Complete Works of Shakespeare to Be Given Away by the Leader.

The Lane County Leader offers a set of "The Tragedies and Comedies of Shakespeare" (new edition—8 volumes), published by P. F. Collier & Son, to the young lady or young man who during the next two months succeeding July 8th secures the largest number of subscriptions to the Leader. An issue of that kind will be for our best advantage.

Subscriptions may be new or renewals from old subscribers. Every cent collected by contestants will be counted as one point in his favor—thus if a yearly subscription is secured at $1.50 it will indicate 150 points in favor of the person securing the subscription.

Friends of contestants may pay their own subscriptions and deposit the points for any candidate they may favor. A point for every cent paid. A box will be placed in the office of the Leader and points may be deposited at any time during the time specified.

Each card must be endorsed and signed by the editor of the Leader to be valid in the final count. This is for the purpose of keeping out false points and to indicate the validity of all.

The contest will close on Thursday, September 8th, 1904, and the points will be counted and result announced in the Leader of the issue of Friday, September 9th.

The young lady or gentleman securing the greatest number of points will be presented with the Works of Shakespeare. These volumes may be seen at the office of the Leader.

This unquestionably one of the best editions of Shakespeare's plays ever issued. It is published in eight compact volumes, bound in red morocco, with a handsome gilt back stamp. The eight frontispieces are printed in color, from drawings by W. deLeftwich Dodge, made especially for this edition. The other illustrations are from drawings on wood by Sir John Gilbert, R. A.

This edition comprises not only the dramas, but his one hundred and fifty-four sonnets. A biography precedes the actual text, which is annotated by copious explanatory remarks of the best known Shakespearean commentators, among them Malone and Stevens. A valuable supplement is furnished in the shape of a glossary of obsolete and unusual terms and a concordance of the most familiar sayings is appended.

Points may be registered now. Bring in your subscriptions and vote for your favorite. Anyone may enter.

Automobiles are cutting quite a figure in the capture of fugitive criminals. Trains often are not available. Horses are fast, but "autos" are faster and the machines can go wherever a wagon can pass. Capture of a murderer at Luton recently shows the value of speed in automobiles.

The Old Cradle Route

By Louise Stevens

A wonderful line is the old Cradle Route—
May its travelers never grow few!
Its service is perfect, its trains never clash,
And its coaches are shining and new,
And the dear little babies all over the land,
Are passengers on the night train;
When evening shades gather, all smiling they come
From Homeville, through Lullaby Lane.

At Bye-Low Street Crossing they all get aboard,
And the train slowly moves on its way
Past Sleepytown Junction, and over the bridge
That crosses still Wink-a-Bink Bay.
And on through the county of Slumber they ride,
Past Napville and Rock-a-bye Springs;
Where the poppies are nodding, and all the dear birds
Have tucked their heads under their wings.

And now through the cars of the slow-moving train
Comes the Sand Man so friendly and wise;
And the conductor grows drowsy, the engineer nods,
And the passengers all close their eyes.
Then slower and slower resolve the train's wheels,
Till into the station they creep.
You have reached the safe shelter of quaint Dreamland town—
So sleep, little travelers—sleep.

opportunities Cottage Grove affords home seekers and investors. This issue will be circulated at the Worlds Fair and through the middle west. An issue of that kind will be for our best advantage.

THE MINING CONGRESS.

It was a wise move on the part of the delegation from Oregon, at Deadwood and Lead last year, in securing for Portland the Seventh Annual Assembly of the American Mining Congress. Already are we beginning to realize good results, from the advertising of this coming session, in the eastern press, and if our citizens, and the press of the state take hold of the matter in a thoroughly enthusiastic way, there is no question in the world but what the greatest amount of good directly and indirectly, will flow from it.

It must be remembered, the American Mining Congress is not a local, but a national organization. And it is this fact that gives it its great influence. At this coming session, there will be representatives from all over the United States, Canada and Mexico and by a little effort on the part of our people it is possible to bring prominently before these gentlemen, interests that will be attractive to them, in a business way, and will redound greatly to our credit financially, and otherwise.

