SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1905

The Legislature passed resolutions of confidence in Senator Mitchell, but was painfully silent about others who represent the people and have also been indicted.

LOST THEIR TIME.

Those gentlemen who left their work and went to Salem to appear before the committee for the purpose of explaining the reasons and necessity of having that portion of the Bohemia district now in Douglas attached to Lane county, might as well remain at home. Owing to the great rush of business, the committee could not possibly spare ten or fifteen minutes to hear their statements. It is a misfortune that our legislators are so overworked during each session that the people cannot be heard.

The Linn county people have asked the legislature to set over into their county a portion of the Blue river mining district and use as an argument that it is as reasonable a proposition as it is to ask for a portion of the Bohemia district to be made a part of Lane county.

The conditions are entirely different.

Douglas county has made no effort to develop the Bohemia district. There are no roads running to the district from that county, nor is there a likelihood of one being built. It is putting in no money in the way of development simply leaving it to Lane county to open up the mines of the district, while on the other hand Lane county and especially the Eugene people have built roads to Blue river and have and are still expending money in its development. Lane county is making both districts accessible and in a condition to be worked and it is felt that it should be entitled to the results of its labor and expenditure of money.

The Cottage Grove Organization Seeks Benefit For the Town.
Eugene Guard.

The Cottage Grove Commercial Club is doing great things for the improvement of their city. At the last regular meeting, besides doing lots of work for their town, they had a heated discussion relative to the stand of the Lane county delegation in the present state legislature in regard to the action taken in pressing the passage of a maximum freight bill. It was the opinion that a more vigorous action should be taken and steps are being taken to bring about some such definite action.

Kay's bill for flat salaries has passed the Senate and will doubtless be concurred in by the House. The salaries as fixed by the bill are Governor, $5,000, Secretary of State, $4,500, Treasurer, $4,500, Attorney General, $3,600.

NO MORE STOMACH TROUBLES

All stomach trouble is removed by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It gives the stomach perfect rest by digesting what you eat without the stomach's aid. The food builds up the body, the rest restores the stomach to health. You don't have to diet yourself when taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. J. D. Erskine, of Allentown, Mich., says "I suffered heartburn and stomach trouble for some time. My sister-in-law had the same trouble and was not able to eat for six weeks. After taking two bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she was entirely cured. She now eats heartily and is in good health. I am glad to say Kodol gave me instant relief." Sold by The Modern Pharmacy.

Don't let the fruit pests run you out of business. See the Wynne Hardware Company for spraying supplies. We can furnish you with extra nozzles, hose and duplicate pump parts. Our Myers spray pumps and a ready mixed spraying compound are sure to give you satisfaction.

Surprised Mr. and Mrs. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Campbell were genuinely surprised at their home last Saturday evening by a large number of their friends. Mr. Campbell was not at home at the time of the invasion but the guests were graciously received by the hostess who summoned her husband home. The evening was spent with cards, music and dancing, after which a lunch was served by the visiting ladies.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Abrams, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. P. Hanrahan, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hohl, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Welch, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. William Garman, Mr. and Mrs. Lettroy Woods, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rosenberg, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Brant, Miss Stella Brown of Woodburn, The Misses Hohl, Sullivan, Margaret Wood from Eugene; Messrs. H. and F. Smith, A. B. Fannen, B. A. Miller, Thos. Jenkins, Chas. Brennan, W. B. Root.

Wanted as Witness.

Sheriff H. T. McCallen of Douglas county, came down from Roseburg last night and returned afternoon taking with him Dick Tapp. Sheriff McCallen said that Tapp was wanted as a witness to appear before the prosecuting attorney of Douglas county. When asked if it was in connection with the mysterious death of Nelson Elsen near Comstock recently he replied that he could not say at this time. The report was current about the streets that Tapp had been arrested on a charge of complicity in the alleged poisoning of Elsen, but the Leader was unable to establish this report. It was further rumored that officials were after another party in connection with the same matter, although this was more of a jump at conclusions than a fact so far as could be learned.

St. Valentine Mask Ball.

