Queer Publication.
Some years ago the following apologetic explanation for a compositor's blunder appeared in a leading weekly literary journal published in London: "In our last number, as we discovered unfortunately too late for correction, we announced that Mr. John Stuart Mill's inaugural address lately delivered before the University of St. Andrews had since been published by him in the form of a five shilling elephant. Even the most ardent believers in Mr. Mill's powers among our readers will probably have received this announcement with some incredulity. The fact is that by an error of the press the word 'elephant' was substituted for 'pamphlet,' and the mistake, although the proof was read and reread, unluckily escaped the corrector's eye."

Taking Advice.

"Take a tonic and dismiss from your mind all that tends to worry you," said a physician to a man who was suffering from nervous troubles. Several months afterward the patient received a bill from the physician for three guineas and a note asking him to remit. He answered it thus: "Dear Doctor—I have taken a tonic and your advice. Your bill tends to worry me, so I have dismissed it from my mind."—London Express.

LOCAL NOTES

Born, Monday, June 29, to Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Adams, a daughter.

Fred Lizer left Sunday for Seaside, where he has employment for the summer.

Machine oils; Swengel Hardware.

Horse to trade for wood. Call on W. H. Harrison, West Main Street. 6-24-3t.

Miss Ethel Damewood has been visiting at the John Barker home this week.

Some one has been mowing out the sidewalks on the east side, and it helps matters considerably.

Chas. Cochran and family, of Eugene, visited in Cottage Grove Sunday with Mr. Cochran's mother.

C. G. Wilshire, of Corvallis, is visiting his brother, Fred Wilshire, three miles south of Cottage Grove.

Grant Sweet, of Walker, brought to this office Saturday the champion big egg, the product of his poultry yard.

Thos. Gill came down from Roseburg to look after his property interests here and visit with his many old friends Monday.

I. Pugh, of Crabtree, Linn county, a former resident of this section, was in town the first of the week looking after business matters.

Frank Phillips traded a residence property on the west side of the river this week to Mr. Land, of Row River, for a team of horses.

Mrs. Everett Goff left Monday for her home at Raymond, Washington, after more than a month's visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Crandall.

Mrs. Alice Hemlow, of Portland, returned home Monday, after a two days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Willard, and other relatives here.

It is reported that a party of twelve went out a few days ago and brought home 36 gallons of wild blackberries. Pretty plentiful picking, we should say, of the luscious wild berry.

Mrs. Fingal Hinds and daughter Eleanor left the latter part of last week to spend a few days in Eugene before going to their new home at Potlatch. They shipped their goods last week.

Best cherry pitter made is sold for 75c at the Swengel Hardware store.

Thos. Lee, having traded a part of his Cottage Grove property for a few acres of land at Bandon, left for that country the first of the week, with the intention of making his home there.

W. P. Lockwood and wife, of Seattle, visited over Sunday with friends and relatives in Cottage Grove. He is a brother of E. C. Lockwood of the real estate firm of Hemenway & Lockwood.

W. B. Cooper is putting the material for the completion of his big hotel building on the corner of Main and Seventh streets, inside the building, and will complete the work in the next few months.

Rev. Townsend a prominent Presbyterian minister of Portland delivered the morning sermon at the Presbyterian church in this city Sunday. He was pastor of the Presbyterian church in Roseburg for many years.

Nate Compton has a mate for the spotted horse that has been so much admired by everybody in this vicinity, and now he is more envied by every lover of horseflesh than the owner of the swiftest automobile in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jost have removed from Portland to Roseburg, Mr. Jost, with the S. P., now having a run out of the latter place. Mrs. Jost visited briefly the last of the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Willard, enroute to her new home.

John Graber returned the last of the week from Bohemia, bringing with him a beautiful little fawn, whose mother had been killed by a cougar. Graber and another man discovered the cougar in the act of devouring the carcass of the deer, and drove it away with stones. Later they found the fawn in a starving condition, and Mr. Graber is now trying to teach the little fellow how to take artificial nourishment.

Mrs. Martha Glennie Passes Over

Mrs. Martha Glennie died Sunday, June 28, at the home of her grandson, Robert McDonell, south of Cottage Grove, and was buried Tuesday in the Masonic cemetery.

The funeral was held at the chapel, the sermon being preached by Rev. H. N. Aldrich, of the Methodist church. The local Womans Foreign Missionary Society attended in a body, and many handsome floral pieces were contributed by that society and the Epworth League.

Mrs. Glennie was born Dec 31, 1830. She became associated with the Methodist church early in life, and for several years was a missionary to the Pontiac, Flint and Petosky Indians in Michigan. Later she went as a missionary to India, coming to the Pacific Coast thirty years ago, and since then has been actively engaged in missionary work among the Indian tribes of Oregon and Washington.

