The Riddle Enterprise estimates 700,000 pounds of prunes for its vicinity.

Portland Chronicle: Captain O'brien, originator of the late Daily Sun, is said to be making an endeavor to start another paper.

When Holmes was asked about his religion he promptly replied: "I am a believer in the teachings of Tom Paine and Ingersoll."

Indiana's corn crop is put at 150 million bushels and wheat crop at 21 million bushels. The former would be worth at prevailing prices, 50 million dollars the latter 13 million dollars, or about one-fourth the former.

A Chicago editor pays a handsome and deserved tribute to Oregon climate and women by remarking that "every lady is beautiful, for her complexion is as clear as crystal and tinted like the rose. For the climate does it."

There is a great deal said and written about the new woman, but it will be a long time before women will be new enough to wear out her bloomers sitting on dry goods boxes, squirting tobacco juice and making slighting remarks about the men that pass on the street.

An exchange says: "The fire loss of the United States amounts to one-fifth of the net profits of all the industries of the country. The insurance money paid in America is about one-half of the total throughout the world. This is chiefly pure waste and no reasonable excuse can be found for it."

The Salem Post editor has a decided advantage over the Journal editor during hot weather. Fletcher has enormous ears, with which he consoles himself he can keep the flies off, while the biggest part of Hofer is his feet, and they are absolutely worthless as fly protectors, so while there are no flies on the Post man the Journal is covered like the rest of us.

It appears that Holmes, the Horror has killed so many innocent people that he has actually confused the detectives and they can not sift the immense mass of evidence, having no sifter large enough. Hence it is feared that they will be unable to convict him. It reminds us of the old Fourth reader story about Alexander killing a hundred men in order to be called great.

The editor of the Benton, Ill., standard gives the following unique description of the new woman: Paul was a crusty old bachelor and he got off many impertinent things about women. The new women's bible will treat Paul as he deserves. The new woman intends to wear pants and hatch her offspring in an incubator. She will give milk out of a bottle with a Jersey label on it. She will lecture and ride astride and never marry unless she wants to. She will have her own bible and will fight man until he is extinct, and when the world comes to an end and Gabriel comes to toot his final horn, he will only find a lot of red-headed old maids riding on bicycles through the lonesome world, with no berries in the patch, no fruit on the trees, no babies in the cradle and the man in the moon a howling mamiac.

A exchange says: Declarations in favor of sound money continue to be made by bankers' associations in all parts of the country, says Bradstreet's. The bankers of Missouri, for instance, have adopted resolutions declaring that the banks of the state have their interests indissolubly connected with the financial prosperity of the state, whether they be farmers or manufacturers or wage-earners; that they believe it the interest of the people of the state to use in their business as good money as any other people in the world, and it is against their interests to use any depreciated dollar, whether it be of gold, silver or paper; that they are opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, unless the other leading nations of the earth adopt the same ratio; that they favor limiting the coinage of silver so that the government which issues it as money and receives it for public duties may be able at all times to maintain its parity or exchangability with gold and that they favor the preservation of the existing standard of values.

The World's Fair Tests showed no baking powder so pure or so great in leavening power as the Royal.*

NEGLECTED INDUSTRIES.

[S. F. Call.]

The energies which are being directed to the use of articles of home production have made a good beginning, and that is necessary to all great achievements. Our own people produce an astonishingly wide range of articles to which our consumers give no preference over similar articles produced in other parts of the world, and this in the face of the fact that the home-made articles are generally better and cheaper than those produced in distant States and countries.

