Among the few bright spots in the financial situation is the fact that the scheme for the revival of the wild-cat banking system cannot succeed under any circumstances.

The Japanese have won another important victory over the Chinese, and if the latter do not expedite their overtures for peace they will soon have nothing left to surrender.

It has developed that the Omaha banks are hoarding gold closer than ever. The local banks have nearly $3,000,000 and are paying it out only on specific demand.

A new British torpedo-boat destroyer was tested a few days ago and attained a mean speed of over 29 knots. This is over 33 land miles an hour, the greatest speed yet reached on the water.

GRAIN APHIS FEARED.—The Corvallis Times learns that there is fear that the grain aphid will make trouble with the crops again this season. Among wheat fields in which their presence is reported in large numbers are those of R. C. Kiger, William Lott and A. T. Wilson near Corvallis.

CONCERNING ROADS. The following from the Tacoma Union applies with equal force to Oregon: Among the most important subjects for the legislature at the forthcoming session is that of roadways.

HEAVY IMMIGRATION ANTICIPATED.—Portland Sun: There is a great demand from the Eastern and Southern states to the Oregon board of immigration for information concerning this state, its leading industries, cities and population, together with statistics concerning its wheat and other crops.

The San Francisco Call, under its new management has been referred to by its friends as pursuing a "rosewater" policy and thus refers to it editorially.

The philosophy of the rosewater policy was embodied in a tale long ago by old Esop, when he wrote the immortal fable of the contest between the sun and wind as to which could most quickly strip the cloak from man.

Denunciation when it has any effect at all, serves only to excite wrath in the man denounced, to breed distrust among the people in regard to their neighbors, to destroy that mutual confidence without which there can be no harmony of effort, to divide communities into factions, and finally to produce so many recriminations and counter charges that the people, finding themselves incapable of distinguishing the true and the false, the good from the evil, become demoralized, so that public sentiment is lowered and indignation ceases because of the belief that after all a proven villain is not much worse than other men.

It is the merit and the glory of the rosewater policy that it reverses the process of denunciation and produces the opposite effects. It brings men together in confidence and harmony, elevates public opinion by setting before the people right ideals, confirms the just approval of right actions and so emphasizes the difference between right and wrong that, the moment a man is proven to be a criminal wrong-doer, there is a popular sentiment that at once awakens to indignation against the enemy of the community.

There are ideas conveyed in the foregoing that we can study with profit.

COURTESY BEGINS AT HOME.

Courtesy begins at home, and should be put on with one's slippers when the feet are thrust out of bed in the morning. Let me see a woman meet her servants in the morning, and I can tell you if she be a gentlewoman or no.

The woman who, on leaving her room in the morning, passes her housemaid in the hall without notice, unless to rebuke the girl for not having done her work before, is a boor, no matter what be her social status; and her fellow is the woman in a boarding-house who brushes past her neighbors without more recognition than she would accord a stone, and eats her meals in solid silence, which she usually considers dignified reserve.

Easy the pleasant recognition of persons with whom she is for the moment thrown in contact marks the woman of cultured heart as well as brain, and implies to further acquaintance unless it should be mutually desired. The woman who is afraid, on occasion, to speak courteously to a stranger, or proffer needed service or information, must be very uncertain of her own position.—From "Etiquette of Everyday Life," in Demorest's Magazine for February.

ROYAL Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report.

A GLANCE AT DOLPH'S RECORD.

How He Served the Northern Pacific in the Senate. Once at least in his career the Oregonian showed up Senator Dolph in his true light as a corporation senator. Beginning with the statement that "Senator Edmunds is conspicuous in his efforts to save the Northern Pacific railroad from the forfeiture of lands granted to it on the condition that the road should be completed years ago," the Oregonian of June 15, 1886, thus continued: "The government has been very lenient to this and all other land grant roads. The bill which Senators Dolph and Edmonds are trying to pass through the senate provides for the forfeiture of a small area of land along which that company has never built a road, and does not intend to, and is described by the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald as cunningly flung by the railroad lobby as sort of cheap tub to the reform while."

"If Dolph's little bill should become a law as originally introduced, it would, as several senators pointed out, by implication, declare that all the large remainder of the same company's unearned land grant was thereby confirmed to it. On the other hand, if it should be rejected, in that case Mr. Dolph may hope that he has consumed so much time with it that the chances of the house bill passing the senate are greatly lessened."

All this was, and is, true. By an amendment forfeiting only a comparatively small strip of land—between Wallula and Portland—to which the company, even by the greatest ingenuity of corporation lawyers and senators, could not possibly obtain any title, Mr. Dolph sought, by legal implication to confirm to that company all the other forfeitable lands—between Bismark and Tacoma—and so far has succeeded. In the debate on the bill Berry of Arkansas, alluding in particular to the unearned lands across the state of Washington, from Wallula to Tacoma, said: "This bill does not include all the unearned lands that were granted to the Northern Pacific railroad. A portion of the committee tried to put on an amendment including the lands which were granted to the Northern Pacific railroad on the land of what is known as the Cascade branch, which is not yet finished—it is not finished today—but the senator from Oregon refused every effort to include all the lands which are unearned."

