MISS MARGARET WILSON.

MISS ELEANOR RANDOLPH WILSON.

MISS JESSIE WOODROW WILSON.

Washington.—After a search of five weeks on the part of secret service men, capitol policemen and attaches of the sergeant-at-arms office to discover the identity of the page of the house who called up Miss Jessie Wilson on the phone on one of the night sessions of the house the search of the guilty person was finally abandoned.

During the night sessions on the tariff the pages on the floor of the house having lots of time on their hands, amused themselves by phoning to various residences in all parts of the city. One of the lads suggested that it would be a good joke to call up "Main 6" and ask for Miss Wilson. This is the White House number, although it was unknown to the boy who used the private line from the capitol to the White House.

The editor of an exchange says: "I never saw my neighbor or his wife, but nothing could ever convince me that they are not excellent people. Because my window overlooks their back yard, and their back yard has a clean carpet of turf, and trees and several lilac bushes beautifully in bloom, and all without a trace of careless disfigurement. And I hear the voices of children and the sound of children's games there of an evening. I believe in the testimony of back yards; they seldom deceive you, while the front is generally built for that especial purpose."

Merchants all over the state are carrying large stocks of eastern trust made crackers and biscuits that are inferior to the Oregon-made products. It ought to convince a merchant with a tin cup full of brains that Oregon-made crackers are better. The eastern trust-made crackers are not as fresh and are not made of superior materials. The Oregon-made crackers and biscuits are less broken up and made of Oregon flour and lard and with Oregon labor.—Oregon Manufacturer.

The Battleship Oregon will not be used as a target by the Navy Department if this state can help it. Resolutions strongly protesting against this action have been adopted by many organizations and a petition, as long as the famous battleship itself, has been signed and forwarded to President Wilson by school children asking that the Oregon lead the naval parade through the Panama Canal.

Many believed that a miracle was performed at Andersonville prison during the war. About 25,000 men were confined there, and the only water obtainable was polluted. Things looked pretty bad, when lightning hit the prison and uncovered a spring, which ever since then has been known as Providence spring.

We don't know that Chinese doctor ads are less disinteresting reading than the eczema remedy and Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea locals, which decorate the pages of the "live wire."

Cottage Grove's Farmers' Day celebration soliciting committee, Burkholder and Spray, raised nearly $700 on their first trip about town.

A carload of first-class apples sent from Drain to Minneapolis proved a total loss financially, and the shippers had to put up $75 freight.

Lights and power failed in Klamath Falls, Ore., one night recently, and for twelve hours the town was without electricity. In the absence of power the local newspaper force tore a hole through the brick wall of the composing room, backed an automobile in and hitched it to one of the presses, and the paper was issued only two hours late.

She'll Be Sorry.

When her duty's manifold,
And her hours of ease are few,
Will a change come o'er the spirit
Of the woman who is "new"?
When she's drawn upon a jury,
Or is drafted for the wars,
Will she like her freedom better
Than the "chains" she now abhors?
When she's running for an office
And gets "left" and has the blues,
Won't she wish that she was back in
The "oppressed" old woman's shoes?
When the Ship of State is steering
'Mid a storm of mad abuse,
Won't she wish that for the ballot
She'd ne'er thought she had a use?
When she finds that she is treated
'Like a man,' O, tho' she's longed
For just that, won't she be tempted
Oftentimes to think she's wronged!
When no man e'er give his seat up
In a car, or deigns to hold
Her umbrella when it's raining,
Won't she wish that she was "old"?
Won't she think the men "just horrid"
Left to hustle for herself,
Where she's looked on as a rival
In the race for power and pelf?
When the man's reverence no longer
Is accorded as her due,
When he treats her as a brother,
She'll be sorry that she's new!

WATERS OF PACIFIC LET INTO CANAL

The waters of the Pacific ocean were let into the Panama canal on May 18, when a giant blast, composed of thirty-two thousand seven hundred and fifty pounds of dynamite, demolished the dike to the south of the Miraflores locks and allowed the water to flow into an extensive section in which excavations have practically been completed. The dike had dammed the waters of Ancon harbor in the Gulf of Panama on the Pacific until the United States engineers practically finished excavating a long stretch of the canal near Miraflores. The time set for its destruction was made public, and thousands of American visitors, Zone residents and other sight seers swarmed the hillsides to see this important step toward the completion of the big waterway. All the charges had been set at sunset the night before, and throughout the night the immense quantity of dynamite was under heavy guard, no one except the engineers and their assistants being permitted to pass the sentry lines.—Christian Science Sentinel.

