J. D. QUILLEN, Editor and Manager

Entered as second-class matter January 25, 1913, at the post office at Cottage Grove, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Notice to the Public

All notices of entertainments where admission is charged or where there is a money consideration; all cards of thanks and resolutions of condolence will be charged for at the regular advertising rate—5 cents per line.

The editor of the Leader does not play pool or any kind of a card game, hence the closing of the Cottage Grove pool halls on Sunday causes him not the slightest personal inconvenience, but he would rather see his son playing pool on Sunday than resorting to any one of a dozen forms of amusement in back rooms, box cars and hay mows, that some who have heretofore frequented the pool halls on Sunday are like to resort to for pastime. Pool playing is an innocent, inoffensive amusement, and the fact that it has had to go as a Sunday relaxation reminds one very forcibly of the fact that we have been riding the hobby horse of Reform at a furious gallop for a long time now, loaded with isms he should never be called on to carry, and one of these days he will drop dead from exhaustion or stop suddenly for a long, and sorely needed rest. And while he is resting, the terrific reaction that will ensue will send the country to the devil on a toboggan. The pendulum always has swung and always will swing just as far to the left as goes to the right, and in its reform movements the world seems to yet need to learn that the safest, most defensible position is one between the two extremes of vice on the one end and fanaticism on the other.

The new treaty proposed between the United States and Colombia will grant that country free use of the Panama canal for the passage of their war ships, troop ships and army and navy supply vessels. Will Great Britain stand for anything like that?

Catalogue House Scores Again

The following experience of a newly married couple not many miles from Cottage Grove is related by a friend:

A few weeks before the wedding the young people began considering the purchase of their household equipment, and this is what was overheard by the friend:

Mary—"Well, here are the beds, chairs, table and range all pictured out in this catalogue, and they look awfully nice, and I think the price is reasonable."

John—"Yes, honey, but I think we ought to buy our stuff at home."

Mary—"Home, nothing, the store here doesn't have anything of that kind, and you know it."

John—"I didn't mean at our country store, dear, but at Cottage Grove, which is really our home town, you know."

Mary—"Now, look here, John, if you think I'm going tramping down to Cottage Grove buying house furnishings before we are married and have every smarty 'butting in,' you are mistaken. Besides, how do you know they have what we want?"

John—"Can't you look at the papers and see?"

Mary—"Well, here's last week's Cottage Grove papers, all of them—and if you'll find a word in them about beds, or chairs or tables or stoves, I'll eat the whole bunch!"

John—"Well, they must have such things."

Mary—"Maybe they have, but dad has taken the papers for a long time, and I don't remember ever seeing those things mentioned, and I know they have never been pictured out so nice and cosy looking as they are here in this catalogue."

John—"Well, precious, let's wait a few days. I will be going to Cottage Grove next week, and I'll look around."

Mary—"Yes, and a whole lot I'll know about it, after you have looked around. No, sir, if the Cottage Grove store keepers don't want to sell us their old stuff bad enough to put it in the papers, why I won't go gallivanting away down there to ask them about it, and you shan't go, so there. Now we can sit down here by the fire just as cosy as can be, and pick out what we want in this catalogue and send for it, and it will be here all right by the time we are married."

And Mary had her way and the catalogue house got the order for house furnishings just because Mary found the things she wanted nicely pictured and glowingly described in the catalogue, while the local dealer had forgotten to do it.

FOR THE EYE OF THE BUYER

In former issues of the Leader under the present management a number of items have been addressed to the business men of the city. Now the Leader is going to talk to the patrons of these business men.

Dear Reader—You feel friendly toward the Leader, otherwise you would not subscribe for and read it. And you are no doubt aware that, in order to succeed a newspaper must sell one-half its column space to advertisers, whom people frequently call the "supporters of the paper."

You, Dear Reader, the buyer of merchandise, are the real supporters of the home paper, and when you buy of a non advertising merchant you are paying for something you do not get—support for your home paper. And you'll pay, probably, a little more and maybe get a little less value than if you traded with the up-to-date merchant who does business on the basis of "Quick Sales and Small Profits."

If you feel as kindly toward the Leader as I believe you do, and if you are as anxious to see it succeed as I think you are, you can, with very little trouble to yourself, give a great boost to the paper—by asking for goods you have seen advertised in the Leader.

Let the merchant know that his advertisement in this paper is seen and read by buyers, and if he has no ad in the paper, find out why he hasn't.

Two or three people have remarked to the Leader manager that, "The people of Cottage Grove will not appreciate a Twice-a-Week paper." Which is equivalent to saying that the people of this community are not progressive and do not care to see the town advance or her institutions take higher rank. The Leader is not ready to take this view of the situation.

If you don't like the Leader, come in and tell us how we can make it more to your liking.

Two hundred foreign money orders, most of them going to Italy and Greece, were written at the Albany postoffice in the 12 months ending April 3. Moral—Employ American citizens.

Awaken to Enormity Of Crimes Of the House Fly

IF ten terrible monsters came every spring to this country and all summer long devoured the people, chewing babies as we eat blackberries biting off the heads of young men, going the aged to death and stalking about among us as a lion among the martyrs of the Coliseum, we should be up and doing, militia would march forth to give them battle, colonels would wave swords, guns would blanch and no enthusiasm would be lacking. But when the monster is small and playful and common we let him ravage. He doesn't somehow appeal to our imagination.

Yet he does more harm, being 10,000,000,000 or so, than any ten minotaurs, polyphemuses or dragons that ever posed in the pages of tradition. He is the common house fly. Although much has been said about him and his deadliness, the people are not yet alive to the enormity of his crimes. There are thousands of kitchens where flies still swarm and infect the food, thousands of babies over whose faces and upon whose lips flies spread their poison, thousands of restaurants and lunch counters where flies are busy at the work of thinning out the human race.

