A duel was fought on the streets of San Francisco last week in this closing decade of the nineteenth century. Think of that.

E. P. Thorp, of the Cottage Grove Echo-Lemati-Leader, in his paper of last week gives this city quite a nice writeup. Yet he complained of the unclean condition of the alleys, which leads us to wonder what he was doing in the back alleys when he discovered the disorders mentioned.—Junction City Times.

Brother, the mission of the Echo-Leader is to do good to all humanity. A man called to know if we could furnish him with old tin cans in which to start early vegetables to supply the Bohemia gold miners. They were not here. We went to the fair city of our brother editor. We heard some one say something about the "right smart chance" for a crop of empty tin cans there. A happy thought came to us. We would investigate the surroundings.

In going on the elegant sidewalk walks our eyes involuntarily turned to the well graded and magnificent drained streets. Then to the lovely residences upon well drained lots. Amid all the magnificent grandeur and great phenomenal charms (did not see the editor of the Times there, or we should have fainted at the sight of so much sweetness all in one lump) we beheld numerous empty tin cans sprouting among all the elaborate display of art and nature. We were fairly languishing amid the sunny rays and the enchanting, magnificent glory of the surroundings. Looking from the lots to the alleys we beheld a more numerous crop of empty tin cans sprouting than we thought it ever the lot of man to behold. Our eyes would not turn from what was forced upon them and it instantly occurred to us that our friends could perhaps negotiate for a few car loads of Junction City's sprouting crop of empty tin cans. Shake, brother shake.

"We take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is praised by all who try it," says J. W. Cox & Son, druggists, Marshfield, Oregon. No one afflicted with a throat or lung trouble can use this remedy without praising it. It always gives prompt relief. It is especially valuable for colds as it relieves the lungs, makes breathing easier and aids expectoration. A cold will never result in pneumonia when this remedy is taken and reasonable care exercised. For sale by J. A. Benson, Cottage Grove; Joe Lyons, Drain, druggists.

Call it Unprofessional. The Portland Sun, in its account of the meeting, says: "The City Press Club met in regular monthly session last night and discussed matters of interest to the craft. The matter of leaving the handles off the noses of doctors when making mention of them through the press was favorably received. Several members stated that many doctors who claim it is 'unprofessional' to advertise court the local columns of the press and get hundreds of dollars' worth of advertising gratis, when they consider it disgracing the profession to insert a professional card in the local paper."

There are 1014 patients in the insane asylum, which is the largest number that that institution has ever contained at one time. Of this number 700 are considered incurable and 204 doubtful, while 110 are thought to be curable. Of the patients received during the past eight years 44 per cent were foreign born, and about 71 per cent were males. It has frequently been asserted that in proportion to population, Oregon has more insane patients than any state in the Union. Figuring according to the census of 1890, this states stands about middle in the list of states in this respect. There are 362 convicts now in the penitentiary. The reform school has 114 inmates; mute school, 60; orphan's home, 27, and the blind school, 21.

Frank Sheparson, an engineer on the Southern Pacific Ry., who resides at Los Angeles, Cal., was troubled with rheumatism for a long time. Ashland Tidings: Grants Pass is a little excited, or a portion of it, by the fencing of its ground by the S. P. Co. Some people who supposed they held the title in fee to the realty on which their houses stood found one fine morning a gang of workmen building a fence thereon. One man's house is entirely on the right of way, and the line on which the fence was being built ran directly through the dwellings of one or two others. These indignant and proceeded forthwith to demolish said fence, throwing posts, boards and wires into the barrow-pits along the side of the track. This is hardly the right way to redress a wrong. If the land belongs to the company it will get it and fence it. If it does not, there are courts in the state established for the purpose of adjusting grievances between individuals and corporations. The trouble is similar to that at Medford recently. The property owners claim to have warranty deeds for the land while the railroad company claims it under the act of congress granting them a right of way 100 feet on either side of their track.

Last Wednesday evening about half past five at the girls' dormitory an alarm of fire was given. Some of the girls ran to the front door and called for help, others took to throw water on the flames that came up through the hall floor. By the time help arrived the fire was nearly out, but if it had not been discovered just at that time, the whole building would soon have been in flames. The cause was that one of the girls had been down in the basement washing and had hung some clothing near one of the furnaces, and the wind blew the clothing against the pipe and so caught fire. CAPTAIN JENKS.

The following small-pox remedy was given to the public by a correspondent of the Stockton (Cal.) Herald, who says: "I herewith append a receipt, which has been used, to my knowledge, in hundreds of cases. It will prevent or cure small-pox, though the pittings are filling. It will also cure scarlet fever. Here is the recipe as I have used it to cure small-pox. When learned physicians said the patient must die, it cured. Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove (digitalis), one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar. Mix with two tablespoonfuls of water. When thoroughly mixed, add four ounces of water. Take a teaspoonful every hour. Either disease will disappear in twelve hours. For a child small dose, according to its age. I countries would compel physicians to use this, there would be no need of pest-houses. If you value advice and experience, use this for that terrible disease."