URGE NATIONS TO JOIN PEACE FETE

International Conference Extend Invitation to All.

MARKS CENTURY OF PEACE.

Resolutions Are Unanimously Adopted
Inviting Co-operation of Nations In Making Celebration of the Signing of the Treaty of Ghent In 1915 a World
Event In Cause of Peace.

Laure Mohonk, N. Y.—At the conclusion of the international conference here to arrange for a fitting celebration of the signing of the treaty of Ghent in 1915, at which time one hundred years of peace between English speaking peoples will have been completed, the following manifesto was unanimously adopted by the conferees and is presented to the English speaking world and to those in other nations interested in the cause of universal peace:

Representatives of Great Britain, of Newfoundland, of the United States, of the Dominion of Canada, of the Commonwealth of Australia and of the municipality of Ghent, having been in conference concerning an appropriate celebration of the centenary of the signing of the treaty of Ghent, which marked the end of the last international war between the British and American peoples, unite in offering to the governments and the peoples of the civilized world an earnest invitation to take part in making this celebration in every way worthy of the hundred years of peace that it commemorates.

We invite such co-operation to the end that it may be made clear and unmistakable to public opinion everywhere that the time has come when international rivalries and differences, though numerous and severe, may be settled without the carnage and the horrors of war. Although it be unreasonable to disregard the possibility of conflict arising in the future out of mutual or partial misunderstanding, yet we gratefully recognize that the chances of misunderstanding have been largely eliminated by the degree in which modern science has facilitated intercourse and accelerated communication. We are therefore encouraged to hope that the development of letters, science and the arts, of commerce, industry and finance, of mutual knowledge, trust and good feeling on the part of those who owe different allegiances and who speak different tongues may profitably absorb the energy of mankind as well as offer opportunity for the display of the noblest and finest traits of mind and of character.

Great Britain has been a colonizing nation, and the United States has drawn to the population various and powerful elements from different countries and from different flags. Therefore a century of peace between Great Britain and her dominions beyond the seas on the one hand and the United States on the other hand touches directly both the interests and the imagination of every land to which Great Britain's sons have gone as well as those of every nation from which the present day population of the United States has been drawn. Such a celebration will not only mark the close of a century of exceptional significance and importance, but it will call attention to an example and an ideal that we earnestly hope may be followed and pursued in the years to come. What nations have done nations can do.

We respectfully request his majesty's secretary of state for foreign affairs and the secretary of state of the United States to transmit this invitation through the proper official channels to the governments of the world in order that both by the participation of governments and by the co-operation of men of good will in every land this celebration may be so carried out as to mark not merely the close of 100 years of peace between English speaking peoples, but the opening of what we sincerely trust will be a fresh era of peace and good will between all the nations of the world.

TO POSTAL JOB APPLICANTS.

Civil Service Instructions Out For Postmaster Examinations.

Washington.—The civil service commission has prepared instructions for applicants for the fourth class postmaster positions to meet the demand expected to follow President Wilson's order requiring that appointments to office paying $180 a year or more be made by competitive examinations.

The instructions as to the examinations are identical with those sent out following President Taft's order of Oct. 15, 1912, except that where the present instructions apply to applicants for all offices paying $180 a year or more, last year's instructions applied to offices paying $500 or more.

Kill 4,237 Squirrels.

Sac City, Ia.—The farmers living in the vicinity of Early held their annual squirrel hunt the other day, nearly eighty men and boys participating. The hunters lined up on two sides, the side winning the most points agreeing to furnish a dinner in the evening. At the close of the hunting the winning side was 2,310 points in the lead, and a total of 4,237 squirrels was reported the dead bodies filling a dray wagon.

Speaking of the meeting of the Willamette Valley Editorial Association at Eugene last week, the Harrisburg Bulletin says, "but few of the country boys were present." He says he learned at this meeting how to make a country weekly pay $200 per month, then concludes: "All this was made quite easy at the meeting, and no editor in the valley should be without the knowledge. The information was given by an editor who had once been an attorney-at-law and for years a minister. He took up newspaper work without experience, but built a big business where others had starved, and stated that anyone could do the same thing if they would only go out after the money." Dead easy!
