

Duchess of Marlborough Goes In For Politics In London

THE pretty Duchess of Marlborough, who, as every American knows, was Consuelo Vanderbilt, is the new leader of the conservative London suffragists. She's not a militant. That must be understood distinctly. But she is the new head of the woman's organization started to secure municipal offices for women in London. The duchess decries the outrages of the suffragettes, but believes women should hold office and should vote. She is much in sympathy with the American suffragist movement.

FINE FLOCK OF RHODE ISLAND REDS

Last week Jas. S. Benson received from a well known and expert Wolf Creek breeder a flock of 30 fine Rhode Island Reds. We had the pleasure of looking over this flock of young stock and will say that we have never seen better. They are as red as the most enthusiastic red breeder could desire and are large in size and very vigorous. Mr. Benson really has something good, and has added another fine breed to the already long list to be found here.

THE DANDY BLACK ORPINGTON.

The far famed Dorking, which Caesar bore from Rome to England 55 B. C., has been knocked to splinters by the big pink skinned Orpington, England's now most popular chicken.

England has many varieties, both in rose and single comb, but so far the American Poultry association has admitted but three to the standard—S. C. White, S. C. Buff and S. C. Black. This breed, originated by the late William Cook at Orpington, England.

BLACK ORPINGTON COCK BIRD.

is the most popular thus far originated on English soil and has a large following in this country.

All the standard varieties are alike in weight and shape, and the Blacks have many friends.

A look at the cuts tells why. They are a fowl to be proud of, pretty for show and bully for eggs and meat.

To make the Black Orpington a Black Minorca male was mated to black sport pullets from Barred Plymouth Rocks.

Pullets of this cross were then bred to a Black Langshan cock with clean legs.

This was a fine combination for eggs and meat, size and beauty, and it was found that the young matured from a month to six weeks earlier than the chicks of the original breeds bred straight.

To get the Blacks to their present perfection was a tedious task. Mr. Cook persevering for seventeen years before he reached his ideal. He made both rose and single comb from this combination.

The Black Orpington is of remarkable vitality. It is large, compact, plump, big breasted, and as a general purpose fowl for fine grained meat and big eggs it is hard to beat.

BLACK ORPINGTON HEN.

It should be low in stature, have rich, glossy, black plumage; red comb, face, wattles, ear lobes; dark eyes, black shanks, and the soles of its feet should be pinkish white.

As a market fowl it is rather large for the common call and does not have the butter colored skin and trills so popular with American market buyers.
