 Ostrander's barber shop is being remodeled in that the bath rooms are being rearranged so as to make more room and the front will be set back in order to give more space to the cigar stand. The new arrangement will give an advantage in light to the barbers.
 Syrene Camp of the Modern Woodmen of America, located at Hebron have on hand several candidates for initiation which they are planning to bring to Cottage Grove and allow the local Camp to introduce them to the mysteries of the order. The initiation will take place on the evening of February 7th.

J. C. Long this week sold to S. R. Brand one lot in his tract near the depot and two lots to J. B. Gross, who recently purchased the residence property of him. Mr. Long informs this paper that he intends to build himself a neat little home the coming season and intends to remain in Cottage Grove.

Frank Ely, recently of Dakota, has accepted a position in Benson's pharmacy.

Mrs. Ida Spray, nee Griffin, arrived from her home in the state of Washington on Thursday to visit with relatives and friends in this city.

Professor LaMare, Dr. G. W. Payne and Miss Marguerite Foy, left Friday for a tour of the valley towns where they are billed for demonstrations of spiritual manifestations and other features in the line of their work. Prof. LaMare will be absent for seven days.

The Charles Concert Company was the attraction at the opera house last Wednesday evening, and their performance was as good as the usual run of illustrated song and moving picture shows. Carleton Ostrander, the mandolin soloist was well received. A small house was in attendance.

J. C. Sears, whose home is in this city, returned from Pendleton Wednesday after an absence of over one year. He is here on urgent business and expects to soon return to Eastern Oregon. He says that crops in the vicinity of Pendleton are in fine condition, although at present there is some winter there and the citizens are enjoying the pleasures of sleighing.

F. M. Ernest was at Oakland Thursday, where he went to buy beef cattle for Bartels meat market. Mr. Bartels this week purchased fifty-two head of fine mutton sheep, which will be butchered as the trade demands. The price of mutton and beef is gaining in strength and the local supply of meat market stock is all cleaned up. Mr. Bartels says he looks for mutton to be scarce in the near future.

The Cottage Grove Band will give another of their delightful free concert programs in the opera house Wednesday evening, which will be followed by a dance as usual, tickets fifty cents. The concerts are absolutely free to all who wish to attend and everyone is invited to come and bring their children. Those who stay away will miss a good time.

W. M. Moore, of Lorane was in town Thursday. He informs a representative of this paper that the farmers' telephone line will shortly be extended from Lorane so as to connect with the Crow-Hadley line thereby giving them direct communication to Eugene. Wire sufficient to extend the system nine miles has been furnished through the Wynne Hardware Company of this city, a portion of which was hauled out by Mr. Moore.

State Game Warden J. W. Baker is home from a brief visit at Salem. He says that some beneficial legislation in the way of amendments to the game laws will doubtless be made this session. Among them will be a passage restricting the number of ducks killed from fifty in one day to fifty in one week. He says that the license of hunters will also probably be passed making the fee $1 for resident and $20 for non-resident hunters. Mr. Baker expects to spend a portion of the coming week at the Capitol in the interests of some of the measures he desires enacted.

Rev. R. C. Grace, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church will hold regular services next Sabbath. He has been for the past ten days conducting revival services at Eugene.

State Game Warden J. W. Baker recently received the request from a party residing at Elgin, Union county, asking permission to capture some mountain sheep, native to that section, and exhibit them at the Lewis & Clark Centennial. After asking the opinion of the governor, the game warden concluded that he had no authority to grant the request but replied that he had no objection to the capture being made but desired that the mountain sheep be released near their native haunts after the exposition was over. It will doubtless be news to many people to know that there are native wild mountain sheep in Oregon, and if the capture and exhibit is made it will be a strong feature of interest to sportsmen of the state and the general visitors at the fair.

Mrs. J. W. Miller of Cottage Grove who has been visiting her niece, Mrs. James E. Rickman, returned home yesterday. F. W. Gerbits of Ellsworth, Kansas, an old neighbor of H. H. Randolph who has been over here in Columbia county proving upon his homestead, stopped off here between trains to visit his daughter, Mrs. H. J. Shirk. He went to Cottage Grove yesterday.—Eugene Register, Thursday.

BOB VEATCH EXHIBITS CURIOS

A Wise Looking Hoot Owl Leaves Him With Two Glass Eyes.

Bob Veatch has recently placed in his cigar store his cabinet containing his collection of curios, stuffed birds and snakes and mineral specimens, which make a nice exhibit and are of much interest. One of the specimens is a five and one-half foot diamond rattlesnake from Arizona. Another interesting specimen is a talc bust "Bohemia," made from the talc deposits of the Bohemia mining district. It is truly a work of art and was made in less than two hours by A. D. Whittier who had nothing more to work with than a wooden paddle, a teaspoon and a piece of bailing wire. The bust is life size. But the finest thing Bob has to show is a splendid pair of moose antlers, which have a spread of almost six feet, and the pair is perfectly balanced. The moose was killed by Wesley Jennie of Halsey sixty miles east of Dawson, Alaska, at which time he bagged three of the noble animals. The weight of the antlers unmounted is sixty-eight pounds. Bob meant to make another addition to his collection the other day. Some friend had captured a fine specimen of the hoot owl and brought him to the collector alive, whereupon Bob ordered a pair of glass eyes, which were to take the place of the unblinking orbs which nature had provided. The owl was tethered with a buckskin string to his leg and kept in the store where he could look upon the fate of some other birds and meditate. The result of his meditations seemingly did not add much to the collection for when he was placed in the woodshed at night he doubtless concluded that chicken was better stuffing than excelsior and untied the string and winged his way to the darksome woods. Bob still has the eyes and is looking for another owl.

J. I. Jones made a flying trip to the county seat yesterday.

Jesse Bounds, of Eugene, well known in this city, arrived Friday and went up the Coast Fork on business.

Thomas M. Hunt and family will today remove their residence from Cottage Grove to their ranch home near Wildwood.

On Thursday the Wynne Hardware Company installed in the cook car for the S. P. gang of bridge carpenters a fine Charter Oak range.

Almond Wheeler and wife of Mankato, Minnesota, recently arrived here for a visit with Mr. Wheeler's sister, Mrs. I. H. Veatch. Mr. Wheeler is in poor health.

E. G. Hodson, deputy game warden was in the city Thursday returning from a trip up the Middle Fork, where he went to investigate some reports of violation of the game laws.

Phillips and Wheeler on Friday moved their office from the upstairs quarters in the Bank building to the small building owned by them adjoining it on the east, and are established in neat manner.

John Clinton, a young man from Coos county, has been in the city the past few days looking for a location. He is a carpenter. On the side he is looking for farming land to rent for a Coos county party, who desires to locate in this vicinity.

Mr. W. B. Root, our genial competitor and editor of the Nugget, has gone to spend the Sabbath with his family in Portland. It will be welcome news to the citizens of Cottage Grove to learn that Mr. Root contemplates bringing his family to the Grove soon.

Rev. Dr. W. A. Wire, presiding Elder of Eugene District, will hold quarterly conference services at the M. E. Church this evening. The Dr. will preach Sunday morning and special music will be prepared. Everybody invited. The pastor will preach in the evening.

The Original Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. J. S. Benson Pharmacy.

Pneumonia and Consumption
Consumption Threatened
 C. Unger, 211 Maple St., Champaign, Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption. I tried a great many remedies and I was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR. It cured me, and I have not been troubled since."
Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs
 A. M. Ake, Wood, Ind., writes: "Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages. I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble."
 Three Sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00. The 50-cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much. REFUSE SUBSTITUTES.
