At noon all spread their luncheons on the grass in the shade which is so abundant about the Black Butte school grounds. The dinner consisted of pies, cakes, sandwiches and other delicacies too numerous to mention. A bounteous feast in the way of an old-fashioned basket dinner was enjoyed by all present. School resumed about 1:30 o'clock and a short program consisting of recitations, songs and compositions was rendered by the pupils, after which all returned to their respective homes for the summer vacation. However, before departing, three couples of the older boys and girls, chaperoned by the teacher, ascended the Black Butte mountain to the mine. All the points of interest were explored and a general frolic up and down the mountain was enjoyed by the youngsters.
