THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

President Roosevelt's first message to congress contains much that can be commended by members of all parties.

After paying a high compliment to his predecessor he discusses the question of anarchy at some length and proposes certain remedies. His recommendations on the Chinese question are welcome; they will insure a prompt extension of the Chinese exclusion act. While many of the republican leaders lean to the cheap labor side of the Chinese question, there will be enough republicans ready to act with the democrats to make futile any attempt to open our doors to Chinese emigration.

His comparison between the granting of "perpetual water rights to others than the users" and the "giving away of perpetual franchises to the public utilities of cities" is just and timely. His indorsement of the Monroe doctrine is emphatic and comprehensive. His remarks on the labor question indicate that he has a clearer conception of the laborers' struggles and difficulties than some previous presidents; his plans, however, for the amelioration of the condition of the laboring man are open to discussion.

The president has stated his position with clearness on the general subject of emigration and on the subject of civil service, and he pledges his administration to make the appointments in the army and navy depend upon merit and not upon personal, political or social influence. He gives considerable attention to the size of the navy, and urges a considerable increase in the naval strength of the nation.

Scant attention is given to the money question less than three hundred words are used to set forth the president's position on a question which the republican papers declared to be paramount in the last campaign.

The president's recommendation in regard to an isthmian canal also follows the republican platform and leaves out all mention of the route to be followed. There is a wide spread opinion that the Panama canal project has been used by the railroads to prevent the digging of the Nicaragua canal. The message indicates that the president appreciates the importance of the canal, and this gives us some room to hope that even though he does not specifically indorse the Nicaragua route, he will not permit the railroads to further delay the inauguration of this great enterprise. —Extracts from Bryan's comments.

The condemnation of Commodore Schley by the court of Inquiry is to be regretted. It is purely a personal attack and should not be sanctioned by any government. In the hearts of the American people Schley will rank with Dewey at the head of the list of America's greatest men.

Mines and Mining.

During the winter preparations should be made for the active development of mining claims next spring. Necessary machinery should be ordered without delay that it may be installed early. It is poor policy to defer preliminaries until work should begin and then wonder why a half developed prospect next fall attracts no attention.

THE GREAT NORTHERN.

Some very fine samples of ore from the Great Northern mining claim in Bohemia was on exhibition in town Wednesday. A small piece of the ore, no larger than a walnut was mortared and washed out and many colors almost as large as a pin head could be seen. This property is located on Elephant mountain and belongs to Mr S F Brund. The ledge is 4 feet wide and the pay streak is 4 inches. The assay from the pay streak shows the value of $2,500 per ton. Mr Brund is very enthusiastic over his prospect and the future of Bohemia.

THE REBECCA.

Mr O H Willard showed us a sample of very fine free gold from the Rebecca claim, this week. This sample was taken from the ledge a depth of only 20 feet. Mr Willard owns a group of four claims located on the Champion trail about five miles above the Warehouse, which are indeed very promising property. The gold in the specimen shown is visible to the naked eye and is enough to encourage Mr Willard to do some extensive development the coming year.

It was a pleased audience that assembled at the Y M C A last night to hear the concert by the Schubert Symphony Club and Lady Quartette. The entertainment was of a high order and merited the applause which was accorded every number. —The Sioux City Daily Tribune.

This company will appear at the Opera House in this city on the evening of Dec 31. The company comes here in the interest of our public schools. Prof Briggs is deserving of much praise in securing such a high class company.

Editor C W Wallace, of the Cottage Grove Leader, was in town Saturday with the football team. During a fraternal call at this office we learned that the new telephone line to the Bohemia mines is in successful operation with seven 'phone along the route. The preliminary survey for the proposed railroad is nearly finished and the people there have great confidence that the road will be built the coming year.—Review.
