well, just let Sunday out, For they will go to church to sport About the trust that all should show In him "from whom all blessings flow." C. M. BARNITZ.

KURIOS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q. My Rose Comb White Leghorn cock flew over the wire and mated with my White Wyandotte hens. Of course this will spoil my stock unless I can detect the mixed youngsters. As both are white and rose comb, how can I tell?

A. The Leghorn will show in long tail, long narrow body, white ear lobe and desire to fly.

Q. Has the size of a rooster's comb, wattles and spurs anything to do with his breeding quality?

A. Yes. The comb and wattles are connected with the reproductive organs, for when a cockerel is made a capon his comb and wattles become very small. When a hen's egg clusters ovaries dry up or her laying period is over her comb and wattles lose their bloom and shrink. When her ovaries become active and she lays again her comb gets big and blooms. A thick, fast growing spur spells vigor.

Q. Last winter the face of my White Faced Black Spanish cock was badly frozen. What do you do for frost-bite?

A. Paint with compound tincture benzoin. Make your pen lighter or watch the thermometer and put your tender faced birds in a cloth covered box when that cold wave strikes.

Q. I understand I cannot get exhibition Barred Rocks by the old plan of just mating birds together, but to get cockerels fit to show I must mate one way and to get pullets just the opposite. Please make this double mating system plain to me.

A. For show cockerels mate dark males and dark females, and for pullets mate light males and light females.

Q. Lined meal has been recommended to me for part of a feed mixture. What do you think of it?

A. We do not use lined for several reasons—it is too rich, chickens must be forced to eat it, it makes the mash sticky so it lumps in the crop and affects the bowels.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

When you fast fowls before killing let them have plenty of water, as it cleanses the intestines.

In taming and training birds for shows always have extras to take the place of those that may die or get sick. In keeping breeders for next season be sure to retain extra males for the same reason.

Poultrymen are rejoicing that milk fur is the style on women's hats. Milady has been wearing Alaska sable (skunk) for several years, and it is still style. By making the enemies of poultry the style Paris is once doing something worth while.

Cooking breakfast for the chickens is no longer in vogue. The big steam cookers once operated on poultry plants are now junk. Pity human fossils can't be as easily disposed of.

Where, oh, where is the little potato that was at one time cooked for the chickens? For two seasons the potato crop in Pennsylvania has been a failure, and humans have been glad to get the little taters for themselves.

If you are exhibiting at winter shows it isn't always wise to show your hand by sending your best birds to fairs. Your competitor will see the birds you have and lick you with the birds he's bought.

In every flock there are hens that often get more than their share of feed because they are faster eaters and scratchers than others or they lully other hens out of their share. Thus the one eats too much and often dies of impacted crop, while the other gradually starves to death. Pen the gluttons by themselves.

Town people who buy turkeys to fatten often lose all of them because they shut them up in a little tight coop and stuff them to death. Most towns have an ordinance against keeping hogs. It's time for a law for these people who keep their poultry on the hogpen plan.

Buy Good Corsets

THE better corsets you buy, the better figure you will have, the more stylish you will appear and the longer service you will get from your corset.

If you can afford to spend from $15.00 upward for a dress, you can surely afford to spend from $2.00 to $5.00 or more for a corset; for the corset is the foundation of style and therefore the appearance of your dress depends upon it.

We feature Henderson Corsets and carry them in a wide range of values, retailing from $1.25 upward, but advise the purchase of the higher grades whenever possible. The shape, construction, finish and fit of the higher grade corsets are naturally more desirable and attractive.

A trial with the better grade Henderson Corsets will convince you of the wisdom of our suggestion.
