New Dry Goods Store.

C. E. Umphrey of Buckley, Washington, who has been leisurely looking over the towns and cities of the Willamette valley south of Portland with a view to establishing himself in the dry goods business, came to the conclusion finally that Cottage Grove looked the best of them all to him and he has accordingly leased the ground floor of the I. O. O. F. building on Main street next door west of the Bank of Cottage Grove and as soon as the shelving and counters can be put in he will open a modern dry goods stock therein, including all the newest creations in this line. Mr. Umphrey has had many years experience in this line of merchandising and will be able to please the public by supplying a new and high grade stock at reasonable prices. Mr. Umphrey is accompanied by his wife and baby and they will soon establish a permanent home here. They come to us with the very best of recommendations and the Leader joins with the rest in extending them a hearty welcome and wishes them success in their business enterprise.

In the case of R. L. Sabien vs. Phoebe Brumfield et al of Cottage Grove, Judge Harris rendered a judgement by default yesterday.

A very interesting program in charge of the president, Mrs. Mary Walker, was rendered after which all were seated in the dining room and partook of a dainty luncheon.

The social twelve met at the home of Mrs. Geo. Hall last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. J. S. Medley the instructor of needle work presented each member with a dainty white linen apron and gave instructions for embroidery. Ice cream, cake and grape juice were served. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. A. Miller.

MRS. G. B. HENGEN SEEKING A DIVORCE

(Chicago Record Herald.)
Gustave B. Hengen, who until his separation from his wife last September lived at 4630 Lake avenue and who is reputed to be wealthy, was sued for separate maintenance by Mrs. Margaret Hengen yesterday in the Circuit court. Mrs. Hengen asserts in her bill that she aided her husband in accumulating his fortune and that, except that he continued to pay the rent of the flat until last January, he has contributed nothing to her support since he left her. Hengen is said in the bill to be the owner of $215,000 worth of stock in the Kentucky-Midland Railway and $78,900 worth of stock in the Kentucky Midland Coal Company, besides bonds of the Midland Townsite Company and stock of the Oregon and Southeastern Railroad, and large interests in Kentucky coal lands, real estate in Colorado and Nebraska and a 750-acre farm in Missouri, besides carrying $100,000 life insurance. Mrs. Hengen says all this has been accumulated since their marriage, with her assistance. Mrs. Hengen, who still occupies the Lake avenue flat, charges that before deserting her Hengen was extremely cruel, striking her with his clenched fist on one occasion and at another time throwing her to the floor. She also charges that he has been attentive to other women since their separation. The couple were married in April, 1900.

TELEGRAM HIKER IN COTTAGE GROVE.

With his legs badly sunburned but moving without the least sign of a limp, The Evening Telegram's walker from Walkersdam, Holland arrived here at 4:40 Thursday afternoon. His face and neck burned almost black by the hot sun of the past four days, his shoes looking as though they would not be able to survive the rocky road through Pass Creek Canyon (14 miles long), his arms swinging like those on the windmills of his native land, Gottfried Rodrigues looked like a man who would do the very best he could in spite of any hardship.

Of the hikers arrival in Cottage Grove the Telegram said: "Rodrigues walked down the main street like one of his forbears marching at the head of his fighting Dutch soldiers. There was a large crowd awaiting the globe-trotter, who, after washing the dirt from his sunburned arms and legs, visited his friend, W. C. Conner, editor of the Cottage Grove Leader. Then the hiker ate his dinner and rested for a short time before heading southward."

The hiker rested an hour here, eating his first bite since he left Eugene at 10:20 o'clock Thursday morning. The trip was made over good roads, and the day was warm enough to keep the walker holding an umbrella over himself nearly all the way from the Lane County capital, 22 miles north of this city. But in spite of this protection, the sun's rays caused him to be greatly annoyed by the sunburns on his legs, he walking in short running trunks.

LOST IN DARKNESS

The Hiker left the Leader office at 6:30 p. m. for Roseburg expecting to travel all night via Pass Creek Canyon. He was followed by the Telegram auto one hour later. However, all were held up all night in Pass Creek canyon and Rodrigues did not reach Drain beyond the canyon until 10:15 Friday morning, having started at 6 o'clock after being up for hours with a stalled auto. At 9:15 Thursday night the pathfinder car stalled in a worked road in the canyon and was not pulled out until 1:15 a. m., and after running a few minutes was stalled again. It took two hours for the driver and press representatives to get it out. An examination of the roads ahead showed that it was impossible to get through. Rodrigues, who was walking ahead of the car, took the wrong road, wandered to Cottage Grove about midnight, but again started south on the railway tracks and at 3:15 saw the signal bonfire built by the pathfinders. He waited with the stalled car until 6 o'clock, when he started with the photographer and reporter for Roseburg.

After being delayed all night in Pass Creek canyon which was found impassable to automobiles at this season, the Telegram party came back to Cottage Grove and with the local E. M. F. auto agent, Frank Hickey, as pilot started anew for Roseburg via the London Springs and Black Butte route. While picking a road down the Black Butte mountain Hickey ran into a bear, and for an instant it looked like trouble. Hickey turned to beat the record to the car, where revolvers were fired at the animal. It was very dark, so Hickey came onto the animal before he saw it. The party then rolled on into Oakland and Roseburg without further sensational experiences.

Hon. S. C. Bartrum is prominently mentioned for State Forester. No better appointment could be made.

Experience Is The Best Teacher

And it is through experience that we have learned the merits of the Celebrated Mallory Hat.

The numerous customers who asked for a Mallory Hat at our store in the past and who would accept no other caused us to "sit up and take notice." We profited by this experience and have secured the agency for this famous hat for Cottage Grove.
