Society Notes

Mrs. N. E. Compton gave a charming dinner party to a number of friends on Friday evening of last week.

Mrs. Alfred Powell and Mrs. Joe Porter gave a delightful affair at the Powell home Tuesday afternoon to which about sixty of their friends were invited. The porch and all the rooms were gaily decorated with great clusters of poppies. Sewing and chatting were the principal amusements, and the hostesses served daintily, assisted by Mrs. Roy Short and Miss Jessie Smith.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church gave an apron shower, and spent a pleasant social afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Mary Smith, Wednesday. The "shower" was the feature of the afternoon and was cleverly burlesqued by the officers, assisted by Mrs. Geo. McQueen and Miss Jessie Smith. Delicious refreshments were served. The Society will enjoy a vacation for the months of July and August, the next meeting being in September.

The Social Twelve Club was pleasantly entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Geo. Hall. Fancywork and social chat made the time pass quickly, the usual good cheer prevailing. Additional guests were, Mrs. Geo. Kerr, Mrs. Wm. Hall, Mrs. John Bader, Mrs. E. Nixon, Mrs. E. J. Kent, Mrs. Lindamood, Mrs. Lee Nixon, Mrs. A. C. Kinter, Mrs. Ray Nixon, Mrs. C. J. Kem, Mrs. H. N. Aldrich and Miss Esther Silsby. The dainty refreshments were served by the Misses Blanche Lizer and Hildred Hall.

A Pretty Even Race

The last count of votes in the Leader's Contest, before the final reckoning has been made and the result is given in this paper. There are four contestants, any one of which is within an hour's work of winning or losing a prize. Nothing will be known of how the race is going until the evening of June 30. It is anybody's race now to the finish. If you have been holding off to help your favorite until the last lap, get in now and help her win.

Rain Catches in Bermuda.

Notable among the landscape features of Bermuda is the "rain catch." There is no other good water. All the water gained from wells is brackish. So the people either use their whitewashed roofs as a means to catch rain water or they build a big open "catch" on the hillside, with a covered cistern at its foot, into which the rain thus collected runs and is stored. The soil is scraped away from a large surface of the white coral rock that underlies all the island. This surface is cemented and whitewashed, and a low wall built on three sides with the reservoir or tank at the bottom.

Such Is Fame.

It is said that Mhearnl Misl, a wealthy Asiatic woman, discovered the art of making the perfume known as attar of roses and also invented the beautiful workmanship exhibited in the weaving of the celebrated cashmere shawls. Nothing whatever is known about her death.

Pretty Light.

"I'll have to ask you to pay in advance," remarked the hotel keeper. "Isn't my luggage good enough security?" "I fear it is a little too emotional." "Emotional?" "Yes; easily moved."—London Mail.

Result of Rashness.

"Out of a job, are you?" asked the first girl. "Boss catch you flirting?" "No; I caught the boss. Say, what sort of a wedding dress do you think is real swell?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Souvenir Spoons.

"My dear Gladys, what are all these photographs of young men you have?" "Those? Oh, they're only my collection of souvenir spoons!"—Baltimore American.

A newspaper has to tell each week, to the thousands of people who scan its columns, a story of prosperity or neglect. Whether it would or no, it carries this announcement to people in every state and many foreign countries. And every intelligent person, everywhere, knows, the moment he glances at a newspaper, whether the business men of the town where it is published are progressive and up-to-date. For this very reason, a community can better afford to starve any other of its institutions than its newspapers. Other enterprises permitted to die of neglect and lack of patronage never breath the story beyond the city gates, nor to any but its own people.

In California tremors of the earth (we would call them earthquakes) are very frequent—some seasons of almost daily occurrence. And yet the California papers never mention them, because, to Californians such happenings are not news, and the newspaper men know it would be disastrous to their state to tell the facts to outsiders. Every newspaper man, everywhere, passes over hundreds of happenings, in the course of his work, because it is better for his community that nothing be said. But type two inches high could not tell so loudly or eloquently the story of business activity and enterprise—or the opposite condition—that the intelligent man or woman reads in the general appearance of the newspapers of a community.
