Notice

Property owners are urged to remove dry grass from sidewalks and dwellings or out-buildings to lessen the danger from the Fourth of July. Remember there is only a four-inch supply of water in case fire breaks out, and it will not convey water to fight more than a blaze at a time. Reasonable precautions may prevent serious consequences, so clean up your

And just as important as this, property owners and consumers of water should not fail to turn off water in their yards at once on the sounding of an alarm of fire. There is an ordinance to this effect, but it should be the desire of every citizen to prevent fire by exerting every effort within their power to assist the volunteer fire department.

Rev. C. H. Wallace will speak at 11 a. m. next Sunday at the C. P. church.

Next Monday is the 14th of July. If there are dry weeds, grass or other combustible material about your premises clean them up this week. don't wait for the small boy to do it with his fireworks. He might clean up your house at the same time.—San Jose Mercury

Among those from Eugene who came to witness the ball game Wednesday were E. J. McClanahan, O. E. Taylor, O. Olston, Walter Ross, Wm. G. Martin, J. C. Jones, and J. D. Hamlin. Mr. Olston is associated with Cottage Grove men in the establishment of a saw mill near this city.

The finders of the recently reported gold ledges on Sucker creek, in Southern Oregon, Josephine county, fifty miles west of Grants Pass, are related to our townsman Frank Jordan, one being a nephew and the other a brother-in-law. A new town has been founded which will be called Golden-view city. It is just on the Oregon-California line.

Geo. Hess, who lives on Wall street near Silk creek, found a spotted fawn asleep under the trees near his home recently. He picked it up and has it in his care. As it has proved very inquisitive he is thinking of giving it away or returning it to its native heath. Portland park commissioners would no doubt be glad to have this young male deer for the city park.

At the M. E. Church the Sunday morning subject will be "Jude, another of the Apostles." There will be patriotic exercises in the evening. Prof. Albert Sweeker of Eugene State University is expected to be present in the evening to address the newly elected Epworth League officers. The evening services during the summer will begin promptly at eight o'clock and will be brief, lasting one hour.

W. L. Vinson and Frank Garrison, of Baker City arrived in Cottage Grove Wednesday morning and went at once to Bohemia, where they will thoroughly examine the Grizzly mine belonging to Al Johnson. It is satisfied with their investigation they will interest themselves in its development. Both gentlemen have been interested in Eastern Oregon mines and have done extensive work along these lines.

Mostly Local NOTICE.

Mrs. Wm. Hawley of Lorane, was called Sunday to her mother's bedside at Creswell, but on arrival found her much improved and returned to her farm home Monday.
J. W. Cook of Portland was in town the first of the week on business. He was formerly a resident here and was interested in mining. He returned to Portland Monday night, having met many old acquaintances while here.
Cottage Grove has arrangements completed for a rousing Fourth of July celebration and is preparing to entertain a large number of visitors from neighboring towns. It is a live town and a good place to spend the glorious Fourth.—Roseburg Plaindealer.

Annual Picnic.

About two hundred and fifty persons enjoyed the Methodist Sunday School picnic Wednesday.

This school is steadily increasing in number and each year the picnic has a large attendance.

The big crowd went to a beautiful grove beyond Latham in big hay wagons, busses and tuggies. The place is ideal for most every pastime that a picnic occasion may suggest. The river near by especially afforded the boys a chance for swimming. In secluded spot, just nice enough for girls, young ladies and little girls went wading to their hearts content.

A one sided game of ball was one of the interesting features between the officers and teachers, and Mr. Gunn's class of boys. A bursted ball gave the boys relief from fanning the balls fired from the catapult arm of our genial Station Agent Mr. Isham.

One hundred and fifty feet of dinner table filled with all good things to eat delighted the hungry picnickers. Lemonade all day long, and a big treat of ice cream was given the school by Supt. J. I. Jones.

No one more eagerly looks forward to the annual picnic than Isaac Jones, who spares neither pains nor money to make this a most delightful occasion for all who attend.

Two Runaways.

One of John Durham's express teams ran away Wednesday afternoon on Main Street. The team was left standing in front of the Metcalf & Morse grocery near the bridge and took French leave. At the depot the wagon struck a tall pole and was badly broken. The horses were not injured and were soon hitched to another wagon and doing business as methodically as if the spirit of the "call of the wild" had never entered their heads.

Shortly following the Durham derby there was another escapade of a similar nature near the First National Bank. This was a team from the country and the runaway was checked in its incipency by the night clerk of the Hotel Graham.

A Delightful Cottage Grove Home.

One of the most delightful homes in Cottage Grove, where economy and comfort combine, to lavish their benefits upon the human race, is the one where the falling shades of evening are wrested from the black inky hours of the night and converted into a noonday sunbeam by the use of the Cottage Grove electric lights. Now is the appointed time to install them.

Mower by Express.

A farmer of South Lane county showed his energy Monday by having a mowing machine shipped from Portland by express. He wanted his grain cut and had ordered a certain kind of a mower. It was not to be had locally and he gave instructions to have it sent as above. It was received in time for use on Tuesday.

LEADERS IN MERCHANDISING

Band Has Pleasant Outing

The band boys accompanied by their wives and sweethearts spent last Sunday at Geer's Springs, the object being an all-day practice, as well as recreation. The morning practice was done on the covered portico of the hotel. Mr. Geer, who is a prince of entertainers, kept the crowd cool with his famous Geer Springs mineral water carbonated. Say! it is a nectar for the gods. At noon those who had brought lunches went to the grove adjoining the hotel where tables and benches have been provided for the convenience of campers and picnickers. After lunch at table, hammocks were stretched and each enjoyed a rest in his own way, some of the young folks going for a stroll just to get "far from the madding crowd." From 2 p. m. the band had a three-hour practice. There were a great many from town who went to the springs, and as the proposed day's practice had been talked about by those in the vicinity of the springs the whole country side was there, so quite an audience greeted the band, enjoying especially the national airs.

The practical joker was there also. He coaxed an innocent country dog behind the base section and tied one end of a rope to the poor "critter's" neck and the other to the back of Billy Wallace's Helicon tuba. When the band started to play there was "something didding." Leader Berry thought Wynn's slide trombone was out of tune and gave a rap to stop playing. Frank McFarland was on hand to help clear the wreck but from the fact that H. R. Bills was about 40 feet away and convulsed with laughter, which by the way is his normal condition, the writer thinks he did the deed. A horsepower merry-go-round was furnished free and was well patronized. The hand organ attachment was missing, but the monkey was in evidence. There was no liquor on the grounds, and no ball game to make it an hilarious day but all enjoyed themselves. It was decided unanimously to repeat the performance at a future date.
