Outside of the church Mr. MacLeod is generally admired and respected by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. They were charmed with Cottage Grove and its surroundings and those of our business men who met Mr. Fritz were very favorably impressed. He is one of the leading business men in his home town and understands the grocery and provision lines of trade from a to z. They came west to view the California expositions via the Union Pacific and are returning home by way of Portland and Seattle and the Great Northern. They have been friends of the Tyrrells for a number of years and their visit was a very enjoyable one to both families. The only regret was that they could not stay longer. The gentleman is a great lover of flowers and became enthusiastic over the specimens he saw growing in Cottage Grove gardens. He left town with a big red rose in the buttonhole of his coat and a whole constellation of Shasta daisies beaming from his eyes. It is our opinion that if Mrs. Fritz doesn't hold a firm rein over him she will not be able to drive him home from the coast.
TOO MANY FRILLS LAID TO SCHOOLS.
Every-Day Occupational Education Declared Needed.
San Francisco, Aug. 4.—There are too many frills in the public schools and not enough instruction along practical lines, according to Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania, whose paper on "Race Betterment" was part of the program today at the opening session of the National Conference on Race Betterment.
"The curriculum now used by our educators," Dr. Dixon said, "demands radical alteration. We are teaching too much theory and not enough of the practical, everyday occupations."
Dr. Dixon also discussed eugenics from the standpoint of sentiment.
"We cannot afford," he declared, "to discourage sentiment in selection for marriage."
School Money Received.
County Treasurer S. W. Taylor has received from State Treasurer Thomas B. Kay at Salem, Lane County's apportionment of the state school fund, which amounts this year to $21,077. For each pupil in the county the sum of $1.75 is received, the money coming from the interest on funds loaned by the state. Last year the apportionment was $1.85 per pupil throughout the state.—Eugene Guard.
Kills Two Bears.
The other day Fire Warden Teats, who is stationed above Black Rock, while following a trail, discovered three bears, mother and two cubs. When pursued the mother bear mounted a high stump, while one of the offspring shot up a tree and the other made for the brush. Mr. Teats shot those taking refuge within plain view.—Dallas Observer.

Last Sunday Rev. Gardner held a family reunion at the home of Mrs. Orin Robinson. The program consisted of a prayer by Rev. Gardner, followed by remarks by Mrs. Gardner. The guests joined in the old familiar hymn, "Nearer my God to Thee." Mrs. Ansel Woods gave an interesting talk about former reunions they had had in the family, and Mrs. Orin Robinson gave two readings, after which the guests were charmingly entertained by vocal and instrumental music on the piano by Mrs. Wm. Gardner, who is an expert pianist. Rev. Gardner rehearsed his life from birth up to the present time, an interesting career of 70 years. He was born in England, coming here in such an early day. Mrs. Robinson served refreshments of cream cookies and berry punch. Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Gardner, Wm. Gardner, wife and little son, Mrs. Saleman, Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Woods and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps, Miss Morgan and Mrs. Robinson. Mr. Gardner kept the stars and stripes floating over his home as he is in the habit of doing on any special day.
Miss Lura Hefty was a charming hostess to the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Methodist Church at the home of her mother Wednesday afternoon. A feature was the splendid exhibit Miss Hefty had on display of curios from the Orient which she brought over recently on her return from China. Refreshments were served.
Mrs. C. A. Perkins and daughter, Miss Leah, entertained Saturday evening with a dinner party for Mrs. Helen Silsby, Miss Esther Silsby, Mrs. Clara Burkholder, Miss Belle Burkholder and Mrs. Stouffer. Miss Leah Perkins and Miss Myrtle Kem did the serving.
Members of the "Double D" Picnic Club surprised Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Smith Friday evening at 6:30 by taking their dinner with them, bringing it all prepared. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Mills, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kinter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Short, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Helliwell.
