AMBITION TALKS

Do Not Blame Your Business Failure On Anybody Else.

Of course, the world is far from being perfect. There are hundreds of wrongs that ought to be righted and thousands of evils that ought to be done away altogether. But, for all that, the fundamental principles of our government are the most perfect on earth, the opportunities offered to our young men and women absolutely beyond comparison with any others in the history of the world.

A young man of 20 to 30 years of age who stays in a large city, grubbing away at $10 or $12 a week, ruining his health, and saving nothing, making no preparations for the future, and injuring every business prospect by midnight debauchery, has no right to complain at the preferment of his fellows.

A boy, who stops his schooling at the eighth grade and enters a factory without making the necessary struggle to earn his way higher up, is merely giving additional proof of his own ignorance when he asserts that he "Ain't Hed No Show."

If complaining people would turn their energies and attention to the clarifying of the foul political atmosphere which makes our actual grievances possible, we would approach a thousand years nearer to Utopia than we would if we should try to reorganize the property basis of society.

The things that keep a man down are inside of him and not outside, and success will come to every able-bodied man who is willing to pay the price of success in earnest, conscientious effort. If John D. Rockefeller should spend $10,000,000 next month trying to keep me from earning a living, he couldn't do it. I am in a country where men are wanted who will work, and so long as I am willing, I can have all the work I want and will get paid reasonably for it. If, then, I add to my willingness to work a sincere desire for education in business, there is nothing in this country that can prevent me from being a money king but my own mental deficiency—and it's God Almighty, and not the Republican or Democratic party, who is responsible for that.

Men have their ups and downs, and the exceptions to the rules just laid down are many, but "for a' that and a' that, a man's a man for a' that," and here in this magnificent country of ours, he may have a man's chance to fight for all the money that was ever turned out of the mint. The fellow who is constantly attempting to prove that some one else is responsible for his poverty is generally the one who has so wasted the early years of his business life that he has condemned himself to the life of the under dog.

DEATH OF BELOVED COTTAGE GROVE LADY

Mrs. D. Read, beloved because of her kindness towards the suffering and for her work in the cause of He who has welcomed her home, Mrs. D. Read passed peacefully away Sunday at the age of 68, after several years of suffering hardly constitution which stood her well in hand in her work of caring for the sick. Her long experience in this line made her a most proficient nurse, and many a little tot hailed Grandma Read as an angel of health.

Just as the services began at the grave a rift came in the clouded skies, letting the sunlight through, as if He on high was welcoming to the fold her who had done so much for Him here. The phenomenon lasted during the entire services at the Grave.

Fresh Eastern Oysters served to suit your taste at Charley's as an invalid, her own sickness being brought about by overwork in caring for the distressed.

The funeral was held Monday, interment being made at Pleasant Hill, Rev. Benton, of Eugene, conducting the services. A large number of friends were present, 17 going from Cottage Grove.

Mrs. Read was born in White County, Illinois, in 1843, her maiden name being Lucinda A. Hall. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hall. She was married to D. Read in 1863. They moved to Kansas in 1863 and to Crescent Hill, Ore., in 1890, just 21 years to the day previous to the date of her funeral. In 1907 Mr. and Mrs. Read moved to Cottage Grove. Four children were born to the couple, the two living ones being Mrs. Ora Hemenway, of this city, and Dr. S. D. Read, of Eugene.

In her maiden days Mrs. Read was a school teacher. The latter part of her life was devoted to Christian and benevolent work, becoming well known through Oregon because of her activities in the C. W. B. M. She was a woman of remarkable self-control and of hardly constitution which stood her well in hand in her work of caring for the sick. Her long experience in this line made her a most proficient nurse, and many a little tot hailed Grandma Read as an angel of health.
