Like a mirror, always reflects. When you feel the need of anything in the line of medicines, reflect and give us the benefit of the reflection.

We have in stock everything that a first class drug store ought to have, and we couldn't make our prices any lower for first class goods, and we will not keep any other kind.

We are "down to date" in our prescription department. Our drugs are pure and fresh, absolutely. Your doctor won't be disappointed in results if his prescriptions are filled at

The Eugene Register says: Saturday night the Eugene Epworth Leagues leave for Cottage Grove where they will join in the rally with Cottage Grove and Creswell Leagues on Sunday evening. This will be the fifth rally the Eugene League has held this summer and it is also the last one planned and is to be a crowning one of the summer.

Pleasant Reception.

A reception was given at the home of Rev. I. M. Boyles on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Lottie Beach of Woodburn. The rooms were elegantly decorated for the occasion with evergreens, illuminated with ornamental candles. An enjoyable evening was passed in games of a very interesting and instructive character. At 10 p. m. refreshments were served and there was found on the porch a number of watermelons which proved to have been deposited by some of the generous-hearted guests, a watermelon feast being next on program. The happy crowd dispersed about 12 o'clock after expressing themselves as having had a pleasant time. Those present were Misses Lottie Beach, Lula Curran, Ermine Veatch, Neva Perkins, Emma Miller, Lucy Newland, Ethel Little, Dessie Harms, Miram Piper, Maggie and Bessie Gray, Anna and Lottie Morss, Messrs. Gray, Bert Willard, Clarence Morss, Horace Harms, Elvis Gowdy, Wm. Gowdy, Albert Veatch, Orval Taylor, Rev. and Mrs. I. M. Boyles, Marguerite and Bessie and Master Forrest.

Winslow Barrett of Linn county, Iowa, stopped off at this place Sunday, while touring the state, to visit his cousin, J. K. Barrett, of this city. Mr. Barrett is a veteran of the civil war and has been in attendance at the grand encampment of the G. A. R. at San Francisco. This is his first trip to the far west and he is delighted with our lofty evergreen mountains and fertile valleys.

Last Friday afternoon Ira Conner and son, Ed, finished threshing their big grain crop, the yield having been the largest in years. They will have the bulk of the oat yield in this part of the Willamette. Particularly fortunate were they in harvesting their big crop, heavy rains having set in about six hours after they finished up, and have been continuing since at intervals. This insures fine fall and winter pasture, but is hard on many farmers who have not yet threshed.

Peter Mutter and family, who built up a cozy farm home on the low hills back of the Edgar King place just north of town, took their departure for Canada Saturday, where they expect to reside permanently. They shipped a carload of household goods from Creswell, the car costing them $225 freight to its destination. Mr. Mutter sold his little farm to E. C. Jackson of Eugene, and her three brothers who live in this part of the county. It is Mrs. Shaw's first visit to Cottage Grove in thirteen years, and she notes with much pleasure the rapid growth of the city and the growing industries which contribute so largely to the progress and development of both town and country.

Fred Lough and Thomas and Chas. Hatfield of Roseburg are in this vicinity canvassing for a farmers' business record book, which enables the farmer to keep a simple and accurate itemized account of the receipts and expended account of the farm. The record book is accompanied by a coupon book which enables the farmer a rebate on all purchases made at the stores of merchants whose ads appear in the coupon book. It is a simple and practical method and costs the farmer but $3.75, which he practically gets back in his coupon discounts at the stores of the local merchants. These gentlemen are old friends of the LEADER editor and are strictly reliable and trustworthy.

Operation for Appendicitis.

While at Eugene Friday inspecting an x-ray apparatus which he contemplates installing in his office soon, Dr. Geo. Wall of Cottage Grove was called by phone to Lynx Hollow to see Grace, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter, who was suffering from appendicitis. Dr. Wall was accompanied by Dr. Scarborough of Creswell, and Dr. Barber of Yoncalla, and it was soon ascertained that a surgical operation was necessary for the relief of the patient. Accordingly on Saturday morning Dr. Wall assisted by the two physicians mentioned above performed the required operation, removing the appendix which was found greatly inflamed. The patient soon rallied from the shock of the operation and is speedily recovering. This is another case wherein the care and skill of our well known local physician and surgeon was fully demonstrated.
