A WORD TO FARMERS.

Thirty thousand dollars annually sent out of Cottage Grove for wheat by Messrs Hartung & Hansen of the Cottage Grove Flour Mills does not speak volumes for the wheat growing industry of the many farmers about Cottage Grove. Wheat has been selling for from 80 to 85 cents per bushel this season. This year alone more than $30,000 has so been expended by the above named firm. This sum might have been distributed among Cottage Grove people if thrift and industry had ruled. Many of the Oregon farmers are content to make a living and do not aspire to gain wealth. This must be a fact, else the thousands of acres available for cultivation which are now covered with timber or given to pasture would be producing good crops of grain for milling purposes.

Why not keep this money at home instead of permitting it to go outside?

This seems a question that all farmers should consider seriously. Are you raising enough grain? Is your land producing what it should produce? The experience of the past year has shown many that fall sowing is the proper thing. Accordingly many are preparing their soil in advance of the rainy season. There may be localities where fall sowing is rendered impossible by surface conditions, but one firm in Cottage Grove has sold in the past year more than 100,000 bushels of wheat. All of which are now in use by farmers who are sowing or will sow fall grain.

Fall-sown grain was a good investment last year, why not this year?

More grain sown means more money for the farmer and more business for Cottage Grove.

The past week has been a busy one at the railroad depot. Tons and tons of freight have gone both ways and the Southern Pacific people have left the handling of most of it to the local transfer company. More help is needed at the local depot. In fact there are only the station agent and baggage man at the depot to handle the remarkably large volume of business. The agent in his shirt-sleeves, handling oil tanks and huge iron castings, with no one in the office is hardly fit business system for so important a corporation as the Southern Pacific Railroad Company with lines in Oregon. Patrons of the road are inconvenienced by the system at present in vogue. The Leader would like to ask Knowles & Gettys of Bohemia if their freight was transferred promptly during the past week to the O. & S. E. Individual merchants of Cottage Grove, in a hurry for their deliveries, have had to go to the depot and haul over the freight in the way car. Every day during the week something has been in the freight for the Leader—paper, stock, machinery, new type. We are conveniently located, near the depot—freight was not so serious a question for us. It was logged over by main strength. But the Southern Pacific railroad must certainly have inclination to please its customers. If it has there should be a freight man at the depot. The time schedule is one of few trains, it is true, and all importance lies about their arrival and departure, but the agent has not time aside from his office duties to do the husky in the shed to save the corporation a few dollars at the expense of the merchants of Cottage Grove and the enjoyment of a local draying monopoly. Give us a freight handler.

ROW RIVER HAS A BREAKWATER

Will Deflect Current and Stop Washout on Banks.

O. & S. E. Railroad and County Commissioners Provide a Valuable Improvement Near Cottage Grove.

During the past few years Row River has been gradually eating away the soil on its banks at a point along the Oregon & South-eastern railroad two and one-half miles from Cottage Grove. The wagon road lies between the river and the railroad and in places runs perilously near the brink of the stream. It is related that in years past the road ran where is now the center of the channel. Successive winter torrents have washed away the banks until Row river at this point is no less than 500 feet wide. To stop the encroachments of the stream the O. & S. E. people have united with the County Commissioners in defraying expense of building a substantial breakwater to direct the flow of the river away from the soft soil and loose gravel of the bank.

Almost a Century.

At the age of 93 years, "Grandma" Oliver folded her hands and passed to her long rest on Monday morning after a long and useful Christian life. The venerable woman died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. M. Thompson of Cottage Grove.

SILK CREEK.

O. D. Wheeler brought from Eugene his household goods one day last week.

NEW STREET LIGHTS.

Four new street lights have been installed by the Cottage Grove Electric Co. for the city.

They are located, one on Main street at Mill street, one at Main and Center, one at Main and Fir, and the fourth on Weber street near Tennessee avenue.

The handsome new cottage now being built for Jas. S. Benson has been wired this week.

Mrs. Cottle's elegant new dwelling on Third street has also been wired for electric lights.

The home of Postmaster C. J. Howard has been remodeled and electric lights have been installed.

Marion Veatch, the furniture dealer, has had his house wired for electric lights.

Incandescents have been installed at the home of A. C. Gage.

Mrs. Joe Miller has had her dwelling wired for this inexpensive and very convenient method of lighting which does away with coal oil lamps and the consequent task of filling and cleaning.

The Cottage Grove Electric Company has been steadily increasing its service owing to the reasonable rates they make for placing the fixtures and furnishing the lights.

DAIRYING IN OREGON.

What It Costs to Establish a Creamery and Cheese Factory.

Dairying will probably be a leading industry in Oregon as long as the land endures, as the natural meadows, the magnificent ranges and the perennial streams to be found everywhere in the greater part of the state, make ideal conditions for the unlimited production of butter and cheese. At present the supply is not much in excess of the demand for home consumption, but when dairymen have been able to obtain all the cows they need, the industry is bound to assume mammoth proportions. The condensed milk and evaporated cream business already is receiving an impetus that will add another import to the number that is making the name of Oregon famous throughout the world. Natural forage plants grow luxuriantly, and nowhere in the world has nature been more lavish in sowing red and white clover, timothy, and other succulent grasses that cattle love. When the land is under cultivation the yield is remarkable, and it is quite common to harvest two crops in a season, while alfalfa affords a crop for almost every month. Oregon's greatest advantage is her frequent gentle rains, which keep the atmosphere pure and clean and the meadows and ranges green nearly the whole year. —Sunset Magazine.

A Quick Recovery.