H. R. Berry has turned the management of the grand masquerade ball to be given on Tuesday evening, February 14th at the Opera house, over to the Cottage Grove Band. The prize offers and all the other arrangements that have already been made by Mr. Berry will be carried out except that the band will furnish the music. No one will be allowed on the floor without mask until 11:30 when the grand march will take place and the prizes be awarded. Dancing will continue until 2 a. m. and arrangements have been made for supper at midnight for those desiring it. Dance tickets will be $1.00. Good music and a rousing good time are promised to all who attend. The prizes are now on exhibition at the New Era drug store and will be distributed as follows:

To the best dressed gentleman, shaving set valued at $6; to the best dressed lady, manicure set, valued at $6; to the best gentleman waltzer, camera, valued at $2.

Mrs. Kishah Hobson, better known as "grandmother Hobson" who resided with her son-in-law, John Trunnell, up Coast Fork, died on Thursday and Friday was buried in the Sears cemetery. Mrs. Hobson was 79 years of age at the time of her death and was born in Indiana. She crossed the plains with her husband, James Hobson in 1853, coming to Oregon. In 1860 they went to California returning here in 1889 where she has since resided.

Mr. G. B. Hengen, vice president, secretary and treasurer of the Oregon and South Eastern railway company and secretary and treasurer of the Oregon Securities Mining Company, accompanied by Mrs. Hengen, arrived in the city Friday afternoon from his home in New York City. Mr. Hengen comes to spend a few days in looking over the affairs of the companies and will visit the mines at Bohemia and see the improvements made on the surface as well as under ground since his last visit.

Not a large, but select and highly appreciative audience assembled at the Methodist Church on Friday evening to attend the musicale given by Miss Nellie Richmond, assisted by her pupils. The numbers were carefully selected and of a high order, consisting of duets, solos, and instrumental music. It is unnecessary to make distinctions where all did so well, and is sufficient to say that Miss Richmond continues to sustain the high opinion entertained of her as a successful teacher, which was fully justified by the entertainment afforded on this occasion. The church was handsomely decorated with palms and crimson carnations.—Fossil Journal.

Woodburn Independent.

A young married man, in a letter to The Morning Oregonian, speaks of being out of employment and refers to either getting remunerative work, joining the rockpile or becoming an authority on the hereafter. He says in part:

What is a man to do who has been continually on the hunt for work for two months without success? A man of 24 years of age, with a wife and a sum total of $1.20 in his pocket; no relatives or no friends in the country, willing to work at anything and capable of tackling several lines of business.

Yet, if that young man were offered employment on a farm or in some small town he would demur on the ground that he does not want to leave a city. He desires to live in crowded Portland and talks of starvation, but shudders at the thought of forsaking the fascinations of city life and going into a rural section where there are better opportunities to succeed. His case is not an isolated one. He is anxious for work, hunts earnestly for pittance, but will not extend his search outside of the city boundaries. Crowds are his delight. He's got 'em.

Mrs. Delure Hemenway on last Saturday evening gave a pleasant party at her home in honor of Misses Grace Lincoln and Marguerite Jones. After spending an enjoyable time at whist and other games, a guessing contest was participated in, which comprised a series of newspaper and magazine advertisements without the names of the firms included. These latter were to be supplied by the contestants. Miss Lindsey Welch and Ren Sanford carried off the honors while Miss Winnie Landess and Dan Thomas were awarded the consolation souvenirs. During the evening Miss Welch entertained the company with some select solos. Refreshments of fudge and other confections were served. Those present were: Misses Belle Burkholder, Grace Lincoln, Marguerite Jones, Eugene Vandenberg, Grace Trunnell, Winnie Landess, and Lindsey Welch, Messrs. Ren Sanford, Merie Seville, Dan Thomas, Chester Vandenberg and Will Sherwood.

UNCLE SAM'S WORKERS.

Our Government is a Very Large Employer of Labor.

From the statistics given in the official register of the government it is shown that the United States is a very large employer of labor.

