

Last Spring My Health

Was completely broken down through prolonged watching at a sick bed. My appetite was gone. I was so nervous that I could not sleep. I became pale, thin, languid, tired, looked ten years older. Through physical weakness my mental condition was affected. Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to perfect health. It aided the worn-out nerves of my stomach to do their duty. I could soon eat and sleep peacefully and felt new life course through my veins. Within six weeks I was my former self, and for a year have enjoyed the best health." Julia C. Tison, Atlantic City, N. WINTER EGG PROFITS

Hens Should Have Been in Good Condition in Fall.

Fowls Should Not Be Allowed to Eat Grain as Fast as They Can Consume It, But Rather Made to Scratch for It.

(By M. M. CHANDLER.) As much depends upon the condition of the hens themselves as anything else, if you are expecting the winter eggs. You should have seen to it that your hens were not running wild during the late fall, getting too much corn about the fields or hog pens, or that they are not starving when you think they are picking up a good living for themselves after the grain has all been put away for the winter.

For many years I kept only a small flock of hens and paid little attention to them except during the winter. I got, of course, very few eggs and found that if I wished this much sought winter supply I must look closer to business.

I tried shutting my hens in a large park during the month of November and feeding them cooked vegetables, milk, a little of everything in the shape of grain, instead of letting them run to the corn houses; that is, all but those I wished to market, and those I confined in a large coop with a floor in it, so they could not do too much scratching, and fed them more grain and less milk, plenty of clean water and usually two weeks would find them in good condition for the market.

This, I find, pays better than allowing the hens you wish to keep over remain with those who are going to sell, since the feeding methods differ. A hen should not be fat when the cold weather sets in any more than she should be starved. She should be fed according to the egg-producing method, and with me that method is regular meals, plenty of variety in food and a good chance to scratch for her living.

I never allow a hen to eat grain as fast as she can pick it up, but make her hunt for it in a good pile of litter. Soft food for breakfast, fed at six o'clock, milk and a little wheat or rye for dinner, and supper at four o'clock of corn, two quarts to forty hens. This may seem a small ration, but where three meals are given you will find that it is enough and if more is allowed them there will be fewer eggs. Some think it better to feed all small grain and no corn, but in the cool weather I find that corn satisfies the fowls much better and it should be fed as hot as they can stand it.

Never expect real success with winter egg-raising without a good bone mill. A bone mill can be had for $5 and will pay for itself in six months. Bone meal should be a part of every breakfast in the hen roost and the oyster shells and skimmilk are quite as essential.

Meat is good, but never throw the carcass of a dead animal into the chicken house unless you want to create disease germs and impure eggs. Keep the carcass frozen out of doors and cut from it a small ration of meat at a time, and see that it is all eaten fresh. Never expect winter eggs in a dark, damp, chilly coop. Have plenty of windows and fresh air. There is nothing better than fresh air and sunshine. Keep the house clean. Every morning while the flock are at their breakfast take a shovel and scrape up the droppings under the perches. Take care that they do not use the nests as roosting places, and always change the straw in the nests and get fresh straw or, better still, clover hay scattering for litter at least as often as once a week.

EXCELLENT FEED-PEN GATE

Swinging Device Keeps Older Hogs From Entering While Little Fellows Are Being Fed.

In feeding the little pigs with older hogs, it is necessary to have some sort of a separate feeding pen for the pigs. The older ones can be kept out and the pigs prevented from entering the pen while the troughs are being filled by means of a swinging gate. This gate swings outward only. It is held up while the little pigs enter the feeding pen, and being light, they can push it forward and go out at will. It may be used to advantage in fattening hogs that run with the stock hogs. After putting out the feed the feeder raises the gate and lets in those to fatten, then lets it fall; all others are kept out, yet those in the pen may go out when through eating. This style of gate is also convenient for the lamb lot where one uses a creep. The gate should be just large enough to admit a good-sized lamb.

Locate the Fault. If your hens are not doing to suit you look over the situation carefully and find out where the trouble is. You may be sure the fault is yours, not theirs.

R. L. S. IN THE ADIRONDACKS

Stevenson, While Fighting Off Disease There, Seemed Indifferent to the Laws of Health.

Robert Louis Stevenson, for so wise a man, seems to have been singularly unaware of, or indifferent to, the laws of health, but that, too, may have been part of his wisdom. He spent the winter of 1887 in the Adirondacks struggling against the disease which was not to subdue him for seven years. He lived in a little cottage that was much overheated and from which all ventilation was carefully excluded. The smoke of his incessant cigarettes obscured the atmosphere and perhaps helped to drive away the visitors who came to gaze upon him as one gazes at a lion in a den. Fashionable callers were specially unwelcome and Stevenson once remarked, according to an account in the Medical Record, that "it isn't the great unwashed which I'd read, but the great washed." But whoever else was unwelcome there was always a greeting for Richard Mansfield. It is an impressive, almost a tremendous picture, that of the clouded room fitfully lit by the flames of the log fire and Stevenson huddled close to the fire; while Mansfield at the other end of the room gave his weird impersonation of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. It must have been like God looking upon his handiwork and finding it good.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time. "I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham remedies."—Miss JESSIE MARSH, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

MR. A. H. FOWELL, Manufacturing Chemist, Spokane, Wash. Dear Sir: Having suffered with stomach trouble for a number of years, and tried a great many doctors and a great many proprietary preparations, but obtained no permanent relief until I took your stomach remedy, and am pleased to say that I have no further stomach trouble and can eat anything I desire and suffer no bad results. I am a professional nurse, having nursed for 30 years, some of the time for Dr. Holt of New York City, the greatest specialist on children's diseases; also had charge of Wardner Hospital at Wardner, Idaho, for two years. Since learning by my own experience the great benefit from the use of Fowell's Stomach Remedy, I have recommended it to a great many for children and adults, and in each case it has been remarkable for the good it has done. I cheerfully recommend it to anyone suffering with any kind of stomach trouble, as I am anxious to aid anyone suffering from sickness of any kind, and I have never known of medicine to compare with Fowell's Stomach Remedy for all kinds of stomach trouble. Yours truly, ELSIE STEINER, 2120 Boore Ave.