Senator Van Wyck offered as a substitute for Dolph's bill the house bill, which simply forfeited all unearned lands according to the terms of the contract between the people and the railroad, but Mr. Dolph would not accept any such bill.

Let us quote again the Oregonian: "The fact was forced out in the debate that through the land which Mr. Dolph's bill proposes to forfeit the corporation has not even the intention ever to build a road, and that this land has been closed against settlers for a dozen years because the railroad would not go honestly to the land office and relinquish its claim on it. That would have released the land and opened it to settlement. Mr. Dolph was at last forced to explain that the company has borrowed money on land which it had no right or title, and if this land, which Mr. Van Wyck's second and very wild proposition proposes to forfeit, should be forfeited the company would be embarrassed."

Just consider this action of the senator for a moment—and doubtful readers need not take the word of the Oregonian for it. In this transaction which was Senator Dolph, an attorney of the Northern Pacific railroad corporation or a servant to the people? Settlers had been paying double price for land on the assurance of a contract entered into by the government that a railroad would be built through or near it. They were never refunded their money. The senator from Oregon had no service to spare for tens of thousands of deceived and defrauded settlers. But he stood up manfully, and, as it turned out, having plenty of corporate colleagues, successfully, in a behalf of the railroad, to secure Impartial writers say that the gold contained in the medals, vessels, chains and other objects preserved in the vatican would make more gold coins than the whole of the present European circulation. There are fortyseven Chinese temples in the United States, valued at $62,000, claiming 100,000 worshippers. Forty of these temples are in California, four in New York, two in Idaho and one in Oregon.

for it many millions of acres to which it had neither equitable nor legal title. But the company had borrowed money on it! W. Y., if one of Mr. Dolph's poor constituents had borrowed money and given a mortgage on land not his own, he would be sent to the penitentiary. But this corporation could borrow money on the heritage of the common people—lands of their own, but belonging to the people; and Mr. Dolph does not propose to try to make them pay the money and give up the lands; but he insists on giving them the lands—not because the company had earned them, but because they had wrongfully if not feloniously "borrowed money on them."

In the course of the same debate Senator Van Wyck said: "It is perfectly evident that it was intended to give an advantage to the Northern Pacific railroad; that it proposed only to forfeit what the Northern Pacific railroad company were willing should be forfeited. When the bill went into committee there was given by it a certain number of years for the Northern Pacific to finish their road. When it came out it had not that provision, but the author of the bill, the senator from Oregon (Mr. Dolph), refused to vote for the amendment, which the senate did approve, and gave as his reason that it would embarrass the Northern Pacific railroad if the grant for this seventy-five miles of unfinished railroad was taken from it. That was the position of the senator from Oregon. Therefore, I am justified in saying that the bill as introduced and conducted here on the floor has been engineered in the interest of the Northern Pacific railroad."

If Senator Van Wyck told the truth, and he simply stated record facts, whom was Mr. Dolph serving, the people of Oregon or the Northern Pacific Railroad Company? Mr. Dolph stands now just where he stood then—doing the service of this corporation and opposing the interests and rights of the people. In view of this record, is it any wonder there is a bolt against him? Is it not rather strange that he has received as many votes as he has?—Ex.

A LEGISLATIVE SESSION. PROVES more newspaper comment than almost any other subject of public interest. The last two Oregon law making bodies afforded much material for interesting discussion, and the next general assembly will be no exception of the rule. Whatever occurs the public knows that the DAILY and WEEKLY CAPITAL JOURNAL of Salem will give correct reports of its work as well as intelligent discussion of the same. If you want to know what is done, how it is done, and why, you should read the CAPITAL JOURNAL. It is the first Oregon Daily published on the Pacific coast, and is confined to the interest of the people. The Daily will be sent you a year for $3.00, four months for $1.00, or one month for 25 cents. The WEEKLY has been reduced to $1.00 per year. Like the Daily it is payable cash in advance, and no paper will be sent after your time expires. Positively "no-pay-no-paper." The JOURNAL is a modern newspaper run on modern methods. It is conducted in the interest of the people—editorially as well as in a business sense. Its editor being a member of the lower house, his editorial policy will be doubly interesting this winter. Order it at once.

A gentleman of this county who has excellent judgment remarked to us the other day that he knew of no pill, as good for constipation, dyspepsia and liver complaint as De Witt's Little-Early Bitters. For sale by J. P. Curran. It is bad enough to drink, it is worse to get drunk, but the depth of meanness is reached when a man gets drunk and shamefully abuses a good and loving wife. We have often heard it said that silence is golden, if we hear an evil report about a brother it would be bright golden to keep silent about it and not report it the second time.