The fourth session of this Congress was held in Boise, Idaho, and from the day it convened in that city down to the present time, Idaho has advanced most rapidly in all her industries and Boise almost doubled in population. Nampa fifteen miles from Boise has grown and is still growing wonderfully, and the citizens of the great Black Hills of South Dakota tell us that not in twenty-five years has any thing benefited them, as did the six day session of the American Mining Congress held last year in Deadwood and Lead. The citizens of Deadwood built a fine hotel to accommodate the delegates to this congress, and claim that the investment proved a success far in excess of all expectations. The fact that Denver and Salt Lake City are now striving to secure the permanent headquarters of the Congress and are ready to put up large sums of money to capture it, is the strongest evidence of its worth, and we repeat Portland is most fortunate in securing this coming session in August.

On the 22nd day of next month, now near at hand, the Congress will be in session. And it behooves every paper in the state to take hold of the matter with a vim, that will make this coming gathering the grandest ever held in the Pacific Coast country. We notice, and have noticed for some time, that the outside papers have been doing some splendid work in this direction. It is now for the entire press of Portland and the state at large to do their duty and a wonderful success will be the result.

Portland and Puget Sound Dealers are purchasing butter and eggs in the Eastern markets. Some of these purchases are for immediate shipment and some will be held where they are purchased until a scarcity on the Coast later in the season will increase the profits of handling them.—Oregonian.

A Police Judge of Portland seems to have discovered a punishment that fairly fits the crime of that particularly offensive brute, the wife-beater. When one of the degrading species appeared in court the other day the Judge ordered a police officer to choke him. This was done, and then the beater of women was sent to jail for a month. The choking process should be made a matter of daily routine for the fellow while he is a prisoner.—San Francisco Call.

Parents' Attention.

The old method of teaching a child to read by the uninteresting meaningless plan of learning his A. B. C's has long since been supplanted by the word system. The methods of teaching music have kept pace with the improved methods of teaching school. The old tedious, discouraging method of teaching the five finger exercises and scales has given place to a method which interests and delights children as well as grown people.

Mrs. Roy Welch has taught music for eight years during which time she went east twice to study. Recently she had the privilege of a year's continuous study under an own pupil of Calvin Cady of Boston, Mass., whose genius has revolutionized the methods of teaching music. Drop a card in the P. O. and Mrs. Welch will call upon you and give you an idea of the method whereby one can begin reading and writing music from the first lesson.

Married at Eugene

Miss Laura V. Stafford, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. J. M. Stafford, of Mohawk, was married to Edward Hanson, of Eugene on Thursday, June 30. The ceremony was performed in the parlors of the new home Mr. Hanson had prepared for his charming bride, Rev. Gilbert of Portland officiating.

Mr. Hanson is a brother of Miss Ada Hanson the Cottage Grove milliner.

Dr. Lowe Will Be Here.

Next Monday and to noon on Tuesday, Dr. Low, the well known oculo optician, will be in Cottage Grove at Hotel Graham. Don't fail to have him test your eyes for glasses July 11th and 12th. If you have headache and are troubled with nervous irritability, have Dr. Lowe test your eyes! Consult him July 11th and to noon of the 12th. Since Dr. Lowe's last visit to Cottage Grove he has been to New York City and taken a post-graduate course on the eye and is now prepared to fit glasses and give you the same service as in the larger cities. See Dr. Lowe Monday if possible as he leaves Tuesday noon and will be very busy that day.

James Ostrander will build a new modern cottage as soon as lumber can be obtained.

Latest Machinery.

Those who have been sending their laundry work out of town will now have no excuse for doing so. This week there has been installed at the Cottage Grove Steam Laundry a collar turning machine of the latest pattern. With this addition to the equipment of the laundry all grades of work from the very best to the common kind can be done as well as at any laundry in the State, and patrons will find by actual comparison that rates are lower. August Swan, on who has assumed entire ownership of the laundry is striving to build up a business in Cottage Grove and he should have all the patronage the city can give him. He is putting his money into the plant enlarging and improving it and the quality of work done constantly and those who believe in fair play and in encouraging home enterprises will send their work to the Cottage Grove Steam Laundry.

Commercial Club.

Friday evening, July 1st, the formal opening of the new club rooms of the Commercial club was a very pleasant evening.

Monday evening Col. Irwin Mahon addressed the club and urged that a mining exhibit from Bohemia district be prepared.

Tuesday evening F. D. Wheeler resigned as secretary owing to pressure of other business and C. J. Howard was elected in his stead.

Wednesday evening the executive board met to prepare recommendations.

Thursday evening a general meeting was held and plans discussed for the work to be done by the club.
