

Tired Feeling
A Common Spring Trouble.
A sign that the blood is deficient ally, just as pimples and other are signs that the blood is poor.
A warning, too, which only the blood can heed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
and Pills will give new life, new courage and animation.
Purify the blood and clear the skin.

There is no substitute.
We tried all the time and could not get any more taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I could sleep well and the tired feeling gone. This great medicine has done me of scrofula." Mrs. C. M.
Hood, Conn.

keep the promise.

How to Sleep.
It is not uncommon to hear people say "I am too tired to sleep"—but it is generally known how great a strain is at such times not to try to sleep. It is to go to work deliberately in preparation for it. In the middle of the night it is the unwilling-ness to lie awake that keeps us awake. We toss and turn and wish we could sleep. We fret and fume, and because we do not sleep. We truly of all we have to do on the following day and are oppressed with thought that we cannot do it if we do not sleep. First, we try one experiment to see if it will not make us sleep. When it fails, we try another perhaps another. In each experiment we are watching to see if it will help. There are many things to do, one of which might help us to sleep, but the watching to see if they work keeps us awake.

When we are kept awake from our fret, the first thing to do is to say "I am too tired to sleep." We do not say to ourselves that we do not know whether we sleep or not, in order to imbue ourselves with a suspicion of our own weakness. It will enable us to gain this wholesome insight to say "I am too tired to sleep." and therefore, the first thing to do before going to bed is to get ready in order to sleep. When my brain is tired, it will go to sleep; it cannot help. When it is well rested, it will sleep as naturally as my lungs breathe, or as my heart beats."—Les Mothly.

All Night Again.

Al. Wyo., May 16.—After suffering for four or five years Mr. A. J.
Cassidy of this place has been completely restored to good health. His illness was a result of a kidney trouble. His cure is another proof of the wonderful work of Dr. J. C. Cassidy's Kidney Pills. Mr. Cassidy says:

"For four or five years I have been a sufferer with kidney trouble and a lover of my kidneys. I thought I could never get my kidneys right. I tried all kinds of medicine, but I am glad I did so, for they have done me good work and I feel all right again."

Many cases are being reported everywhere in which Dr. J. C. Cassidy's Kidney Pills have effected cures of the most serious kind. Strong testimonies from earning men and women are splendid tributes to the curative properties of Dr. J. C. Cassidy's Kidney Pills and judging by the letters, there is no case of kidney trouble or backache that Dr. J. C. Cassidy's Kidney Pills will not cure promptly and satisfactorily.

Men are still free to be the slaves of their passions, but when servitude there is a worse.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

Local applications as they cannot reach the inner portion of the ear. There is only one cure for deafness, and that is by constitutional medicine. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the middle ear. When this tube is inflamed it is a constant source of trouble, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is complete, and unless the inflammation can be removed and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever.
Deafness of ten are caused by Catarrh, and is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any cure of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for Four Kinds of Liars.

The late Sir Frederick Bramwell of England was famous both as a witness and an arbitrator in engineering disputes.
He recalled that his brother, the late Justice Bramwell, on giving advice to a young barrister, told him to be of four kinds of witnesses: first, of a liar; second, of the liar who can only be adequately described as the aid of a powerful adjective; third, of the expert witness, and, finally, of his brother Fred."

JUDICIAL DECISIONS.

A statute giving attorneys a lien on the cause of action for their fees in suits instituted by them is held in Tompkins vs. Nashville, C. & St. L.
Ry. (Tenn.) 81 L. R. A. 340, not to deprive the plaintiff of the right to dismiss the suit against their will, or entitle them to be made parties with the right to prosecute the action to protect their own interests.

Injuries caused by the widening of the canal are held, in Mullen vs. Lake Drummond Canal and W. Co. (N. C.), 61 L. R. A. 833, not to be included in the original condemnation of the right of way for the canal so as to prevent the subsequent recovery of damages for them. The other cases on the construction and operation of canals are collected in an elaborate note to this case.