Twelve years ago on Wednesday A. J. Armstrong suffered the loss of his left hand in a mill at Independence, Oregon. Since amputation the arm has been painful to him. On Wednesday Sept. 21, Dr. A. Corpron and Dr. A. W. Kime performed an operation to relieve the constant pain experienced. Two weeks have elapsed since the 19 stitches were taken and the arm is almost entirely healed. In seven days the bandages were removed entirely and Mr. Armstrong is confident the member will cause him no more trouble.

DIVIDE ITEMS.

Burt Leo and family returned from the coast Friday.

Mrs. James Yomans of Leona spent a day or two with her daughter Mrs. Charlie Hedrick last week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McReynolds returned from Jacksonville, Saturday and report a good time.

James Mackey has greatly improved the appearance of his dwelling by a new coat of paint and fancy trimmings.

Mrs. Roy Coffin expects to join her husband at Everett, Washington, in a few days.

Get Ready.

The band will play in a concert soon and this is the name of their new tune: "Alamogozalum."

And another piece they'll also play in their concert: "Mrs. Ippi."

orchard of gnarled fruit trees, gigantic as fruit trees grow—some thirty and forty feet in height. The fruit is small and often afflicted with blight or insect pests.

But across the road a quarter of a mile away Mr. Currin has an orchard, mostly apples, that is five years old. The trees are beautiful in form, a splendid growth and good producers. Mr. Currin, however, does not as yet believe in cutting back the tops of his apple trees.

E. L. Smith of Hood River, who is President of the Oregon Development League, said in the Marquam Grand Theater on August 2nd, that to grow good apples the trees should be topped to within 14 to 16 feet of the ground.

Mr. Smith is an expert on fruit culture and comes from a section where they grow prize apples. Therefore he should know what is best in apple-growing. His reasons were that the tree was more sturdy, growth was stronger, limbs were not so liable to break, the fruit was easily gathered and (most important) trees so grown can be thoroughly and readily sprayed to destroy insect pests. The argument of President Smith was so conclusive that all growers present (and there were many) were convinced. Questions were fired at Mr. Smith by growers from all parts of Oregon. He was prompt and unassailable in his replies and as he remarked was not punctured.

Hood River is to have a fruit fair one week hence and it would be a valuable experience for growers of this section if they could be in attendance at that time.

If Mr. Currin could talk for a few moments with Mr. E. L. Smith or some other successful grower, he might become as enthusiastic a fruit man as is the venerable yet energetic presiding officer of the O. D. L.

THE POSITION OF THE GROWERS OF THIS SECTION WITH THE CULTIVATION OF THEIR FARMS AND ORCHARDS MEANS LARGELY INCREASED RETURNS. ANY FARMER MAY INCREASE HIS WEALTH AND THE VALUE OF HIS HOLDINGS BY DEVOTING TIME AND THOUGHT TO RAISING THE STANDARD OF HIS PRODUCTS. IT IS SO EASY TO MAKE A LIVING IN THIS GREAT STATE OF OREGON THAT FARMERS ARE NOT ACTIVE IN A COMPETITIVE SENSE.

If walnuts and chestnuts will grow here, why are there not more acres cleared to make room for such crops? Or why is not the present cleared acreage planted?

Jeff Myers of Portland, who is arranging for exhibits of produce at the Lewis & Clark Exposition, will receive exhibits from all counties—from any who may send. Felix Currin will send walnuts, and states that in size they will average well with the market.

Cottage Grove ought to have specimens for display next year, but the fruit season is nearly gone, fruit, vegetables and cereals are passing and before another harvest the Lewis & Clark Fair will be a thing of the past.

Drain Normal Notes.

The fourth week of school opened Monday morning with very pleasing exercises in general assembly. This will be made one of the best periods of the school life.

The enrollment of the school now exceeds 200 in all departments, a very good showing for this time of year.

Five new students entered the Normal Monday, among them Miss Edith Smith of Gardner.

The Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are taking an active part in the social life of the school—each having a good membership.

The Literary Society was reorganized last Friday evening. The faculty will assist the students in making the literary work of the school strengthen the work of the society by proper supervision and credits.

Plans are being perfected for school room and yard decoration. Among the possible features being an art exhibit.

Miss White, one of the critic teachers, visited friends in Cottage Grove Saturday and Sunday.

Have you seen those beautiful diamonds at Madsen's?

Cost of a Cheese Factory.

The cost of establishing a cheese factory with the location, but the following may be accepted as an average estimate. Building, about eight hundred dollars, and the same amount for equipment. Twenty-one hundred dollars will build and equip a creamery capable of handling the milk from between three hundred and four hundred cows. In some localities owners estimate the income per cow as averaging fifty dollars a year. The prices of land range from twenty-five to one hundred dollars an acre, according to location and condition.—Emma Seckle Marshall in Sunset Magazine for October.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes.

We desire to place in the hands of those afflicted with Bright's Disease and Diabetes a 36-page pamphlet that is saving human lives. It is not an ordinary pamphlet, such as is commonly used to advertise medicines, but is practically made up of reports of scientifically conducted tests in a large variety of cases, showing 87 per cent of recoveries in these hitherto incurable diseases.

The specimens employed in these tests are known as the Fulton Compounds and the results obtained prove conclusively that these dreaded diseases so long fatal (the deaths from Bright's Disease alone are appalling, over 100,000 a year, starting as kidney troubles) have at last yielded to medical science. The pamphlet last issued to the John J. Fulton Co., 409 Washington street, San Francisco, Cal.

When to suspect Bright's Disease—Puffy ankles or hands, weakness without apparent cause; kidney trouble after third month; frequent urination, (may show sediment or cloudy on standing); falling vision; dry drowsiness—one or more of these.
