Arcade Theatre Secures Good People

The Reeves Musical Company consisting of Madam Constance, the violin and euphonium soloist, Misses Elba and Aliene, prima donna and soubrette, W. P. Reeves, cornet flugel soloist, with a select repertoire of solos, duets, trios, and quartets, featuring the drummer girl soubrette, Reeves Trumpet Trio in bugle calls of the U. S. A. and many other musical attractions appeared at the Arcade on Monday and Tuesday nights of last week. This is absolutely the best musical performance that has been offered the people of Cottage Grove for months.

Mr. Cox made arrangements to play them at Creswell Friday night where they were greeted by a large and attentive audience.

The Reeves Company are now playing a three night engagement in Eugene, after which they work north to Portland, then east to Chicago where they expect to study during the winter.

On Thursday of last week William Handy was very badly hurt at the Latham mill a mile from town. Mr. Handy was working along side the live roller table and his clothing was caught by the large shaft which runs lengthwise with the table and would have been torn to pieces in a second more had not the man at the lever seen his predicament and reversed the machinery driving the shaft. As it was, he was badly bruised, the skin being torn from the pelvic bone. It was thought that complications might arise from internal injuries, but from present indications he will be all right in time.

Budget From Divide.

The correspondent at Divide has been laying off a couple of weeks studying the new line of industry engaged in by Ray Griggs of Comstock. Ray's new line of business is the piloting of stranded automobiles up or down the canyon as the case requires. It should not be reported that he maintains a trap for them, but he knows just about where they are to be found. He certainly is doing a fine business in his new line, fishing out as many as four in one day with his good little team of horses.

A stolen automobile from Portland in hasty flight southward ran over and killed a man at Eugene, stuck in the mud at Divide and was there when Chief Snodgrass arrived, 15 minutes later, when the driver was politely requested to raise his hands in the air and submit to arrest. He was taken directly to Eugene to answer to the various charges against him. It was reported that at one time "the fifty" had him covered at the appearance of the officer from the Grove, but of course it might have been with mud.