The indorsement by the principal of a check given in part payment of the purchase price of land is held, in Thompson vs. New South Coal Company (Ala.), 62 L. R. A. 551, not to be a sufficient subscription of the contract to make it binding on him, where it was made by an agent not having sufficient authority to bind the principal, although the check was attached to the contract.

A plan by a voluntary association of merchants engaged in selling proprietary medicines, adopted by manufacturers of them, looking to the maintenance of prices, by which the manufacturers should sell at fixed prices, with a rebate only to concerns who could be relied on to maintain the selling price, is held, in John D. Park & Sons Company vs. National Wholesale Druggists' Association (N. Y.), 62 L.
R. A. 632, not to be void as creating a monopoly or in restraint of trade, or as against public policy.

That repairs promised by an employer to be made upon a defective machine "the fore part of the following week" had not been made by Wednesday is held, in Rice vs. Eureka Paper Company (N. Y.), 62 L. R. A.
611, not to deprive an employee who complained of the defective condition of the machine of the benefit of the rule that an employee who continues work in reliance on the master's promise to repair does not assume the risk of defects during the reasonable time allowed for making the repairs.

A passenger going upon railroad train is held, in Kansas City, Fort Scott & M. R. Company v. Little (Kan.) 61 L. R. A. 122, to have a right to rely upon the representations of a local ticket agent that such train will stop at a certain point to which he has purchased ticket and desires to ride, and the company is held to be liable if he is compelled to leave the train before reaching his destination, because by the general rules of the company, unknown to the passenger, such train is not scheduled to stop at such station.

An insurer against employers' liability, whose contract gives it the right to defend against suits by employees against the assured, and which, after a judgment in excess of the insurance has been obtained against the assured, agrees to perfect an appeal, is held, in Getchell & Martin L. and Mfg. Company vs. Employers' Liability Assurance Corporation (Iowa), 62 L. R. A.
617, not to be liable for negligently failing to do so, whereby the judgment is affirmed, in the absence of anything to show that the judgment was erroneous and that the plaintiff could not have succeeded on a second trial. With this case is a note on liability involved in the exercise of the right to control or carry on litigation in the name of another party.

Mr. Nolan's Embassy.

Mr. Nolan had acquired a great reputation for tact, so that when Mr. Cassidy fell from a ladder and broke his leg it was quickly decided by all the workmen that Mr. Nolan should bear the tidings to Mrs. Cassidy.

"He broke the news gradual," said Mr. Leamy to his wife that night, "and by the time she learned the truth she was as calm as a clock, they say. Oh, he's the great man, is Timmy Nolan."

"How did he do it?" asked Mrs.
Leamy, impatiently.

"Like this," said Mr. Nolan's admirer. "He went to the house and rang the bell, and he says, 'Thin Dinis is not dead, Mrs. Cassidy, or you'd never be so gay-lookin'.'"

"Dead?" she screeches. "Who said he was dead?"

"Thin it's not true he's near to dyin' wid the smallpox, either," said Timmy, "or you'd never be lookin' so amazed."

"Smallpox?" she cries. "Has he got the smallpox, Timmy Nolan, and been tub to the hospital widout me sayin' good-by to him?"

"Sure an' he has not," said Timmy Nolan, in a comfortin' tone. "It's only that he's broken a few bones in his leg, fallin' from a ladder, and I'm sint ahead wid the news."

"It's you that's a true friend, an' you've lifted a big load from me heart," said Mrs. Cassidy, and she gave a warm shake to his hand and went back to her washin'."

As We Find Him.

We came upon the college man in the green sweater.

"Studying much?" we asked.

"Studying?" he echoed, his eyes dilating with astonishment. "Well, I guess not. I finished up football in the fall; now I'm playing hockey; soon it will be polo, then lacrosse, and later on baseball."

"When do you expect to open your books?"

"Well, during next vacation, if I get a chance."

A Scot who served an Englishman as guide and friend on a fishing trip had what the London Daily Mail calls "the national weakness" for claiming relationship with all the influential families in that part of Scotland.

