

THE SON OF EX- U. S. MINISTER TO ENGLAND
Commends Peruna to All Catarrh Sufferers.

Hon. Lewis E. Johnson

Hon. Louis E. Johnson is the son of the late Reverdy Johnson, who was United States senator from Maryland, also attorney general under President Johnson, and United States Minister to England, and who was regarded as the greatest constitutional lawyer that ever lived.

In a recent letter from 1006 F Street, N. W., Mr. Johnson says:

"No one should longer suffer from Catarrh when Peruna is accessible. To my knowledge it has caused relief to so many of my friends and acquaintances, that it is humanity to commend its use to all persons suffering with this distressing disorder of the human system."—Louis E. Johnson.

Catarrh Poisons.

Catarrh is capable of changing all the life-giving secretions of the body into scalding fluids, which destroy and inflame every part they come in contact with. Applications to the places affected by catarrh can do little good save to soothe or quiet disagreeable symptoms. Hence it is that gargles, sprays, atomizers and inhalants only serve as temporary relief. So long as the irritating secretions of catarrh continue to be formed so long will the membranes continue to be inflamed, no matter what treatment is used.

There is but one remedy that has the desirable effect, and that remedy is

Peruna. This remedy strikes at once to the roots of catarrh by restoring to the capillary vessels their healthy elasticity. Peruna is not a temporary palliative, but a radical cure. Send for Dr. Hartman's latest book, sent free for a short time. Address The Peruna Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

DOES THIS CLIMATE CHANGE?

During the several very hot summers recently past there was a theory not infrequently ventilated that the climate in American cities had radically changed, and that hereafter very hot summers would follow each other without break. There was no escape. The general use of electricity was doing the business, says a writer in Brander Magazine. How electricity was doing it or why I do not recall hearing, but that was the all-sufficient explanation. I venture the opinion that not one in ten of the men and women who talked this nonsense had more than the faintest idea of what electricity is. But they were cocksure of the soundness of the theory. The summer of 1902 has knocked all semblance of integrity out of these unbaked theories and left us wondering whether there ever was such weather before. Probably there has been, and possibly not. I do not pretend to know, and I am not old enough to remember the rigors of that famous 1816 when there was frost in every month in the year. But I should not be astonished to live long enough to experience such a summer and to hear my good neighbors attribute it to everything from a changed climate to the revenge of an angry Deity. As a matter of fact I suspect that the climate has not changed, but is always changing, swinging like a pendulum back and forth; not, however, with the same simple regularity, but in some eccentric fashion which as yet we do not understand. These remarks do not mean that the climate and the weather are beyond the comprehension of men. Not at all. I believe that after these things have been under trained observation a sufficiently long time the present mysteries will be cleared away, and that we will understand much better than now many of the things that baffle us. I believe it quite possible that we may not only be able to tell what the morrow will bring, but that, to some degree at least, we may be able to control it. At present, however, the old wife in the country, the wisacre in town, and the government observer are pretty nearly on a par.

THOMAS W. RUSSELL.

Man Who Was Stoned by a Mob in Ireland at a Political Meeting.

Thomas W. Russell, the member of Parliament who was stoned by a mob after addressing a political meeting in Ireland, is a Liberal Unionist, who has sat for Tyrone since 1896. Mr. Russell has his own ideas about reform in Ireland. While aggressively opposed to home rule he has consistently advocated the purchase of land for the benefit of tenants with an indemnification of something like $700,000,000 for the landlords. During the home rule agitation, when Gladstone's bill was before Parliament, he was an ardent anti-home ruler, and threw his influence in the landlord party. Since then he has changed his face, and, while still opposed to home rule, he is the vowed enemy of the landlord class, and the most persistent advocate of the land for the people by government purchase. Mr. Russell is a native of Fife, a graduate of Madras Academy, and an unusually vigorous, powerful and original statesman.

T. W. RUSSELL.

Cruel Slaughter.

When you see a woman with a band of white plumage almost invisibly tinted with blue and green and more strongly with golden brown ornamenting her hat, know that from one to six of these harmless, lovable, sweet-voiced little grebes were stripped to supply it. And when you see that other woman wearing a cape the collar of which reaches above her ears to be made up of almost indiscernible sections the size of your hand, know that each section stands for the life of one of these charming little characters.

The breast of the grabe is its curse. Its feathers are so tiny and fine as to be almost spineless, so thickly set they stand on end, and so delicately colored as to render adequate description impossible. Crest grebes are killed without mercy for this little patch of rare feathering, and the little ones do not escape.

There is no bird slaughter for plumage more wanton, unless it be that of the egret which takes the life of the brooding bird for a few beautiful feathers found on the shoulders only at nesting time and leaves the young to die as they may.

Occasionally you see a girl who is nicknamed "Sunshine." The name may sound like a compliment in bleak December, but she has a right to sue her friends for slander if she is called the name in August.

You have probably noticed that when a man's grandfather fought in the revolutionary war he was an officer.

Life and Death.
Life, after all, is a masquerade, says a writer in the Pittsburg Press. We fear to show our tenderness and our love. We habitually hide our best feelings lest we be judged weak and emotional. Sometimes it needs death to show us ourselves and to teach our friends our deep and unsuspected kindness.

RHEUMATISM CANNOT BE RUBBED OUT

But a good liniment or plaster will often give temporary relief because it produces counter irritation or reduces the inflammation and soreness. But no sort of external treatment can have any effect whatever upon the disease itself, for Rheumatism is not a skin disease, but is due to an over acid condition of the blood, and the deposit of irritating matter or Uric Acid salts or sediment in the muscles and joints, and no amount of rubbing or blistering can dislodge these gritty particles or change the acid blood. Rheumatism often becomes chronic, and the muscles and joints permanently stiff and useless and the nervous system almost wrecked, because so much time is lost in trying to cure a blood disease with outside applications or doctoring the skin.

Rheumatism must be treated through the blood, and no remedy brings such prompt and lasting relief as S. S. S. It attacks the disease in the blood, neutralizes the acids, and removes all irritating or poisonous substances from the system.

S. S. S. strengthens and enriches the thin acid blood, and, as it circulates through the body, the corroding, gnawing poisons and acid deposits are dislodged and washed out of the muscles and joints, and the sufferer is happily relieved from the discomforts and misery of Rheumatism.

External remedies are all right so far as they go, but they don't go far enough, and you can't depend upon them to do the work of a blood purifier, and those who pin their faith to liniments and plasters as cures are bound to meet with disappointment, and will be nursing a case of Rheumatism the greater part of their lives.

S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, does not contain any Potash or mineral of any kind, and can be taken with safety by old and young.

Rheumatic sufferers who write us about their case will receive valuable aid and helpful advice from our physicians, for which no charge is made. We will mail free our special book on Rheumatism, which is the result of years of practical experience in treating this disease. It contains in a condensed form much information about Rheumatism.
