The first annual convention of Cottage Grove district Sunday-school was held in this city Sunday. One of the interesting features was turning the whole audience at the C. P. Church, Sunday morning into a mass meeting, forming into separate classes the old ladies, old gentlemen, young ladies, young men and the children.

The Echo-Reader sends many copies of the paper to hotels and to persons at his own expense, with the hope that many will appreciate the favor in showing the great opportunities this section of Oregon possesses. A long card, stupid idiot sends us a postal card that the copy we had been sending the St. Charles hotel, Portland, is refused. We suppose the moss hangs so thick on the walls of the old moldy, antiquated structure that no live person longer cares to stop there and of course a live progressive paper would frighten those who manage the house into the last agonies of hopeless despair. Great Caesar, WHAT NEXT?

Mrs. N. A. Spilman has given the editorial and business management of her paper, the Oakland City (Ind.) Enterprise, to H. B. Kepley, foreman of the office for the past two years. Mr. Kepley will make an able and popular manager and the patrons of the Enterprise will find it always retaining its high standard of excellence. The management of the Enterprise by Mrs. Spilman, has been a brilliant success, and its many readers will regret that the talented and eminent lady has decided to retire from the editorial and business management of the paper.

Eugene must be an awfully bad town. Sunday a minister made the announcement from the pulpit that he had authority for the statement that four men in Eugene out of five were socially impure. He mentioned no names.

Eugene Guard: Portland has furnished an "Open Door" refuge for fallen women. If the opinions of the moral wave agitators in Eugene are founded on facts we should have an "Open Door" for fallen men.

It is said that a woman can sharpen a lead pencil if you give her plenty of time and plenty of pencils. She can dance at night in a pair of shoes two sizes too small and enjoy every minute of the time.

She can appreciate a kiss from her husband seventy years after the marriage ceremony is performed.

A CORRECT CASE.—The cost bill in the Beckman murder case foots up $1938, without adding in the district attorneys fees, pay our jurors bailiffs, and some other items of expense. Over eight witnesses were subpoenaed, some of whom were never called to the stand, while considerably more than half the number knew nothing about the case. This reckless subpoenaing of witnesses is as bad as the much discussed legislative clerkship evil. No wonder then, Douglas county has a twenty-three mill tax law.—Roseburg Review.

Some of the small boys in town took a course of treatment this week for the glass breaking mania and from reports the disease is fairly under control. The boys admit that everything was fairly done, except the calaboose, which is poorly lighted and that the diet was too light, even for a hard time basis. If the boys heed this warning now, when they are men they will look back to the event as being the turning point in their lives for the better and will look back at the ones who have chastised them as being benefactors instead of enemies.—Jefferson Review.

WILL RAISE HOOS.—C. J. Fraker and father, W. M. Fraker, have bought the John Crews place four miles from town on the McKay. They have 90 acres of bottom land on which alfalfa will be raised and hog raising be entered as a permanent industry. Together with John Capp, they have a fine ditch about completed and will soon turn the 90 acres into a garden of productive-ness. The entire bottom can be flooded. The farm promises to be one of the best in Umatilla and the Frakers propose to spare no pains in making it a model ranch.—East Oregonian.

The annual district Sunday School convention of the Cottage Grove district met at the C. P. church in Lemati on last Sunday April 7th. The forenoon session consisted of the appointment of committees, the election of officers for the ensuing year as follows: Geo. W. Currin, of Lemati, President; L. E. Woolley, of Lemati, Vice President; and Miss Tilla Powell, of Hebron, Secretary. Then a mass meeting Sunday School, taking the regular lesson. The afternoon session was held in the M. E. church, consisting of devotional exercises papers and talks on different topics, and the question box, which of course was an interesting, important feature. The night and closing session was again held at the C. P. church, consisting of papers and talks again on different topics. This district includes fifteen Sunday Schools, of which six were represented, being a rather small per cent reporting, but yet we had an interesting, profitable convention, and we trust was enjoyable to all attending.

The reports of the city officials show that Eugene is in a splendid condition financially and in the matter of material improvements. Streets, alleys and sidewalks are in good condition, and the city is well lighted and supplied with pure water, taxation is low, a first-class sewer system has been initiated to be extended as occasion requires, the fire department is as efficient as can be made by active men and first-class apparatus, with water supplied by a gravity system. The bonded debt for sewer purposes is comparatively small. There is not a better town on the coast for home seekers and investors.—Eugene Guard.

FARMING THAT PAYS.—Samuel Smith, who lives near Coburg, a few days ago sold to Fisher & Watkins, of this city, eight head of yearling calves that averaged 700 pounds gross weight, for which he received the sum of $112. He pastured these calves on forty acres of fall wheat, and the grain is only better for such treatment. Mr. Smith says the calves made him more clear money than the entire wheat field would produce. This is the kind of farming that pays in Oregon or any other country, and such men's farms are generally free from mortgages.—Eugene Guard.
