Married.

McFARLAND-SMITH—At the Christian parsonage in Cottage Grove Wednesday evening, December 28, 1910, William Warren McFarland and Mrs. Myrtle Smith, Rev. W. A. Elkins officiating.

The impressive ceremony was witnessed by a number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties after which all repaired to the farm home of the bride in the northern suburbs of this city where a sumptuous wedding dinner awaited them. The groom is a native son of this county and city and is justly popular. He has been engaged in business in this city for a number of years, recently selling his popular resort, cigar store and confectionary in this city. The bride has served as saleslady in large mercantile establishments in this city and owns the fine fruit farm known as the J. D. Cochran place just north of this city. She lately sold a fine farm near Creswell. She is a very estimable and popular lady and both her and her husband enjoy the esteem of a wide circle of friends here. Mr. and Mrs. McFarland will reside on their fruit farm here and to which Mr. McFarland will give his personal supervision. The Leader extends hearty congratulations and wishes them a long, happy and prosperous wedded life.

GLEASON-WHITLOCK—At their furnished cottage home on Wall street north of the home of the groom's parents Wednesday evening, December 28, 1910, Raymond C. Gleason and Miss Clara Whitlock, Rev. W. A. Elkins officiating.

The pretty ceremony was witnessed only by the parents of the contracting parties. The groom is a very exemplary young man, being a son of E. A. Gleason, proprietor of the Cottage Grove brick yard and plant. The bride is an estimable and highly esteemed young lady, and the many friends of the happy couple join the Leader in extending congratulations and best wishes.

Medicines that aid nature are always most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It allays the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Thousands have testified to its superior excellence. Sold by Benson's Pharmacy.

If Eugene had spent the money she has put into automobile boulevards, Elks' temples, promotion work and campaigns against Nesmith, in a first class system of water works, with some pure mountain stream as its source, as Cottage Grove did last season, she would have been spared the humiliation and agony of an annual disastrous typhoid epidemic. Exploitation and promotion work under such adverse conditions availeth little.

Misses and children's winter coats including bear cloth going at one-half price. Hampton & Co.

The Willamette University Glee Club delighted a fair sized audience at the armory last Friday evening. Their chorus, quartets and solos were excellent, while the two young men in humorous readings were very clever. The roaring musical farce, the "Rajah of India," concluded the evening's entertainment. The boys are a good advertisement for old Willamette.

Harry Webber the piano tuner, was in town from his farm home Thursday and informed the Leader of a severe experience which fell to his sister who resides with him. She became lost in the mountains near their home on Monday forenoon and was not found until Tuesday. A searching party was organized at nightfall Monday, and it acted diligently throughout the night and part of the following day, when Oliver Wills found the lost one several miles from her home. Notwithstanding the night was cold and rainy, Miss Webber did not show signs of having suffered greatly.

HULL-ANDERSON—At the farm home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Anderson, south of Cottage Grove, Sunday, Jan. 1, 1911, at high noon, Clarence C. Hull and Miss May Lillian Anderson, Rev. Robert Sutcliffe, officiating.

The decorations were very appropriate and the ceremony which was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends was very pretty and impressive. Miss Ella R. Anderson attended her sister as bridesmaid, and the groom was attended by Alfred W. Scullen of Eugene. The wedding march was played softly on the piano by Miss Silsby, who at the close of the ceremony sang sweetly, "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacob Bond. The bride and groom were the recipients of many valuable and useful presents. After hearty congratulations were extended the bridal party and guests were seated at the festive board and partook of a royal wedding dinner. The groom is a well known, energetic and highly esteemed young man who is justly popular among his many associates. The bride is a charming, accomplished and vivacious young lady, a successful school teacher and is held in the highest esteem by a wide circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will soon be at home to friends on the Thomas Allen farm in Coast Fork valley a few miles south of the home of the bride's parents. The Leader joins in wishing them a happy and prosperous wedded life.

Experience Is The Best Teacher

And it is through experience that we have learned the merits of the Celebrated Mallory Hat.

The numerous customers who asked for a Mallory Hat at our store in the past and who would accept no other caused us to "sit up and take notice." We profited by this experience and have secured the agency for this famous hat for Cottage Grove.
