Society Notes

Mrs. Jos. Porter and Mrs. T. C. Wheeler will entertain the Constellation club at the Masonic Temple Thursday afternoon.

Plans have been made for a Hallowe'en social at the Masonic Temple, after the regular meeting of the O. E. S. on Friday evening.

Mrs. Ernest Armes entertained the Emanon club at her home last Thursday afternoon. The hours were spent in the usual way and refreshments were served.

Mrs. Delure Hemenway entertained Monday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. Jack Grant. Excellent refreshments were served and Mrs. Grant was presented with a pretty silver butter knife by the hostess.

The "Social Twelve" club was charmingly entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ben Lurch. Eleven members were present and the additional guests were Mesdames John Bader, Will Hall, T. M. Hunt, H. H. Veatch and Mabel Merryman. The hostess served a dainty two course luncheon, which was enjoyed by all.

The annual Experience social, given by the Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church, at the residence of the president, Mrs. B. R. Job, last Wednesday afternoon, was a very pleasant and profitable affair, about seventy-five dollars being realized. Large clusters of scarlet selvia, red and yellow dahlians and sprays of Virginia creeper decorated the spacious rooms very effectively. Some of the "experiences" related by the ladies as to the various ways of earning money were unique and provided the principal amusement for the afternoon. Dainty refreshments were served by the officers in cafeteria style. About 45 ladies enjoyed the occasion.

MARRIED.

At the Methodist Episcopal parsonage, Wednesday morning, October 21st 1914, Rev. H. N. Aldrich united in marriage James E. Plank and Miss Lula D. Neal both of Walker. They will settle immediately in their home on the Wright place near Walker.

Jas. Ozment, jr. of the lower Siuslaw, was a guest of Cottage Grove friends last Saturday.

Damage Suit Trial Begins.

A $35,000 damage suit which may last several days in the circuit court was commenced Tuesday in the case of Luthur B. Hudson, against the Brown Lumber company, of Cottage Grove. The alleged accident is said to have occurred almost two years and a half ago. The plaintiff claims that he was permanently crippled by the accident which is said to have injured his spine and caused a nervous disease. He was struck by a piece of timber while working in the mill. The lumber company contends that the permanent injuries were caused by other things, and that the man went to work in the mill again after the accident. Senn Eqwall & Hardy of Eugene and John Medley of Cottage Grove are defending the lumber company; W. W. Cardwell and Albert Abraham, of Roseburg, are attorneys for the plaintiff.—Guard.