But it is equally true that the manufacturers are neglecting certain lines of fancy goods in which the largest profits are made. This is stated clearly by the San Jose Herald as follows:

"When the dried apricots and other fruits of Santa Clara Valley can be sent to England and made into choice jellies with attractive labels, shipped back to the United States and even to California and sold at fancy prices, there should be no question about the profitable investment of capital in manufacturing such things at home. And this has been done for years and will doubtless be done again this year. No wonder that times are said to be hard when such opportunities of making money and employing labor are persistently ignored. Any country would soon be poor if it shipped all its raw materials to foreign countries to be manufactured and then brought them back again. And yet that is just what we are doing in Santa Clara Valley all the time. Somebody will come here some day and show us what we are losing by this policy. They will take our splendid fruits and convert them into essences, jellies and such like that will command wonder and admiration of the whole world, and bring such profits as our present fruit-growers and fruit-driers have never even dreamed of. Surely there ought to be somebody in this valley even now with energy and intelligence enough to show that old settlers can do as much as newcomers.

The Call has frequently drawn attention to the fact that Crosse & Blackwell buy California dried apricots, ship them 6000 miles to London, manufacture them into marmalade and ship them back 6000 miles to California to be consumed. is it possible to imagine anything more deplorable? If this industry were one requiring a capital of prohibitory size, or if there were some secret or occult process in the manufacture of the article, there would be some excuse for our delinquency; but there is nothing of the kind.

One manifest reason why the manufactures of California are not preferred by our people is that they are staple, and thus are not easily distinguishable from the manufactures of other parts of the country. This is unavoidable, and the remedy for the indifference in choice is to be found in the education of the people on the lines pursued by the Manufacturers' and producers' Association. But this will never relieve our manufacturers of competition with outsiders, and while this is a wholesome state of affiairs it will always keep the profits of our manufacturers within the bounds which competition creates.

The great profits are to be sought in the production and manufacture of articles, mainly in luxuries, from which the element of ordinary competition is eliminated by the monopoly of a peculiar climate. Thus, while we have a monopoly in America in the growing of apricots we might establish a practical monopoly of their manufacture into confects. It is in the intelligent and persistent pursuit of this idea, applicable in more ways than we can at present conceive, and the large profits of production and manufacture are to be secured. He who has the originality to open new lines of development upon this idea is the most useful citizen, as well as the one who will secure the most generous returns from his enterprise.

Diarrhœa should be stopped promptly. It soon becomes chronic. De Witt's Colic & Cholera Cure is effective, safe and certain. Hundreds of testimonials bear witness to the virtue of this great medicine It can always be depended upon, its use saves time and money. J. P. Currin.

Protect the Fish and Game.

Shoot or fish only in the proper season and escape the game warden by observing the laws. Many states have new game and fish laws this year, and if you don't know them, send five 2c stamps for a copy of the Game Law issue of THE AMERICAN FIELD, 245 State St., Chicago.

ROYAL Baking Powder. Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report.

A JUST VIEW.

Editor Nunan, of the Grants Pass Courior, in one of his editorials in his last issue hits a most important subject so properly and fairly that we are constrained to reproduce it with the commendation of well said:

"A husband in a remote settlement of the Siskiyous stabbed his wife to death in a brutal manner last month because he believed her faithless. He also shot at the supposed paramour. The dispatch says 'the killing of the wife is to be regretted, but attempts to condone the crime. This husband himself, who it seems was a drinking man might have been untrue to his poor, unfortunate victim a hundred times and yet would not have been guilty by the same degenerate public opinion. The Courier would hang this wronged husband just as quick as it would any other murderer. These masculine laws of custom give the man all the license and yet holds him guiltless when he kills the poor woman. Where is the justice in this? No man has a right to take human life except in the very last stages of self defense. The world was big enough for this wronged husband and false wife to separate in. Now he's a murderer and it is said gloats over his misdeeds."

Called Him Down.

