Grangers Hold Interesting Meet

The Grange meeting held in Cottage Grove last Saturday was a very interesting session, and was well attended.

Many matters of interest to the organization were taken up and discussed, and when noon time came a splendid dinner was served in the banquet room of the hall.

The lecturer's hour, just following the dinner, was taken up by Karl K. Mills, who, armed with one of his splendid Edison machines and a box of selected records, treated the assembly to some of the choicest music, recitations and speeches.

Afterward the Grange again went into secret session.

It is an absolutely straight business proposition and every patron gets value received for every dollar spent. The premiums to be given away are educational, and such that the citizens of Lane county can derive pleasure and benefit from supporting their favorite candidates. This is to be a contest in which every worker receives something for her services. There are no failures, no disappointments, no heart-aches at the end, for every contestant will earn wages by her efforts to win a FREE trip to San Francisco next year.

The Business College Scholarships offered are tuitions to some of the best colleges in Oregon, and will reflect great credit upon the young ladies who win them. The Certificate of Tuition will be transferable in the event a successful candidate does not wish to use it.

The rules of the Contest are simple and easily understood. Every dollars worth of business brought to the Leader office pays a commission to the bringer, and one dollar's worth of advertising space, or job printing, secures the same number of votes as one dollar for subscription. Each dollar is good for One Thousand Votes.

The contestants retains 25c cash on yearly subscriptions and receives 16 per cent on all advertising contracts and job printing orders brought to the Leader office. Contestants also have the privilege of getting advertising contracts for several months or a year, to be paid for monthly as used, and will receive commission when the money is paid to this office.

Candidates must be nominated. A nomination blank will be found on the first page, and when properly filled out and given or mailed to Contest Manager the person nominated becomes a contestant, and every nomination carries with it a complimentary vote of 25,000. After being nominated, candidates will be given advertising rate cards and contract blanks, job printing price list and receipt books.