During the year ending with June 30 last the persons holding government positions and drawing pay from the national government, except those holding elective offices, numbered 271,188. These government employees include those connected with the army, navy, diplomatic and consular service, the courts, as well as those in the ordinary civil service in the various departments.

Of this number about 134,000, or about one-half, have obtained their appointments under competitive conditions. About 80,000 are exempted from the competitive condition, being chiefly the soldiers and sailors, and 50,000 more are outside of the classified service, being chiefly those holding appointments in the small postoffices. The direct appointments by the president number about 6,000, and the selection of suitable men for responsible positions at the rate of nearly twenty for each working day is not the least oppressive of the president's duties.

More than 25,000 of the total are employed in the District of Columbia, and of these more than four-fifths hold their places as a result of competitive examination. If to this great army of government employees be added those who are elected to office, the enormous numbers of men and women who are employed in the various state and territorial governments and the city, county and township officials, it is not to be wondered at that the whole country is interested in elections and politics, for government touches every community in many places and all affected by changes in administration must of course be devoted to the interests of that party in which their fortunes have been cast.—Bangor Commercial.

Are Moon Craters Coral?

Everybody who has seen a chart of the moon as drawn by astronomers knows of the curious, irregular, ragged rings which have been called "moon craters" for many years.

Now astronomers have raised the question whether or not they really are the craters of extinct volcanoes, as has been supposed for so long. One of them asks:

"How would the ocean bottoms of the earth appear to a man in the moon if all our seas were to disappear?"

"Exactly as the moon craters look to us," is the answer.

So now some of the astronomers are interested in the attempts to prove that the moon's curious surface is not at all volcanic and that the "craters" are nothing more or less than coral reefs and the remains of other coral-like structures which have been left high and dry by the evaporation of lunar oceans.—New York Press.

The Work Cure.

The "rest cure" has been worked to death, a good many sensible people think. There are high medical authorities who maintain that a "work cure" is what modern conditions call for much more than a rest cure, more especially among well to do people. The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal thinks it about time for a systematized method of treatment "which shall have work, either physical or mental, as its fundamental principle," for it says that "overwork, as the term is popularly employed, means almost nothing. It is the rarest possible experience to come in contact with a person who is really suffering from overwork as such." The men and women who have occupations—a good job that they take satisfaction in doing well—often do not realize that their work is their physical, mental and moral salvation.

Tapestry In a Statehouse.

The new statehouse in Rhode Island, says a trade journal, has a very large assembly room finished in white stone, with stone walls twenty feet high crowned with heavy moldings. Ten blank wall spaces presented a problem for decoration. Instead of painting them it was determined to use tapestry. The tapestries were made in an American factory and are so satisfactory that their use is suggested for large drawing rooms and halls. They are a series of pale landscapes in few colors and are connected with a series of white red curtains made to run across the tops of the panels. Tapestries are not used as much as they should be in this country. They are often a relief from pictures.

Howard Gould as a Spender.

Howard Gould has a large fortune, and doubtless it is well invested, but there is reason to believe it is not growing very fast, for his expenditures are enormous. Persons living near his country place, Sands Point, speak in awed tones of the money that is being expended there. The sea wall, they swear, cost him $4,000,000. His cow house, built of stone, cost $250,000, and his chicken house, also of stone, $150,000. The iron fence around the poultry yard cost $10 a running foot. The Killarney castle duplicate is to represent an outlay of at least $4,000,000.

Old Time Wall Paper.

A piece of paper was taken recently from the parlor wall of one of the oldest houses in Burlington, N. J., says the Wall Paper News and Interior Decorator, which is supposed to have been put on over a hundred years ago. It was covered by seven layers of wall paper. The layer immediately covering it was an old, striped pattern of a style that was in vogue fifty years or more ago. The original wall covering pictures the rescue of an exhausted Alpine traveler by St. Bernard dogs.

The Massachusetts State Building at the Lewis and Clarke Exposition will be larger than the pavilion the state erected at St. Louis.

The Woodmen of the World Chorus, of Denver, will compete for the choral prize at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Professor Gwilym Thomas, has been drilling the chorus for several months, which won first prize at St. Louis.
