Bede and His Little Grouch.

After having aired his private personal grievances against the Leader and its editor recently, until his readers and the entire community was thoroughly disgusted with it, Bede now precipitates another row, after a little misunderstanding had been supposedly, adjusted privately, between ourselves, concerning a matter of no public interest, the merits or demerits of which no one cares a rap. But there are allegations in the screed in the last issue of the "live wire," which we cannot pass unnoticed. First, the allegation that we accepted an order for advertising which we knew belonged to him, is a rank falsehood. He willfully falsifies when he says this order was received by us two weeks before the first issue of our paper. He then cheerfully falsifies when he asserts this advertising amounts to the probable sum of $100. Then he maliciously prevaricates when he asserts that he bought the Cottage Grove Leader "indirectly" from us.

The facts are as follows: An ordinary circular letter came to us addressed, "The Leader, Cottage Grove, Oregon," on Jan. 25, 1913, which Bede alleges was "two weeks before the appearance of the Leader." Upon opening this letter, we found what appeared to be a stereotyped patent medicine advertising order, as it bore NO DATE and was simply addressed, "Gentlemen." As it made reference to Rexall Remedies, and knowing the Modern Pharmacy of this city to specialize on these remedies, we immediately submitted the letter to Druggist Kem and asked him if he had knowledge of any local contract for advertising, and if there was none, we were willing to carry this advertising. He said he knew of no such contract, and no advertising of this kind had ever been carried here. In our next conversation with Mr. Kem, we told him if his company was not satisfied with the services rendered by our paper, we were willing to surrender the plates at any time, and the advertising could be placed elsewhere. In the meantime, Mr. Bede put in some good hard "knocks" to the company and we were finally instructed to allow the "live wire" to complete the contract, which expires April 30, and amounts to about $5 per month, or a total of $12 or $15, the plates not having arrived here until Feb. 3, a full month later than Bede alleges they were received by the Leader. Therefore, the contract, or order, covered but three months. As this is a class of advertising we usually refuse to accept, we very gracefully and promptly surrendered the plates to our contemporary, when it was shown that they were misdirected to us. This is a matter which might repeatedly happen in any town where two or more papers are published, and if we have acted unfair or taken any undue advantage in this little incident, we are unable to comprehend it.

As we have stated heretofore, had Bede requested us not to use the old Leader name when we repeatedly discussed the matter with him, prior to the establishment of this new paper, we would have complied with his request, but, no doubt, fearing, under those conditions, that we would decline to take the remaining material of the old Leader plant off his hands, he offered no objections until after he had received our money and the new paper was launched forth upon its, at once, successful mission. We have tried to meet the fellow half way on every proposition presenting itself, but have been unable to appease his wrath, or convince him that he has no exclusive franchise on the newspaper business in Cottage Grove. He will learn, and grow wiser, we hope, with age. More anon.

NEW STERILIZATION BILL.

The following pertinent comment on the new sterilization bill is found in a late issue of Lend-a-Hand, the state penitentiary paper:

"The sterilization bill as carried through both the house and the senate of the legislature is a progressive measure of no mean pretensions. It is one more step in the direction of prison reform, and will, no doubt, be a good law for, at least, two reasons, and two reasons ought to be sufficient. First, it stops the breed. I don't know what breed, unless it be the knockers—against the system; but doctresses and a few others say it stops the breed, so let it go at that. Second, there are about three thousand human beings confined in jails, insane asylums, the penitentiary and other institutions over the state, who, when sterilized at about $4.98 per, (marked down from $5 for this sale only) will throw a pretty penny in the way of the doctors, and—doctors have to live some way in this disgustingly healthy country. Aside from these two good and sufficient reasons the sane theory is also advanced that such a law reposing quietly on our meagre statute books will have a tendency to drive all criminals out of the state, but, of course, that will take some time, that is, if they ALL go, as there are not over twenty trains a day leaving the state.

This bill is aimed at moral perverts and degenerates though there is nothing to prevent it including all inmates confined in state institutions, and it does not include the degenerate outside nor the dealer in booze, who makes more degenerates every day than are confined in state institutions in a year. Why not enact a law compelling every saloon keeper and patron to submit to sterilization, thereby getting at the root of the evil. Society cries out for protection and wreaks vengeance on a mere handful caged behind iron bars, while the fountainhead of misery, degenerates and crime is allowed to flow on unchecked. Let society look to the cause and not to the effects. Clear out the saloon and the effect will automatically clear itself.

Every newspaper in the valley is receiving enticing offers for advertising space from eastern department stores, and they don't ask any reduced rates, either, but voluntarily offer in most cases more than regular rates. It was the sentiment, however, of the valley press association, at its Albany meeting, that such advertising should not be accepted until a canvas had been made of home business men, to see if they would support their home papers. If they do, it is all right; if they won't, then the papers will be compelled to accept advertising from eastern houses who realize that the only way to build business is by liberal advertising in newspapers. The papers cannot devote their energies to building up home business men and industries unless those same business men show their appreciation by a reasonable patronage.

In the government inquiry into the wage scale of girls in the big Chicago department stores and factories, some startling revelations are brought forth. Questioned regarding the immoral influences in these places, one young lady made the significant reply: "Most any man will protect us from anything of anyone except himself." Another unfortunate girl declared on the witness stand that "low wages in the stores and factories are not as much responsible for our downfall as men"—the well dressed, villainous, libertines, who lay in waiting for every unsuspecting girl, that she may be delivered over in due time to the white slavers at so much per head.

After reading of the death and destruction following in the wake of the recent great storms throughout the eastern and southern states, our recent March weather appears as a gentle spring mist. We certainly have no kick on weather conditions here, with flowers blooming and early garden growing.

"Bottles and rags! Bottles and rags!" called the ragman. "Why do you always put these words together?" asked a passer-by. "Because, madam," said the ragman, "courteously, touching his hat, 'wherever you find bottles, you find rags.'"—Woman's Journal.

The Steady Subscriber.

How dear to our heart is the steady subscriber,
Who pays in advance at the birth of each year,
Who lays down the money and does it quite gladly,
And casts 'round the office a halo of cheer.
He never says, "Stop it; I cannot afford it."
I'm getting more papers than now I can read."
But always says, "Send it; our people all like it—"
In fact, we all think it a help and a need."
How welcome his check when it reaches our sanctum,
How it makes our pulse throb; how it makes our hearts dance.
We outwardly thank him; we inwardly bless him—
The steady subscriber who pays in advance.—Amusco.
