What Do Your Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about 1/2 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

Columns has been written upon the advantages of trading with home merchants and home institutions; arguments have been produced to convince the people that patronizing home industries is not only a duty but an advantage; and home institutions have ever held out inducements that should be seductive, still people send thousands of dollars abroad annually for commodities that could be bought as cheaply at home where the purchaser has the advantage at all times of seeing what he buys and knowing that if it is unsatisfactory he can have it exchanged at the home dealer's. There is some reason for this trading abroad which dealers could overcome by setting the example themselves of always patronizing home concerns which they too often overlook. If the merchant wants a dress suit or some specially attractive garment for himself or family, it is too often the case that he sends away for it. If he desires to furnish his house he overlooks the facts that his home furniture dealer is prepared to supply him either from his goods in stock or through special orders and goes to the large cities for his house decorations. If he requires stationery in his business sometimes he forgets the home printer and sends away, half the time getting inferior work at advanced price. Another thing some dealers overlook too is to invite custom through a medium that reaches all—the local paper. They have goods on their shelves that are seductive and their prices are right, still the consumer does not know it, and on receipt of a catalogue or pricelist from some foreign establishment gives it his order, whereas a well arranged advertisement placed in the family paper by the local merchant telling what he has and its price would nine times out of ten have brought the order to him. It is not, therefore always the fault of the consumers that trade which naturally belongs at home goes abroad.—Ex

An eccentric Minneapolis millionaire has left a will directing that his money be burned. How can it be? Gold won't burn and the value of any paper burned will simply revert to the United States or to the bank that issued it. The only way money can be destroyed is by throwing the metal overboard in mid-ocean.
