J. Pierpont Morgan, the great financier, died in Rome, Italy, on Monday. The body will be embalmed and shipped to New York for burial. Deceased was born April 17, 1837 in Hartford, Conn. While Wall street is in deep sorrow no great financial depression is anticipated. The Morgan interests will be ably directed by a son of deceased and Mr. Lamont.

Portland has a population of more than 265,000, according to the advance and unofficial estimates of the 1913 city directory, which will be issued within a few days.

BARNES' WILD ANIMAL CIRCUS IS COMING

The Al. G. Barnes show this season is, without fear of contradiction, the very largest of its kind on the road, and while magnitude has been considered in its organization, merit has not been departed from. The policy ever since its conception has been to unite these two important factors, but under no consideration to allow magnitude to exist without the substantial support of merit. Recently when asked to what he attributed his success mostly, Barnes replied: "First to dealing honestly with my patrons and not indulging in untruthful advertising. Secondly, to dealing with my patrons just as they would have me deal with them. If the late P. T. Barnum said that the American people loved to be humbugged, and he is credited with having said it, I do not think that he would say it if he were alive now. A showman can no more be successful by dealing dishonestly with his patrons than the grocer or the butcher. The reputation my show has established, I am proud of, and I would not sacrifice it for any money that could be offered me. My policy has always been to observe the golden rule even in the show business, and I have found it successful. Show business of today is not what our grandparents taught us to believe it was, for it is a business conducted just as methodically as that of your soundest banking institution and along the very same lines. To be successful you have first got to gain the confidence of the people and to continue successful, you have got to retain this confidence."

The morning of the day for the show to exhibit here, the usual street parade will be given, but it will be a pleasing departure from the others that have been seen here from time to time. Everybody should see this mighty street pageant whether they attend the performances or not, and it would be cruel to refuse the children permission. Two performances will be given in Cottage Grove, Thursday, April 17th, the afternoon performance at 2 o'clock and the evening performance at 8 o'clock.

Anybody can kick, but it takes a good man to boost.

Elizabeth B. Sherman, whose maiden name was Colver, was born in Montgomery county, Ohio, March 20, 1832. She was married to John S. Bowers, Sept. 17, 1854, by Squire D. Ephner in Albany, Ill. Mr. Bowers died Oct. 5, 1886, and his widow was married to S. D. Sherman in 1893. Mrs. Sherman resides with her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Jones, in Cottage Grove, who planned a most pleasant surprise and entertained a large gathering of friends in honor of the 81st birthday of her mother Thursday of last week at the Jones home in this city.

New Cafeteria.

Mrs. Anna Hoxie and Miss Anna Leuna will open a first class cafeteria in the room in the Bank of Cottage Grove building, formerly occupied by the Wave Confectionery, on or about April 15th. Carpenters have been at work remodeling the place and putting in a new floor, and by the time the painters get through with it, the place will be in first class condition. The Pride Home Bakery will be supplied with a new, modern brick oven and will be conducted by Mr. C. L. Hoxie, who will make a specialty of bread, buns and pastries.

Mr. Crandall, the carpenter, has raised his residence on West Main street two feet higher, in order to get above the new street grade.

Southern People at Creswell.

A. W. Schwering has sold his farm of 160 acres, located in the Camas Swale district, to Rev. Robert Hillis, of New Mexico, E. P. Black, of Panama, and J. C. Faulks, of Dalhart, Texas. W. A. Mitchell, of the Mitchell Land company, made the deal. The property will be divided into two farms, Mr. Hillis and Mr. Black taking one and Mr. Faulks the other. Mr. Hillis and wife arrived here last week and took possession of the place. Mrs. Faulks and child also arrived but Mr. Faulks will not arrive until later. He is a dentist and will probably open an office here in Creswell. Mrs. Black and Mrs. Faulks are both daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hillis.

Mr. Schwering will remain in Creswell and has moved into the Jensen place in the west edge of town.—Creswell Chronicle.

Water Pipe Line Broken.

The O. & S. E. railroad construction crew accidentally felled a large tree across the Lang Creek pipe line, just below the intake, last week, and smashed one length of the large pipe, putting the city water system from that source out of commission for a few days, or until the water recedes enough to enable the repair crew to reach and close the intake gates, so a new joint of pipe can be put in. Our present water supply is received from the old reservoir west of this city.

OBITUARY.

Joseph H. Sharp, the pioneer Christian minister, storekeeper and postmaster, died at his home at Latham, at 12:10 o'clock, Tuesday morning, April 1, 1913, after a lingering illness, aged 78 years. He leaves a widow, son, Emmett, and daughter, Mrs. William Keyes. Funeral services will be held from the family residence Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, interment in the Taylor-Lane cemetery. Deceased was widely known from his long residence here, and was esteemed most highly by all who knew him. He was a true, Christian gentleman.

Denies the Charge.

Cottage Grove, Ore., April 1, 1913.—Ed. Leader: In your issue of March 24, under the heading, "Dirty, Underhanded Trick," you published what purported to be a letter from the editor of the O. A. C. Press Bulletin, stating that we had endeavored to stop you from getting the Press Bulletins by informing him that The Sentinel was the only paper in Cottage Grove.

Immediately upon reading your article, we wrote the editor of the Press Bulletin demanding copy of any such notice which we had sent him. Not having had a reply, we take it that the Bulletin editor tacitly admits what we already knew, that we had sent no such notice. It is, therefore, only reasonable that you tell your readers that through the misinformation given you by the Bulletin editor, you published a malicious screed about The Sentinel that had no foundation upon any action of ours. Yours very truly,
BEDE & GRANT,
Pubs. Sentinel.
