Notice to Voters.

While it is stated that registration of voters closes Saturday evening Oct. 18, it should be remembered that the books close at Eugene at that time and they must close at least two days earlier here in order to be recorded at the county seat by the evening of the 18th. So registration will close in south Lane, Oct. 16.

"I am going out of office with less money than I had when I went in and I will not be a candidate for re-election." The above statement was made a few days ago by Governor West at a meeting of the Emergency Board at Salem. The governor has made the statement that he will not be a candidate for reelection so often that possibly he now begins to believe it himself.

The newspaper ad oftimes brings a merchant business weeks after it was inserted in the local paper. The Leader Editor received a recent order for poultry from a little ad published in a poultry paper more than a year ago. The ad had been cut out of the paper and held for future reference. It is hard to figure out the exact returns from judicious advertising, but its a big paying investment.

Oregon has ever-bearing apple trees, blackberry bushes and strawberries and grandmothers with red cheeks and bright eyes who are frequently mistaken for their daughters.—Manufacturer.

It is unlawful to hunt on any inclosed land without the owner's permission whether trespass notices are posted or not. Some Junction hunters found this out to their sorrow last week.

Many a man wants more vim in his home paper, when at the same time he is carrying a few dollar's worth of its vim in his pocket.

Thaw, Jerome, Sulzer and Murphy appear to be the most prominent citizens of New York.

Oregon is to have a log building to house its exhibits at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Backbone without horse-sense is a dangerous and undesirable qualification.

Orrin Robinson Dead.

Orrin Robinson, a well known pioneer citizen of this city died soon after noon today at his home in West Cottage Grove after a brief illness. He was aged nearly 70 years and for many years was engaged in logging in the lumber camps of this county before the ox-teams were put out of business by the donkey engines. He was familiarly known as "Red Shirt" Robinson from the fact that he always wore red flannel shirts and rarely winter or summer was seen wearing a coat or vest. He was a unique character and enjoyed the esteem of a very wide circle of acquaintances. A wife and son survive him. Funeral services will be conducted from the Mills chapel at 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

Improvements Progressing.

The steel stringers for the new 9th street bridge are being placed on the ground. Gravel and sand is being hauled for the piers for the new steel Main street bridge. The first story of the Cooper and Churchill brick is up. The brick work for the second story of the Masonic temple is about completed. The concrete basement is about completed for the new brick high school and some of the frame work is up. Several fine new bungalows are springing up in the new Cooper addition and also in the new Woodard addition. The street paving work is nearly all completed for the season.

Schools Showing Up Well.

The city school report for the month ending Oct. 3, shows a total attendance of 495, 249 boys and 246 girls. There are 75 boys and 90 girls over 14 years of age, which shows the upper grades to be strong. There is an enrollment of 109 in the high school which will be increased to at least 125 when prospective students enter, not all having returned from the hop field and orchards yet. Total days attendance 6932, neither absent or tardy 386, per cent attendance 97.7 plus.

About the only conclusion that can be drawn from the alphabetical air curves of the French aviator is that the letter "S" stands for so many different things.

Authorities at the University of Wisconsin have forbidden the queer dances, as have the better hotels in New York city. These are signs of returning sanity.

Efforts to suppress the African cannibalistic organization known as the "Leopard society" would probably be more successful if the spots were removed with an ax.

The discovery of dictophones in the Chicago city hall need not disturb the officials. Probably some one is just getting a record of the proceedings for vaudeville purposes.

Despite the partial failure of the corn crop there will be a national Thanksgiving this year as usual. Word comes from Cape Cod that the cranberry crop is O. K.

An English critic of American manners says that American men do not even know how to "sit up." That may be, but it must be admitted that we know how to take notice.

Only a half dozen women cab drivers are left in Paris, and six years ago there were twenty times as many. It looks as if Frenchwomen didn't take kindly to legalized brigandage.

The second bankruptcy of a well known and once popular night restaurant in the white light region testifies anew to the proverbial fickleness of New York's after theater appetite.

New York is boasting of having produced the biggest book in the world. No; it doesn't contain an alphabetical list of New York officeholders, with an itemized statement of the debt of the city.

Now that so many women make their own living instead of just asking for money whenever they want it it is no more than natural that the season's designs for women's dress should include pockets.

Want ad. In the Columbus (O.) Dispatch: "Respectable elderly lady wants a situation as grandmother to a good home." That ought to meet with an instant response. Think of the grandmotherless homes in this great and populous country!

Didn't Like California.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Miller, who sold their little farm home near this city last summer and went to California to reside, returned home last week, not very favorably impressed with California. They visited Corning, Napa, Petaluma and Santa Rosa and also Phoenix, Arizona, but did not find any opportunities for investment better than is afforded in Oregon. In fact, the weather was extremely hot and malaria prevails in most of the irrigated sections of California. Napa and Petaluma pleased Mr. and Mrs. Miller, but there acreage tracts run from $500 to $1000 per acre for desirable property. They say the only advantages in those locations are better markets. Before re-locating in Oregon, they will probably visit and look over the Newberg, Monmouth and Salem sections of the Willamette Valley. They said four car loads of returning Oregonians came in from California with them.

Mass Meeting Wednesday.

A mass meeting has been called for Wednesday evening at the Commercial Club parlors for the purpose of discussing the measures to be voted upon at the forth-coming special election, and to urge the women especially to register, so they may participate in the election. All are invited.

Co-operative Distribution.

Editor Leader:

Co-operation carried to its logical conclusion will eliminate all duplicated effort. It exemplifies efficiency in distribution as well as it does in production.

No one interested in the problem of the ever increasing cost of living can consistently deny the tendency of co-operation to distribute the products of the soil. Co-operative fruit growers' associations and dairy associations have made wonderful progress in the last few years. The local associations are gradually developing district associations and these may combine to cover larger fields. This phase of co-operation brings mutual economy to the producers.

The Rochdale co-operative idea is being carried forward by the consumers for the very same reason. Certain municipalities are establishing a system of trade between both producers and consumers. Municipal markets present to us another phase of co-operation in the problem of distribution.

We can view all this economic phenomena with complacency for such development will eventually evolve one system collectively owned and democratically managed, bringing about the cherished ideal of economy, which rests upon the highest efficiency possible to conceive.

The type of municipal market, which requires householders to go out after their supplies should be eliminated. The best plan for the solution of the food supply problem can be carried out by the state government.

A commission having for its chief official the state food commissioner should establish distributing centers in every town and city. At these points food should be received from the producers and cold storage facilities should be provided. Each center should be equipped with delivery trucks. Early in the morning these would deliver milk. The delivery of ice in the same trucks could follow the early morning delivery of milk. Later vegetables and mill produced foods of the most economical standardized sizes could be distributed. All duplication of delivery service to be eliminated.

A bill should be drafted incorporating this co-operative idea and passed by the use of the initiative and referendum law and have our state government reflect an advance spirit of co-operation. DON MCKINNON.
