CLASS RECEPTION TURNS OUT TO BE A WEDDING

Saturday evening, June 3, 1911, at the home of Mrs. C. S. Hefty, Miss Hazle Ione Gray gave a reception to the class of '11. The rooms were prettily decorated with the class colors, red and white, a profusion of roses, sweet peas and lillies. The arch between parlor and dining room was draped with red and white and covered with a graceful honey suckle vine. The guests began to arrive at 8:30, Miss Hazle receiving them very graciously. The evening was spent in social chat, music and readings. Miss Allie Phillips gave a very interesting reading. Rev. J. Mark Comer, Miss Hazle Gray and Mrs. H. F. Royer also gave readings. The company enjoyed the music furnished by Edward Babcock, Miss Comer and Miss Dollie Hefty. About 10:15 Mr. Ira Snelson and Miss Hazle Ione Gray took their places under the arch with Miss Nellie Ellis as maid of honor and Mr. Luther King as best man. Then the Rev. J. Mark Comer rose to the occasion and there was "a wedding on our hands." Surprised! Well, yes, most of us. Those present beside the class were: J. M. Comer, wife and daughter Mildred, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Royer, Nettie and Cleo Royer, Messrs. Fred, Leonard and Reynold Gray, Edward Babcock, Misses Lula Curriu and Minnie Comer, Mrs. L. M. Tucker and two sons, Arthur Woodring, Jay Davis, Mrs. Jones, Miss Ella Crandall, Mrs. W. N. Wheeler and Edith and Mrs. C. S. Hefty. The guests were served with cake and ice cream. All heartily congratulated the young couple and wished them a long happy life. They will reside at Roseburg. A FRIEND.

HOME RULE LAW GETS HARD JOLT.

Salem, Ore., May 31.—That persons in an incorporated city or town in this state cannot sell liquors in violation of the local option law covering the entire county where the city or town is located, and that section 5 of article 11 of the constitution was not so amended by the initiative enactment of the "Home Rule Law" as to exempt any municipality from local option within its city limits or municipal territory, is the sense of the opinion handed down by the supreme court today, and written by Associate Justice Moore in the case of the state respondent vs. E. T. Schuler, appellant, the latter being charged with selling intoxicating liquors in Wallowa county on March 10, 1911, in violation of the local option law which was then in force in the entire county.

According to the supreme court, Justice Burnett concurring, no municipal government can change its charter so as to violate the constitution or criminal laws of Oregon, and since all felonies and misdemeanors are necessarily comprehended in the phrase "criminal laws," the home rule law enacted by the people infringes upon the constitution for the reason that it is a misdemeanor in this state to violate the local option law. In the case at hand, the appellant requested the court to direct a verdict of not guilty on the ground that the local option law was not in force in the city of Joseph by reason of the amendment ratified November 8, 1910, at the general election, which amendment is construed to mean the home rule amendment. Justice Moore holds that the word "exclusive" contained in the home rule amendment, which tends to give cities the sole right to regulate the liquor traffic, is not entitled to the force and importance usually given it.

In conclusion, Judge Burnett says: "It is a well known fact, within common observation, that somewhere in the analysis of almost every criminal prosecution, liquor appears as a factor. The county as a whole pays the expense of such litigation from both sides, from its inception before the committing magistrate to the final judgment of the supreme court. If, in the analogy to the frank pledge of the common law, every incorporated municipality, large or small, was responsible for such litigation originating within its limits, it might as well be given free rein under the 'executive power' phrase. Hence, the people have said: 'If we must foot the bill while the towns take the revenue by our local option law, with county unit we will retain some control of this matter as against the town, even within its limits.'"

A Musical Evening.

The chorus of the Christian church gave a delightful musical program last Thursday evening to an appreciative audience. The capable leadership of Prof. Fagan has been very effective in developing the musical ability of the singers under his direction. The vocal numbers were interspersed with readings. The following was the program:

Anthem, "The beautiful Golden Gate," chorus: Reading, C. Boyd; Duet, "Come Holy Spirit," Miss Brown, Prof. Fagan; Solo, "Just for Today," Seldon Powell; Trio, "Mrs. Cruson, Miss Willard, Miss Brown; Anthem, "Fear Thou Not" chorus: Reading, Miss Della Boyd; Solo, "More Love to Thee O Christ," Prof. Fagan; Reading, "Two Views of Life," Mrs. Hemenway; Solo, "Anchored," Mr. B. Richmond; Descriptive-Narrative, "How I Killed the Devil," W. A. Elkins; Duet, "Nailed to the Cross," Miss Willard, Prof. Fagan; Anthem, "Wake the Song," chorus.

The most deplorable feature of Douglas county's shamefully neglected county road through Pass Creek canyon, a few miles south of Cottage Grove, is the fact that this city and county is blamed for its condition by the hundreds of travelers and tourists who pass over it every season, and we are branded as moss backs and non-progressives for tolerating such a public highway, when we have no jurisdiction at all in the premises. Signs bearing this information "This road belongs to Roseburg and Douglas county" should be posted in Pass Creek canyon by Cottage Grove that the blame for its deplorable roads should rest where it belongs. The Cottage Grove garage is kept busy pulling stranded tourists out of this canyon country at this season of the year.

Assault and Battery Case.

W. T. Wentzell, superintendent of construction work on the new First National bank building, was arrested on an assault and battery charge by John Spray, Jr. Monday morning, pleaded guilty and was fined $7.50. Young Spray was whipping a horse when Wentzell admonished him to treat the beast with more consideration. This started an altercation resulting in a rough and tumble and appearance in the recorder's court.

Prize Essay Contest.

On Saturday evening at the Armory under the directions of the W. C. T. U. there will be a prize essay contest, in which five pupils of the seventh grade of the public schools will participate. There will be other interesting numbers on the program. This is a preliminary contest for the selection of a member to participate in the district and state contest for prizes offered by the temperance workers. Admission 10 cents; reserved seats 15 cents.