Pistol in hand, Mrs. Nelson Young, of West Palm Beach, Fla., asserted the right of a woman to wear bloomers without being made the subject of unpleasant comment. The lady, who is young, is an expert on the wheel, and everyday is seen "scorching" on the shell road that winds about Lake Worth. Mrs. Young rode attired in an ordinary custome until yesterday afternoon, when the villagers were surprised to see her go whizzing through the streets garbed in an up-to-date bloomer costume. Mrs. Young looked very manish in her close-fitting bloomers, but everybody admired her, save John McDonald, who spoke sneeringly of the modesty of a woman who appeared in such costume. When the lady heard of McDonald's comment she became angry and bloomer clad, she wheeled to his store and entered. She immediately covered McDonald with a revolver and demanded an apology. The pistol looked very ugly and McDonald apologized. He wrote a card for the local papers retracting all unpleasant comment. The affair has caused a great sensation owing to the prominence of the parties and to the fact that Mr. McDonald is a church deacon.

A Lover's Mistake.

A young lady in Portland feels very much aggrieved over the noteriety she has been brought into by the attempted suicide of a rejected lover. The high standing of this coy and extremely modest young lady is prominently brought to light by the Oregonian in the announcement that she stood as a candidate for the Goddess of Liberty in the Fourth of July demonstration; that she conducted a lean campaign and was chosen by a handsome majority and filled the position most acceptably. Of course a young lady who had had thrust upon her such high honors would naturally feel considerably humiliated to have published to the world that she had accepted presents galore from an ordinary engineer, and subsequently gave way to the wishes of her parents in having nothing more to do with so persistent a lover. The engineer no doubt has discovered wherein he had made his mistake, namely, in not having spent his hard earned money in furthering the success of some other aspirant to the position of Goddess of Liberty. A crushing defeat would have so angered her that she, instead of the engineer, would have been found in her bed under an easy stage of asphyxiation, with an American flag in one hand and a letter to the public in the other.—Pendleton Tribune.

Children, especially infants are soon run down with Cholera Infantum or "Summer Complaint." Don't wait to determine, but give De Witt's Colic & Cholera Cure promptly, you can rely on it. Use no other. J. P. Currin.

A young clerk while escorting a certain fair damsel home the other evening asked her what kind of "money" she liked best. Of course the blushing beauty instantly suggested "matrimony." Desiring to test her kowledge further, the young man of current funds and wildcat discounts asked. "What interest does it bring?" "If properly invested," replied the charmer, "it will double the original stock every two years."

Severe griping pains of the stomach and bowels instantly and effectually stopped by DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure. J. P. Currin.

QUICKSILVER AND NICKEL.

In discussing the production of quicksilver for the year 1894 the report of the geological survey says that the California output remained stationary but that the price declined heavily. The highest price during the year was $37 per flask in the closing months and the lowest $28.50 in January. About three per cent of the product was exported. The imports were practically nothing. Much interest has been aroused by the discovery at Cinabear in Texas of some deposits, but sufficient work has not been done to show the value of the find.

Discussing nickel it is said that the closing of the Gap mine in Pennsylvania, the production has become inconsiderable. The decline has been steady for twenty years. The imports of Canada and New Caledona were valued at ove $310,000.

The entire product of chromic iron ore comes from California. The product of 1894 was more than double that of 1893, but the price remained nearly stationary at $15 per ton; 3,680 long tons were produced.

Chromic steel in relation to armor piercing projectiles is very fully discussed. It is stated that the chromum does not itself increase the hardness of steel but in combination with other substances gives a superficial hardness equal to that of the Harvey process.—Western Mining World.

A LOST ART DISCOVERED.

Pittsburg Workmen Succeed in Welding Copper and Steel.

George Cromley, Cornelius Shay and John Ryan, iron and steel workers, have discovered the lost art of welding copper to iron or steel. They show several samples of the metals perfectly welded. The last record history gives to these metals having been welded was in 500 B. C. The value of the discovery comes in the fact that copper offers greater resistence to the action of salt water than any other metal. The Carnegie company has offered the men a big price for the secret. A shop has been fitted up for the men at the Homestead plant, where, tomorrow they propose to weld a plate of copper to an ingot of nickel-steel armor plate. The Carnegie company hopes to be able to cover all armor plates for the big battleships.

As the canning season has opened the following may be serviceable and timely: Chemists say that it takes more than twice as much sugar to sweeten preserves, sauces and the like if put in when they begin to cook, as it does to add after the process is accomplished.

