THEATRICAL

Of the performance to be given next Tuesday at the Cottage Grove Opera House, the Tacoma Daily News says:

Gorton's Minstrels pleased the audience that attended the opening performance at the Tacoma theater last night. Minstrels are minstrels, They will never die, Billy Manning and Billy Emerson, and Luke Schooleraft, of "Mrs. Dittimus' Party" fame; Billy Rice, who has passed across with the others named well, they were all great entertainers in their day. And Welby and Lee, with Gorton's Minstrels, are just like they once were. The first part is prettily put on. The costumes are rich-even gaudy. The jokes are fresh and timely. The songs are up-to-date, and their voices are such as few men possess. Kenneth McAdams and the juvenile tenor, Master Richard Cole, are entitled to high place, while the humorous melodies of Welby, Lee and others and the remarkable voice of Arthor Fulion prove features. The Cresent Sextette is certainly a clever combination of voices. The I. BRENNER. first part winds up with a sketch that amuses-"The Female Shop pers."