FLY WISDOM.

F LIES FOLLOWS ILLTH F EVER FOLLOWS LIES

HERE are some fly proverbs that read like the wise bits in Ben Franklin's "Poor Richard's Almanac":

It is better to screen the cradle and wear a smile than scuff at the precaution and wear mourning.

Flies in the dining room usually precede nurses in the sickroom.

Screens in the windows prevent rape on the door.

Flies as well as bad water spread typhoid.

A fly in the milk may mean a member of a family in the grave.

A fly has natural enemies. The most persistent and most effective should be man.

It costs less to buy a screen door than to get sick and lay off for a month.

It's a short haul from the garbage can to the dining table via the fly route.

If at first you don't succeed, swat, swat, swat again.

Prevent the Fly—NOW.

PREVENT the fly and you won't have to swat him later. The time to fight him is before he becomes a fly. It is a problem of the elimination of filth where flies play, eat and breed. Do away with the breeding places and there will be no flies. Especial attention should be paid to stable and kitchen wastes. Clean up thoroughly around the stables and under the stable floors with the liberal use of chloride of lime.

Flies Greatest Germ Carriers.

The mosquito implants the germ of malaria, and flies carry the germs of tuberculosis as well as other diseases, such as typhoid and diphtheria. Don't wait until the warm weather to kill the fly. Swat him now before the holdovers begin to propagate.

Solitary Fly In April May Cause An Epidemic

SWAT the fly now!

The torpid, lazy moving insects are beginning to emerge from their winter quarters. They are to be the progenitors of trillions of epidemic makers. The menace which annually faces mankind through the activity of these distributors of germs and disease may be reduced, but only through the striking of a telling blow at the insects before they have had a chance to develop.

The wonderful reproductive capacity of this breeder of pestilence is the reason advanced why householders should begin an immediate fly swatting campaign. A solitary fly in April may seem a harmless thing, but if left undisturbed it may cause an entire community to be gripped by pestilence.

Health experts are beginning to realize that if flies are to be destroyed they must be attacked when they are least able to combat their natural enemies, and this is in the early spring, when food is scarce.

The close relation of cleanup campaigns to the fly exterminating propaganda has begun to be appreciated, and for this reason many municipalities already have commenced or are preparing for sanitary crusades. It has been demonstrated that the more filth that is removed from a city the greater difficulty is placed in the way of the development of the insect disease spreaders.

Chance For Mighty Swat.

IT takes countless numbers of swats to make even the least impression on the billions of flies that infest the country. There's a better way. One can annihilate trillions of flies with one swat if one goes at it right. If there is a female fly enjoying the spring in your kitchen or attic or basement she is due to hatch out six or more hatches of eggs, over 100 eggs at a time, if she lives, and all of her youngsters are the most prolific creatures on the map. A fly expert has figured it out that from a single female fly trillions of the dreaded typhoid flies may claim descent in one season, provided, of course, that all the young flies grow up.

By swatting Mrs. Fly now you save yourself the trouble of killing her descendants this summer.

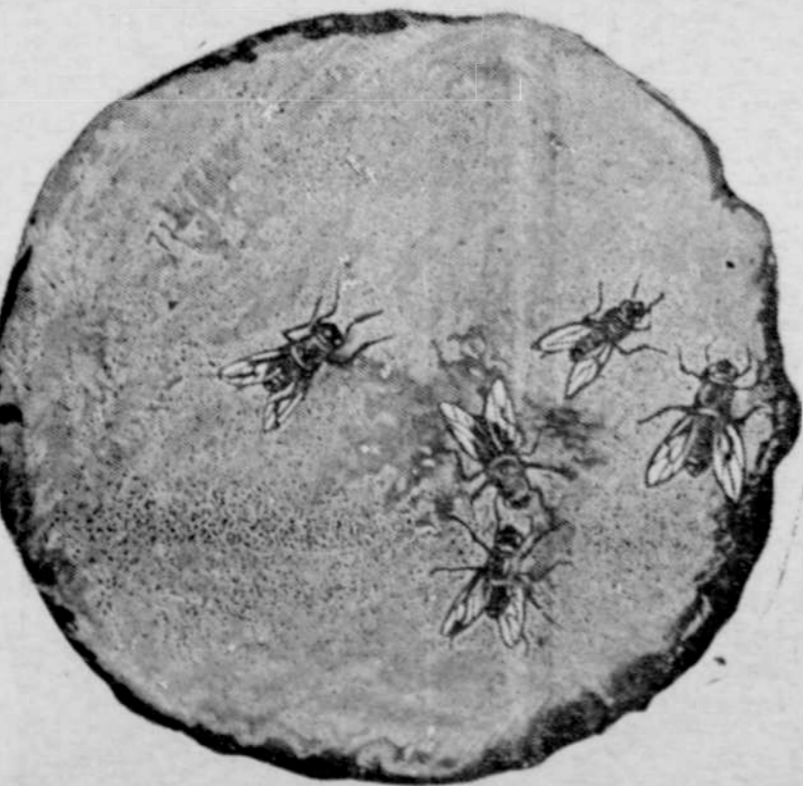

SIMPLEST WAY TO KILL FLY.

THE London Lancet, the leading medical journal of the world, says that the best and simplest fly killer is a weak solution of formaldehyde in water (two teaspoonfuls to the pint). Place in plates or saucers throughout the house. Ten cents' worth of this liquid will last an ordinary family all summer. It has no offensive odor, is fatal to disease organisms and is practically nonpoisonous except to insects.

House Fly Engine of destruction.

THE house fly costs the United States $200,000,000 a year. In other words, he deprives the American people annually of 170,000,000 years of human life, or 4,000,000 lives of the present average length.