Mr. A. A. Snyder, Supt. Poor farm, Winneshiek Co., Ia., says:—Last winter Mr. Robert Leach used two boxes of De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve and cured a large running sore on his leg. Had been under care of a physician for months without obtaining relief. Sure Cure for Piles. J. P. Currin.

The editor of the Democrat o Marion Ill., must have had a high old time on his last visit to Chicago, for in an editorial on the city he says: "The doubly distilled, essence of perdition is so overpowering that a visitor is soon passive and his higher sense is blunted to his terrible surroundings. He loses his natural attributes. Whiskey fails to intoxicate and water produces spasms in his abdomen"

BLOOMERS IN CHICAGO.

How the Unipue Club Disciplined Two Members.

The Unique Cycling Club of Chicago is all that its name implies. One of its laws is that on all runs bloomers or kickerbockers shall be worn, and two members who disobeyed this rnle recently met with a punishment that they will not forget soon. Union park was the rendezvous for the last run, and 50 members turned out. The president, Mrs. Langdon, and the captain Miss Bunker, observed two women wearing short skirts over their bloomers.

"Take the skirts off," ordered captain bunker.

"Indeed we won't" was the reply.

A crowd of two hundred had collected to see the start. The president and the captain held a consultation, and then, taking several strong armed members with them, fell on the skirt wearers and stripped them down to their bloomers.

"It was done in all seriousness," said Mrs. Langdon. "The club's rules are made to be kept and not to be broken. Why did we take off the skirts in public? For no other reason than to make examples of the offenders. They publicly defied our rules and were punished accordingly."

Western Mining World: One of the most serious evils to mining is the practice of presenting mines to the public at enormous prices. Often an examining engineer is compelled to condemn a mine because of the price at which it is presented. Many good prospects remain undeveloped for the same reason. It is the favorite field of the mining shark, and it is here his fangs sink deepest. Every extensive mining camp is infested with these men; nor are they confined to mining districts alone, but may be found in all sections, especially in all large business and speculative centers. Let owners of mining property place legitimate and reasonable prices on their possessions and allow a liberal commission to the promoter on the purchase price, and this evil will be speedily remedied.

A silk gown will be more of a luxury next winter than it has been for several years. There has already been a great advance in the price of raw silk, and the increased value will reflect upon retail prices this coming fall and winter. The well dressed lady, who will be the first person to protest over the increased prices, will probably not believe that she has brought this unwelcomed rise in the value of the queen of dress goods upon herself. The popularity of silk waists with enormous puffed silk sleeves, silk underclothes, and silk petticoats, during the past two years created a demand for silk that has been unprecedented in the memory of the oldest dry goods dealer. Silk goods have been as cheap as woolen goods, and, in anticipation of a continued demand, the importers have raised the price of raw silk.

A lady died the other day in England and in her will it was found that she had left the whole of her fortune amounting to $50,000 to the local newspaper, the perusal of which had given her many happy hours. The example of this lady is worthy of emulation, but we do not ask it of our friends. In fact we do not wish to see them die.—Eugene Register.

LIGHT... RUNNING PLANO BINDERS MOWERS HEADERS

PLANO STORED POWER Furnished by the "Plano" Fly Wheel, is the greatest improvement ever made in Self-Binding Harvesters...

THE PLANO LEADS Because IT IS THE BEST!

THE FLY WHEEL Gives it steady motion in tangled grain, and on rough, uneven ground; causes it to run lightly over soft places, makes it run one horse lighter draft and bind a bundle after the team stops.

More Jones Steel Headers Sold in '94 than all others combined.

You should see the JONES CHAIN MOWER before you buy. Simplest, longest lived and lightest draft mower in the world. Never out of repair. No gears to wear out, no friction, no noise, nothing to make the farmer "cuss." Chain Power runs the great Ferris wheel. This proves its strength. Bicycles are Chain Drive. Why? Light draft!