One day the Englishman met him on the road driving a pig, and saw a little fun.

"Well, Donald," said he, "is that one of your grand relations?"
"Oh, no," said Donald, quietly. "This is just an acquaintance—like yersel."

FLASHES OF FUN

He—I see you've finished the last chapter. She—Long ago. I'm almost in the middle of the book.—Puck.

A little fellow said of all the things he saw at the circus he liked the little condensed horses best (Shetland ponies.)

Meeker—My wife and I always settle our differences by arbitration.
Bradley—Who is the arbitrator? Meeker—My wife, of course.—Exchange.

Employer—You are too slow about your work. Office Boy (cheerfully).— Oh, well, what I don't do to-day I kin do to-morrow.—Indianapolis Journal.

"She did not wish to be an old maid and still she detested the society of men." "How did she manage?" "She married a clubman."—Houston Post.

"An' how's yer husband the day?" asked Mrs. Rafferty of Mrs. Muldoon.
"Sure, an' he's no better," replied Mrs.
Muldoon. "The doctor's afraid morality will set in."

Mistress—So you want me to read this love letter to you? Maid—if you please, mum. And I've brought ye some cotton wool ye can stuff in yer ears while ye read it!

Sharpe—Yes, Parker invented the safest alibi ever heard of. Whealton—But it refused to fly. You couldn't go up on it. Sharpe—That's why I say it was the safest.

"Here we have only been married two days, Clarence, and you're scolding me already." "I know, my dear, but just think how long I have been waiting for the chance."

"I see you are wearing my old engagement ring." "Yes; isn't it perfectly lovely to be engaged to Jack?" "Yes, indeed! He's so deliciously serious about it, isn't he?"—Detroit Free Press.

Just a Hint: Mr. Sloman—It's so strange that we have no national flower. We certainly should have one.
Miss Waite (significantly)—Yes; I think the orange blossom would be nice.—Exchange.

"Does your wife do much fancy work?" "Fancy work? She won't even let a porous plaster come into the house without crocheting a red border round it and running a yellow ribbon through the holes."

Ascum—Some people are saying that you made most of your money in politics. Leader—But others are saying I made most of my money out of politics. So who are ye going to believe?—Philadelphia Press.

"Do you believe," she asked, "that a genius can possibly be a good husband?" "Well," he modestly replied, "I would prefer not to answer that question. But my wife ought to be able to tell you."—Exchange.

Patience—Woman is woman's best friend. "after all. Patrice—I guess you're right. Patience—Certainly I'm right. Even when she is getting married, doesn't a man give her away, and her maid of honor stand up for her?"

"Mr. Dabble," said a lawyer to a witness in the box, "at the time these papers were executed you were speculating, were you not?" "Yes, sir."
"You were in oil." "I was." "And what are you in now?" "Bankruptcy," was the sullen reply.

"Fall styles for school children," read Mrs. Hooper. "That seems like a great extravagance. Just look at the illustrations." "That's all right," commented Mr. Hooper; "our children have all sorts of fall styles, and most of them are illustrated with bumps."

"How is it, dear Chum, are you related to that celebrated Professor Kirk in Halle?" "Yes, but very distantly."
"How distant?" "He is my brother."
"How can you call that distantly related?" "Well, you see, there are ten brothers and sisters between him and myself."

"I suppose that Dewey will be expected to make a little speech to admiring friends at every place that the Olympia calls," remarked the observant boarder. "That," added the cross-eyed boarder, "will make a great many deck oration days this year."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

"Is this new combination what you would call a trust?" asked the young woman who asks questions simply for fear the conversation will lag. "Well," answered Mr. Cumrox, "it depends altogether on which side of the deal your interests lie. If you are one of the organizers it's a trust, but if you're one of the consuming public it's a well-developed suspicion."—Washington Star.

A Springfield school teacher received the following note from the mother of one of her pupils on Monday: "Dear Miss, You write me about whipping Sammy. I hereby give you permission to beat him up any time it is necessary to learn him lessons. He is just like his father—you have to learn him with a club. Pound noogie into him.
I want him to git it, and don't pay no attention to what his father says. I'll handle him."