She leaves two brothers, one in Wisconsin and one in Michigan, two grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our sincere thanks to our neighbors and many kind friends for their valued courtesies and kindnesses extended to us during the late illness and funeral of our beloved grandmother, Mrs. Martha A. Glennie. MR. AND MRS. ROBT. McDONELL.

A 4 1-2 or 5 foot mowing machine is sold by the Swengel Hardware Co. for $54.

Thanks His Patrons.

Having sold the Peoples Meat Market to the Culver Brothers, I desire to thank all my former patrons for the business they have brought me, and bespeak for the new proprietors of the market a continuation of your patronage and confidence. They are worthy of it.

All my accounts are in the hands of Brainard & Harrison, Oregon Hotel Bldg., for collection.

Yours truly,
DAVID GOVER.

Colonel Lochwitzky

This week Thursday evening, Lieutenant Colonel Lochwitzky will address a union meeting of all the churches of the city, in the Methodist church, at eight o'clock. No admission, but a free will offering will be taken.

London will celebrate the Fourth. Arrangements are being made for a big celebration. The committees which were appointed some time ago are planning to make the day as interesting as possible for all. All are cordially invited to attend.

Miss Lucille Branstetter of Eugene, who has been visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Barker, returned to her home today. She was accompanied by Miss Ethel Damewood.

Binder twine at Wynne & Woods.

All Going to Lorane

Cottage Grove business houses will close on Saturday, July 1, and a great many of the people will go to Lorane for the day.

Not to Be Denied.

Crawford—What does a bachelor know about women, anyhow? Crabshaw—Well, he evidently knew enough about them never to marry one of them.—New York Times.

Everything Lacking.

Personally we have met some men who if weighed in the balance would be found wanting everything, including the balance.—Galveston News.

Privileges of London.

London still retains its picturesque ancient rights and privileges, and as an instance it may be mentioned that whenever the ruling monarch pays a formal or state visit to the city it is customary for the lord mayor and sheriffs to meet the sovereign at the boundary of the ancient city, where he will enter. A sword is extended to the king implying that permission to enter is given, who touches it and returns it to the mayor. By ancient right, upon the decease of the sovereign and until the proclamation of the new monarch, the lord mayor is nominal head of the state, with full authority and power.

Waiting For Emmeline.

From Belshazzar court to the theater district is only a thirty minutes' ride in the subway, but usually we reach the theater a few minutes after the rise of the curtain. Why this should be I have never been able to explain. It is a fact that on such nights we have dinner half an hour early, and Emmeline comes to the table quite ready to go out, except that she has her cloak to slip on. Nevertheless we are a few minutes late. While Emmeline is slipping on her cloak I glance through the editorial page in the evening paper, answer the telephone and recall several bits of work I overlooked at the office. I then give Harold a drink of water in bed, help Emmeline with her hat, clean out the drawers in my writing table, tell Harold to stop talking to himself and go to sleep and hunt for the theater tickets in the pockets of my street clothes. After that I have time to read a page or two of — and go in to see that Harold is well covered up. Emmeline always makes me save time by having me ring for the elevator while she is drawing on her gloves. Nevertheless we are a few minutes late for the first act.—Simeon Strunsky in Atlantic.

Sleep.

The science and poetry of sleep are here.

Science has this in the London Globe: Sleep begins in its first phase by a state of distraction. * * * Immediately afterward, in a second phase, these states of distraction pass into a very delicate motor disturbance, due to the absence of parallelism in the axes of the eyes or by the deviation of their conjugate movements.

And poetry this: Sleep hath its own world, A boundary between the things misnamed Death and existence. Sleep hath its own world.

And dreams in their development have breath And tears and tortures and the touch of joy.

And Shakespeare's "Sleep that knits up the ravel'd sleeve of care." And a host of others that you can get glimpses of in the anthologies.

As between science and poetry, which gives you the truer idea of sleep?—Kansas City Star.

Reis and the Telephone.

While Bell invented the telephone and Edison, Berliner, Marconi and many others have improved it, the true inventor and discoverer of the principles of telephony was a German scientist to whom too little credit has been given—Philip Reis. In 1861 Reis exhibited a partially articulate electric telegraph at Frankfurt and showed that variations in an electric current caused by a vibrating membrane could reproduce the necessary vibrations. Reis transmitted musical sounds and even words. Elisha Gray, whose application for a patent on the telephone was filed in Washington only a few hours after Professor Bell's application, improved Reis' telephone, but it is said that neither Reis nor Gray reaped any financial reward from their inventions.—New York World.