Inflammatory Rheumatism

Much Treatment Without Avail. Hood's Sarsaparilla Effects Beneficial Change in Constitution. "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "Dear Sirs: At the age of 10 years I was confined to my bed with inflammatory rheumatism. I was treated by a local physician, but relief only came to me with the warm weather. For 12 years doctoring did me but little good. We read about the great change Hood's Sarsaparilla could effect in the entire constitution. We concluded to give it a trial and it has Made a New Young Man of Me. After taking the contents of these bottles I was able to walk a little. I have continued to take it and have not missed a day for six months. During the bad winter weather nor any time since have I felt any of the symptoms of the return of my rheumatic trouble." CHAS. G. FENSHER, Walla Walla, Washington.

THE EASTERN BLIZZARD. New York, Feb. 6.—This is the coldest day in 15 years. The mercury was not over 5 degs. above zero all day. There is a slight moderation tonight. Before the tide turned this morning the upper bay, from Liberty island to Batter wall, was a solid sea of ice. Traffic was delayed all day. Only one foreign vessel which was completely covered with ice. There is much ice in the narrows and lower bay.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Zero weather has been followed by a blizzard tonight. Bar Harbor, Me., Feb. 6.—This has been the coldest day ever known here; 16 degs. below zero and the wind blowing a gale.

Winstead, Conn., Feb. 6.—Twenty degs. below zero, and the coldest day for over 30 years.

Portsmouth, N. H., Feb. 6.—The thermometer is 18 degs. below zero here today.

Detroit, Feb. 6.—The thermometer registers 32 degs. below zero at several points in Michigan today.

Denver, Feb. 6.—The state silver league is in session here today. It, conjointly with the chamber of commerce, resolved that the administration, if it sincerely desired the export of gold, could do so in a day by paying our silver coin to credit ours. The relief would be permanent and prosperity can only be secured by the free coinage of gold and silver.

We wish to state to our patrons that One Minute Cough Cure is a safe and reliable remedy for children troubled with croup, colds, hoarseness and lung troubles. It is pleasant to take and quickly cures. For sale by J. P. Curran.

THE FLORAL GUIDE.—The Floral Guide published by James Vick's Sons, of Rochester, N. Y., is again at hand, and as usual is a costly and handsome publication of great interest to all who love flowers or are interested in gardening. This annual catalogue is invariably the largest and most expensive publication of the kind in this country. This year it offers several novelties, among which are the Vic's Branding Aster in several colors and rivaling carnations in size and beauty. Then there is the "Sun et" Hibiscus and a new Hypericum of great beauty. The Vick's have a new Sweet Pea, which is distinctly a double flower, and they are taking votes upon a selection of a name from half a dozen which have been suggested. The voters get chances of winning several prizes in cash for the best guesses at the number of votes the favorite will get. The guide costs ten cents by mail, but this price is deducted from the first order for seeds.

Now that the Oregon legislature is in session everybody will want to read a new paper printed at Salem, the capital. They will want a paper that gives all the news. The Statesman is just such a paper—bright, spicy, active, energetic, well-edited. It reports the proceedings in detail every day, not overlooking a single item in either house. Your senators and representatives were elected on a stated platform, pledged to carry out certain policies of reform. You will want to watch their course in the legislature and see whether or not they remained true to their pledges. The Statesman will give you all of this and more, too, for it is a newspaper in every sense of the word and every day of the week. The daily is 50¢ a month. The big 12 page Weekly is $2 a year—three months, 50¢. Address all communications and make all money payable to Statesman Publishing Co., Salem, Or.

Comstock Items. Ralph Clark, made a trip to Cottage Grove Wednesday. E. McBroom, of the Roseburg Review was in town Monday.

What we want is a direct vote for U. S. Senator. Mrs. Mary Spong is visiting with Mrs. R. H. Bartlett in Eugene.

M. F. Ambler and wife, paid Cottage Grove a visit last Saturday. Mr. Annie Long of Drain, was visiting Mrs. L. H. Calame the first of the week.

Steve Strawn, went to Yonocilla last Sunday to visit relatives. The S. P. section house has been undergoing repairs this week much to the satisfaction of L. H. Calame, S. C. foreman.

Four colored "tourists" gave our boys some plantation songs and sketches around a camp fire here last Sunday night.

The water supply here being inadequate for the demand, the S. P. company replaced the old pipe that run from a reservoir up the canyon to their large water tank, with new and larger pipe and now they have an abundance of water.

"The Plaindealer" of Roseburg, says a certain representative of Douglas county is showing good sense by sitting back, voting and saying nothing. Well said indeed; but the funny part of it is, that most everyone in Douglas knows why Joe don't say anything.

School opened Monday for one month, with Miss Dora McAllister of Drain, as teacher. This is to finish the last unexpired term discontinued on account of "back of funds" which, by the way, is a good illustration of what the large appropriations for state schools are doing for our public schools throughout our state. The state by making such appropriations menace our public schools, and hence do an injustice to the poorer classes who are dependent upon these schools for the education of their children.

And these very same country schools which, when conducted properly, should impart to them an education that would fit them to battle their way through life very successfully. In fact, prepare them as well or better than a great many so called "graduates" from a certain Normal school not a thousand miles distant; some of whom could not obtain a third grade certificate were they to try. Yet they are turned loose on us as teachers.
