Doings at the Capitol.

By Our Regular Washington Correspondent

Representative Hooker, of Mississippi, who passed through Washington this week, does not endorse the idea of dropping silver, and he strongly deprecates the fight that is being made on Mr Bryan he said:
"Silver has been part of the world's money since the earliest dawn of recorded history, since Abraham paid 500 pieces of silver for the land in which to bury his wife Sarah.
And why should there be this uproar against Mr Bryan? He has not been forcing himself on the American people since the last election. It was his privilege to take up newspaper work. He had to do something to support himself and his family, and there has been going about in a dignified manner. I served in congress with Mr Bryan, and there I gained a high regard for his ability."

The long-talked of order of the Postmaster General regulating second-class mail was issued this week. It doesn't regulate anything unless it be the consciences of the postal officials who winked at evasions of the law governing second class mail. It merely provides for an enforcement of the law which the Postmaster General and every one of his subordinates have all along been under oath to support.
If this order is strictly enforced it will simply prove what has been as plain as the nose on your face that there was plenty of law to shut fake publications out of second-class mail and only needed backbone on the part of officials to enforce it.

There is little that is new in the exposure of the methods followed in the distribution of the patronage of the House, made this week by the National Civil Service Reform League, but it is none the less disgraceful to the republican majority of that body which allows the stealing, for that is the proper name for receiving money and giving no pretense of return for it. Men are carried on the House pay roll who never even come to Washington, but have checks for their salaries mailed to them, and others draw salaries for work which they have others to do, paying them only a small fraction of what they receive.

The patronage of the House is not under the civil service law. It is controlled absolutely by the will of the majority, and that majority should be held responsible for the willful waste of the people's money, and especially those members who have held up the officers of the House and demand that salaries be provided for their favorites should be held up to the public contempt they so richly deserve. The weak spot in the long and detailed ex-posure is the careful avoidance is so palpable that it is clearly intentional.
Names are given in plenty but they are those of the little rascals. A proper exposure would have given the names of those who made the investigation for the C S R L were a little bit afraid to attack the Congressmen by name.

Saved Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs W Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr King's New Discovery.
Our niece who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by J P Currin. Trial bottles free.

BEAR OR HUMAN—The Fitchard-Saltzman party who were camped at the Mill's cabin on Warehouse Creek for a few days last week came to town Monday, bringing with them what was supposed to have been the remains of a human hand severed at the wrist. The find was given over to Dr Wall of this city who pronounced the find a part of a woman's hand. Sheriff Withers and deputy prosecuting attorney Harris were summoned and went up to the scene of the supposed murder to investigate where it is hoped they will clear up the mystery. The supposed hand which consists of the bones and ligaments only, the first joints being severed, have been shown to a number of old hunters and trappers, some of whom emphatically pronounced the specimen to be the forefoot of a bear with the first joints severed in order to detach the claws with the hide. This seems to be the most plausible theory as it is known that an old hunter and trapper made the cabin his headquarters this spring.

TO MINE COAL—A joint stock company has been organized at Astoria with a capital of $150,000 for the purpose of mining coal in what is known as the Kinney Coal fields in Tillamook and Clatsop counties. The coal is said to be of superior quality and the different veins are from 2 to 4 feet in width and are within a mile or so of deep water.