The regular meeting of the Rebekah Social Club was held on Friday afternoon of last week at the spacious country home of Mrs. Lee Nixon. About twenty members were present. Mesdames Tyrrell, Widdersheim and E. Nixon were guests at the meeting. The afternoon was spent in social conversation and in doing fancy work. At a short business meeting it was determined to consolidate the Social Club and the Kensington Club, and officers were elected as follows for the consolidated club, which is to be known as the Kensington Club: Mrs. Kittie Kime, president; Mrs. Lena Hamlo, vice-president; Mrs. Emeline Wilson, secretary and treasurer. A delicious two-course luncheon followed, consisting of peaches and cream and cake and coffee. Mesdames Lee Nixon, N. E. Compton, D. Sterling and A. Thompson were hostesses for the occasion.
Can It Produce Results?
Everybody will watch with interest the results of the hearings before the government's latest experiment, the Industrial Trades Commission, which will hold forth in the northwest the next two weeks.
It is announced that the commission will try and ascertain "what is the matter with commerce" between the United States and foreign ports and between trade centers of our own country.
It is really laughable to watch one of these high brow commissions sit in solemn conclave to discuss "what is the matter with commerce" when any smart school boy who has read the daily papers could show them in ten minutes how the same politicians who created this latest commission have created dozens of others like it which have so burdened industry with useless regulations that there is practically no commerce left to regulate.
So far all the commission has done has been to tell the manufacturers, lumbermen and fruit growers what they "could not do" and they held up the development of foreign business at every turn. They have not advanced a single idea that would get a dollar's worth of business or maintain a single payroll.
They are supposed to "aid the manufacturer and producer in securing markets."
Watch them and see if they add enough business to the Northwest to pay the taxpayers for the expenses of their trip out here.—Ex.
Special Big Production Coming to Arcade
Complying to many requests, Manager Blackford of The Arcade is arranging for some of the biggest productions ever shown in Cottage Grove and this should meet with the approval of all the lovers of the silent drama. The first one will be "The Stain," to be shown Tuesday, Aug. 10.
So far the people here have shown they appreciate quality in photo plays as this play house has been steadily gaining in popularity since Mr. Blackford has taken up the management of it. Besides furnishing first class pictures Mr. Blackford has improved the lighting system so as to show the pictures better and has installed a new forrestat and the latest make of lens to make the pictures clear and steady and eliminate the flicker which makes it much easier on the eyes. The work of Mr. and Mrs. Blackford in the orchestra pit has called forth many expressions of praise. The screen has been enlarged and repainted so as to give a more life-size picture and this fact alone lessens the strain on the eyes more than one would imagine.

27 KNOWN DEAD IN ERIE FLOOD
As Many More Believed Hidden in Wreckage Piled 100 Feet High.
Erie, Pa., Aug. 4.—Erie had listed 27 dead tonight in the mile-long wreckage strewn path through the heart of the city, swept by last night's flood. But little impression was made on the vast amount of wreckage piled in places one hundred feet high and believed by the coroner and others to conceal as many more victims. The work of recovery will be slow. It may take a week to turn over the debris.
The early estimate of property loss placed at $3,000,000, was not changed today by Fire Chief McMahon after he had received reports from big manufacturing plants in the flood zone. He said that 300 houses and fifty store buildings were demolished by the waters of Mill Creek, sent out of its banks by a cloudburst, and the bursting of the Glenwood dam. The city's loss on damaged culverts, bridges and the water supply will be heavy.
Tonight there was a semblance of normal conditions in the city, which last night was in the grasp of the most destructive rainstorm in the memory of the oldest inhabitants.
The Lake Shore railway was able at noon to resume its through passenger service between New York and Chicago, thirty-five trains stalled on the outskirts of this city since early last night getting away. Light and power plants resumed operations, but telephone and telegraph communication with the outside world was still subject to much delay.
Three morgues in widely separated sections of the flood zone were besieged by thousands throughout the day. Men, women and children watched the searchers and when they saw a body uncovered would rush to the morgue to which it was taken to learn if it was that of a missing one. Then all but a few would return to their vigil at the ravine.
This city went into mourning when it awoke to a full realization of the extent of the disaster. All the department stores and business houses on State Street were closed and the people opened their hearts and purses to the flood sufferers. Relief funds were started, charitable societies sent food and the city authorities opened houses for those who had lost their own.
Mayor Stern issued a proclamation calling upon the people to show their generosity in what he described as the worst disaster in the city's history.
