FRIDAY, - - - - JAN. 3 1902.

With this our first issue in the new year we wish all our readers "a happy new year." It is our purpose during this year to work, as we have in the past, for the advancement of our little city. That will be for your interests. No other town in the state has a more promising future than Cottage Grove, and when her numerous resources become known abroad, good results are sure to follow. There is no better way to inform the outside world of these facts than through your home paper. Letters of inquiry are constantly pouring into this office and we answer them with a copy of the paper.

Now at the beginning of the new year let every one come to the front and all work together for the interests of the town we live in. The Leader is going to be a "leader" in this work and we want your support. If you have friends in the east who you would like to have know more of this section, send them the paper, you will never miss the small sum it costs you and at the same time you will be helping us to eat and have clothes to wear while we are at work.

During the year 1901, just closed County Judge H R Kincaid, as Probate Judge, has acted on the administration and settlement of about 150 estates of deceased persons, requiring several hundred orders to be recorded by the county clerk, which keeps one deputy busy nearly all the time. It is estimated that during every 25 years nearly all the property passes through the Probate Court. During the year sixteen persons have been brought before the County Judge on sworn complaints charging them with insanity. Eleven of this number committed to the insane asylum and five were discharged as not fit subjects for the asylum. One person for whose arrest a warrant had been issued on a charge of insanity committed suicide before the sheriff could arrest him. Nine persons have been admitted to citizenship by the County Judge the names of two children have been changed and given to persons who adopted them, and two were sent to the Boys and Girls Aid Society at Portland. Several civil suits for small sums were disposed of and judgments rendered by default. The business of the County Court composed of the County Judge and two County Commissioners, consists in attending to building and repairing roads and bridges, auditing accounts and managing the financial and business affairs of the County, a statement of which, or the expenditures incurred, has been published monthly in the daily papers. At the next term of the County Court beginning next Wednesday, January 1, all the Judges and Clerks of election for Lane County for the next two years will be appointed. There are 52 voting precincts in the county. Six Judges and clerks are to be appointed in each precinct, making a total of 312 in the county.

Doings at the Capitol.

By Our Regular Washington Correspondent.

Affairs at the White House have taken a peculiar turn of late and some of the idiosyncracies which were expected of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt when he first became President have appeared. This was particularly noticeable in his final disposition of the Schley affair. His attitude in the matter was autocratic in the extreme. It cannot be denied, of course, that General Miles had violated a technicality, but while he had, perhaps, laid himself open to mild reproof there was no ground or precedent for the drastic reprimand which the President saw fit to administer, and many who know Mr. Roosevelt believe that he permitted his annoyance over the entire Navy Department wrangle to lead him beyond the dictates of his more deliberate judgment.

This belief is carried out by the scene which occurred in the White House the day that the reprimand was made public. General Miles called at the White House, presumably with a view to ward off a public reprimand, when he was met at the entrance to the President's reception room by the President himself. Without regard to the number of people present, without even closing the door, the anti-room being full of newspapermen, the President proceeded to "scold" the General Commanding the Army in a manner that would have been of questionable dignity had General Miles been a West Point cadet and evidenced a sad lack of appreciation of the dignity of his own position and the courtesy do to the General's rank. A Senator who was present, and who is a warm friend of the President, said "It is a great pity. The President was simply mad, and gave away to his feelings, but it is just like him, as he used to be."

Immediately upon the heels of his interview came a serious affront to Secretary Long. Acting probably upon impulse the President instructed Secretary of War, Root, to make public the letter calling upon historian Maclay for his resignation and signed by Secretary Long. As soon as he returned to the War Department Secretary Root gave out typewritten copies of the letter to the newspapermen who immediately took them to the Secretary of the Navy to ask for an expression of opinion from him. He positively declared that no such letter had been written and that the copy was spurious. He imagined that the newspapermen were laying a trap for him. Later he learned that the President had authorized the publication of the letter and had to explain that when he denied its authenticity he did not know that the President had decided to send it. Mr. Roosevelt also explained that he had instructed Secretary Root to make it public and had forgotten to advise Mr. Long.

Another instance of the President's peculiarities is the case of Secretary Gage who has denied his resignation continuously. The President when asked on Monday about the Secretary's resignation said that he had never seen it and yet it is known that Governor Crane was offered the position by the President, personally, early last Friday. The President might as well have said that he has offered Mr. Gage's position to another without asking for his resignation. What prevents Gage from sending in his resignation now and at the same time making it public so, in as far as possible, to save his dignity, it is difficult to understand.

Finds way to Live Long.
The startling announcement of a discovery that will surely lengthen life is made by editor O H Downey of Churubusco, Ind. "I wish to state," he writes, "that Dr Kings New Discovery for Consumption is the most infallible remedy that I have ever known for Coughs, Colds and Grip. It is invaluable to people with weak lungs. Having this wonderful medicine no one need dread Pneumonia or Consumption. Its relief is instant and cure certain." Currins Drug Store guarantee every 50c and $1.00 bottle, and give trial bottles free.

MOTHERHOOD

The greatest ambition of American men and women is to have homes blessed with children. The woman afflicted with female disease is constantly menaced with becoming a childless wife. No medicine can restore dead organs, but Wine of Cardui does regulate derangements that prevent conception; does prevent miscarriage; does restore weak functions and shattered nerves and does bring babies to homes barren and desolate for years. Wine of Cardui gives women the health and strength to bear healthy children. You can get a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui from your dealer.

WINE OF CARDUI

148 Market Street, Memphis, Tenn., April 14, 1901. In February, 1901, I took one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Theodor's Black-Draught. I had been married fifteen years and had never given birth to a child until I took Wine of Cardui. Now I am mother of a fine baby girl which was born March 31, 1901. The baby weighs fourteen pounds and I feel as well as any person could feel. Now my home is happy and I never will be without Wine of Cardui in my home again. Mrs. J. W. C. SMITH.

It never was of any consequence how the court of inquiry decided the affair. The American people long ago exonerated Schley of any and all charges. They gave him credit for the victory. Neither does it matter now how the president treats Secretary Long's acceptance of this report. The Dewey report suits them.

Nobody will have to ask Governor Geer to "go way back and sit down" at the state republican convention should he bob up for renomination. There will not be a Simon or a Geer delegate sent from Multnomah county.—Sentinal.

Instead of a population of 1,250, which we have this new year's day, next year let's have 5,000. The Leader is going to work for that. Will you help us?

Of course the constitution follows the flag, but it stays a good way behind in Puerto Rico and the Philippines.

The Secrets of Long Life.

ROYALTIES AND SMALLPOX.

Smallpox has played sad havoc among European royalties throughout the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries. Tow of Charles I's child were carried off by the scourge and three of James II's offspring, including Mary, Queen of England, and spouse of William III. Louis XIV's son (the Dauphin) his grandson also Dauphin and his wife and great-grandson, Louis XV, all died of smallpox. Likewise Joseph I, Emperor of Russia, in 1730; Henry Prince of Prussia, in 1707 and Maximilian Joseph, Elector of Bavaria, in 1777. Two British sovereigns and very narrow escapes—namely, William III and Queen Anne.
