...Mary Bartels...

Married.

PIERCE-HAYES—At the Christian Parsonage in Cottage Grove, Saturday evening, November 5, 1910, V. B. Pierce and Miss Lulu Ethel Hayes, Rev. W. A. Elkins officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. W. Hays and is well and favorably known in this city where she has attended school for a number of years, and is a native daughter of old Lane county. The groom, Mr. Pierce, has resided in Cottage Grove for nearly two years during which time he has held the position of foreman in the Leader office. He is a first class printer and a sober and most exemplary young man. Being a printer Mr. Pierce will never tease his wife for "pi," and like all other good printers he has succeeded in making a "good impression," which we trust will be lasting. Well Van, here's our best wishes with the hope that you and yours may ever be "thin spaced" and that in the future you will prove a good "feeder" and able to provide plenty of "plate matter." So give us your "pi" and remember that you will always find us at top of column and next to pure reading matter—that's the position our contract calls for and no omissions. Congratulations.

At the Arcade.

The Marjorie Mandeville Stock Company are presenting some of the latest and best comedy sketches at the Arcade this week. This company excels in high class vaudeville singing and dancing specialties. Every evening will be an enjoyable and interesting one at the Arcade this week. Admission only 20 and 10 cents.

CHURCH NOTES AND ANNOUNCEMENTS.

The second battle between the Reds and the Blues has been fought and the result is now a matter of history. Sutcliff's troops, flushed with their victory of a couple of weeks ago, grew careless and conceited and like all soldiers who held their opponents in light esteem, they got licked. Wheeler's men did not drive the defeated from the field however, they only made them retire from their advanced position. The Reds and the Blues are still facing each other. Neither side will be dislodged and routed without a long and desperate struggle. Reserves are being hurried up to the firing line, recruits are being enlisted, and the appeals of the commanders for men and money are being promptly met. Unheard of sacrifices, labors and strategems will take place during the next few days. After the recent fight the victors entertained the vanquished with a choice program and generously treated them to refreshments. Then under a flag of truce both sides freely mingled with each other in social chat and games. The following is the official score: Blues, 191 feet and 5 inches; Reds, 190 feet.

The services at the Methodist church next Sunday will of a most interesting character. In the morning at 11 District Supt. J. T. Abbott will preach. He is a most interesting speaker and all should be on hand to hear Bro. Wire's successor at 7:30 p. m. The large chorus choir will give one of enjoyable musical evenings. This bare announcement has always been sufficient to pack the house. A silver offering expected from all who attend. Bible school at 10 and devotional meeting at 6:30 conducted by W. C. Counter. An invitation extended to all.

After the morning services at the Christian church next Sunday there will be a meeting of the members for mutual encouragement and council, as the church enters upon a vigorous campaign during the winter months. The present conditions and future outlook of the church was never brighter. Interest and attendance for three successive years, at least, have been most encouraging, though a megaphone has not been used to advertise the fact.

The social in the parlors of the Christian church Monday evening, Oct. 31, was largely attended, and a most pleasant time was enjoyed. Most of the young people were masked, representing some type of humanity.

The Marble Hart, will be the morning subject at the Christian church Sunday Nov. 11. Evening subject, A Personal Question. Bible school at 10 A. M. Christian Endeavor at 6:30 P. M.

One adult was received into membership at the Methodist church on Sunday morning.