A Baptist and a Methodist minister were by accident dining at the same house. As they took their seats there was an embarrassed pause, the hostess not knowing how to ask one minister to say grace without offending the other. The small son quickly grasped the situation, and, half rising in his chair, moved his finger rapidly around the table, reciting: "Eny, mene miny mo, catch a nigger by the toe." He ended by pointing his finger at the Baptist minister, and shouting, "You're it!" The reverend gentleman accepted the declaration, and said grace, but it lacked the usual solemnity.

A Lesson Out of School.

Plain-mannered, common-sense relatives serve no more useful purpose than in keeping down vain pretensions and silly tendencies in other members of the family. The New York Press says that it had become fashionable in a certain school to diversify names.
Mabel had become Maybelle, May Mayme, and soon Jessie caught the infection.

She wrote a letter to her elder brother, Sam, and signed it "Jessica." Sam detected the signs of the times, and this was his reply:

"Dear Sister Jessica: Your letter received. Aunt Marica and Uncle Geo-rgica started for Bostonica yesterday.
Mamica and papica are well.

"I bought a new horse yesterday.
She is a beauty; her name is Maudica.
Your affectionate brother, Samica."

Honoring Dead White Elephants.

Siam when one of the sacred white elephants dies. It is given a funeral grandeur than that accorded to princes of royal blood. Buddhist priests officiate, and thousands of devout Siamese men and women follow the deceased animal to the grave. Jewels and offerings representing some thousands of pounds are buried with the elephant.

KILL THE SERPENT

The worst disease the world has ever known, and the greatest scourge to the human race, is Contagious Blood Poison. One drop of the virus of this most horrible of all diseases will pollute and vitiate the purest, healthiest blood, and within a short time after the first little sore appears the system is filled with the awful poison and the skin breaks out in a red rash; the glands of the groins swell, the throat and mouth become ulcerated, the hair and eyebrows drop out, and often the entire surface of the body covered with copper-colored spots and sickening sores and eruptions.
Contagious Blood Poison is as treacherous and elusive as the serpent. You may be carrying it in your veins with no visible evidences of its existence; for while mercury and potash seem to cure and all external signs disappear, the disease is doing its destructive work within, or the patient is constantly harassed by returning symptoms and unmistakable traces of the blood poison. Thousands of physical wrecks and chronic invalids from the effects of Blood Poison know the uncertainty of the mercury and potash treatment—that it stifles but does not kill the serpent. As long as there is life in the serpent there is danger in its fangs; and while your blood is tainted there is danger of infection. Safety lies only in crushing out the life of the loathsome disease and killing the serpent. For many years S. S. S. has been known as an antidote for Blood Poison. It is a remedy composed entirely of vegetable ingredients, and we offer $1,000 for proof that it contains the least particle of mercury, potash or other mineral. It thoroughly purifies the blood, improves the appetite and digestion, and tones up all parts of the system.
In chronic and long-standing cases of Blood Poison, S. S. S. acts promptly and without leaving any bad after-effects.

Write us about your case, and our physicians will advise without charge, and we will mail you free our home-treatment book telling all about Contagious Blood Poison and its different stages and symptoms.

threatened with a nervous breakdown. He orders this grand old family medicine.

"For more than 50 years I have used Ayer's Sarsaparilla in my family. It is a grand tonic at all times, and a wonderful medicine for impure blood."—J. C. Holt, West Haven, Conn.
$1.00 a bottle.
All druggists.

Weak Nerves

Keep the bowels regular with Ayer's Pills, just one pill each night.

Some Exceptions.

Slimpurs (airily)—Aw, me good man, is it customary to tip waiters here?
Head Waiter (condescendingly)—Not unless you are richer than the waiter, sir.

The Masculine Way.

A pretty girl; a crowded car;

"Please take my seat," and there you are.

A crowded car, a woman plain;

She stands—and there you are again
