A Good Show.

The Clara Mathes Company have been showing to poor houses at the opera house this week. This is to be regretted for these people are without doubt the best troupe that has visited the Grove this season. Of course the prices are perhaps a little high and many people feel that they cannot afford a continuous attendance. The company never fail just the same to give a strictly first class show and are putting on some excellent all new plays and their specialties are also strictly first class without exceptions. Give them a good house tonight and you will not regret going. Miss Clara Mathes version of these semi-historic dramas is very perfect and as an emotional actress she has few superiors.
