Never give a joke if you can't take one.

Let us never stop rustling for Lane county. There will be a large immigration in the next few years.

Mr. Ross, the Evangelist, says that the cause of hard times is not the wages of laborers, but the wages of sin.

Notwithstanding the wonderful riches which the Bohemia district has already produced the work of development is yet in its infancy.

Simultaneously with the reduction of Portland's police force comes the announcement that there are no gambling houses running in Portland.

East Oregonian: The ground squirrel eats the farmers' grain, the bee moth spoils his honey, the campaign liar fills him full of pain and the taxer gets his money.

With a majority of our farmers the hog should pay the grocer, the physician, the taxes, the interest, clothes the family and practically supply the table with meat.

S. F. Call: Sir Edwin Arnold boasts that he has written more than 8000 editorial leaders averaging over a column in length in the course of his work for the London Telegraph.

Lane county at the present time has an indebtedness of $17,000, while three or four years ago it was in debt between $40,000 and $50,000. Thus far only about one-third of the taxes for 1895 have been collected.

It is this fact that gives to Bohemia mines their extraordinary value. Once upon a good vein or ore body, and it is almost inexhaustible, while in many mining regions the tendency of the vein is to run out when a certain depth has been reached.

According to accounts given by Eastern papers the bloomer given in that section are not last year's bloomer girls by any means, but brand-new ones and much more stunning.

An exchange says to its delinquents, "if one starts to pay his debts it puts a row of men, half a mile long in motion, each one starting to pay his. It may be you are the man in the row that has stopped the motion. If you owe one pay him."

The mining business is full of surprises, and the men who strike it rich and make the most money are often the very ones who least expect it; but intelligence, business management, and nerve invariably win in mining as well as in other lines of business.

Across the sea comes the news that the Yankee boys have knocked out the athletes of the world in the games in the old stadium where twenty-five hundred years ago gathered once in seven years the flower of the athletic world and competed for a mere garland, a greater prize than millions. It is claimed the Yanks could beat the boys of those days even. Isn't that American glory?

Surge DEATH.—A fruit grower who knows what he is talking about says that spraying with fluids only reaches the tops of the leaves and doesn't get the insects sheltered on the under side. He takes a coal oil can, puts live coals in the bottom and sprinkles flour sulphur after setting the can under the tree. This makes the aphid, the codlin moth, the San Jose scale and the bud bug turn up his toes right away. Try it, but don't breathe the vapor from the can.

Did You Ever Try Electric Bitters as a remedy for your troubles? If not, get a bottle now and get relief. This medicine has been found to be peculiarly adapted to the relief and cure of all Female Complaints, exerting a wonderful direct influence in giving strength and tone to the organs. If you have Loss of Appetite, Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, or are Nervous, Sleepless, Excitable, Melancholy or troubled with Dizzy Spells, Electric Bitters is the medicine you need. Health and Strength are guaranteed by its use. Fifty cents and $1.00 at J. A. Benson's Drug Store.

It seems that a 25 cent piece is about the most unlucky article a man can carry. On the American quarter-dollar there are 13 stars, 13 letters in the scroll held in the eagle's beak, 13 marginal feathers in each wing, 13 tail feathers, 13 horizontal bars, 13 arrow heads, and 13 letters in the words quarter-dollar. These 25 cent pieces, unlucky and curse laden as they are, are gratefully received by newspaper men. If our readers have any such 25 cent pieces they can get rid of them at THE LEADER's office at par.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. Borden's Gold Medal Malted Flour, San Francisco.

S. F. Call: That happiness is a matter of relative and not absolute condition I wish to prove by introducing the testimony of a farmer friend, who for several years and with varying success has been ranching down in the San Joaquin. "If I can get a good crop this year," he declared last fall after sowing his grain, "I shall be able to pay off the mortgage on my ranch, and when that is once paid I shall be perfectly happy." But the rains held off, the weather became cold and the prospects darkened. "If I can get even half a crop," declared my farmer friend, "I shall be able to meet my bills, square up some scattering bills and put in another crop, and I shall be happy." Dry weather set in, the wheat dwindled and the season waxed late, but my farmer friend still insisted, "If I can get my seed and feed back I shall be able to put in another crop, and my creditors will wait for their interest and bills, and I shall be happy." Then a norther struck that part of the valley, and blew his struggling crop all out of the ground or covered it deep with sand, leaving my farmer friend with his labor for his pains, but, meeting him, he said: "After all it will not cost me very much to put in a crop next fall, for there being no crop of stubble in the way. I can put it in with Randall harrows, and so long as my good old wife does not dry up and blow away or the mortgage blow off the ranch, defrauding my creditors, I shall be happy." This man is certainly not a calamity howler.

Condensed Testimony. Chas. B. Hood, Broker and Manufacturer's Agent, Columbus, Ohio, certifies that Dr. King's New Discovery has no equal as a Cough remedy. J. D. Brown, Prop. St. James Hotel, Ft. Wayne, Ind., testifies that he was cured of a Cough of two years standing, caused by La Gripe, by Dr. King's New Discovery. B. F. Merrill, Baldwinville, Mass., says that he has used and recommends it and never knew it to fail and would rather have it than any doctor because it always cures. Mrs. Hemming 222 E. 25th St., Chicago, always keeps it at hand and has no fear of Croup, because it instantly relieves. Free Trials Bottles at J. A. Benson's Drug Store.

There are medicines which change the action of organs and tissues. When a part does not properly perform its work, they restore it to health. Such remedies are called "alteratives."

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is one of these remedies. This is largely because of certain drugs which naturally exist in the oil, as iodine and bromine. If you are neither hard sick nor real well; if you feel below your usual standard, these alteratives will change your condition and bring back your health and strength.

East Oregonian: Recently a wild rumor was chasing through the atmosphere that Harvey Scott had dropped dead in Portland. Of course every newspaper man in Salem wanted to know right away whether there was any truth in the report, owing to the prominence of the veteran editor of the Oregonian. No confirmation of the report could be found in Salem, and finally a Salem Evening Post reporter determined to telephone to the Oregonian office in regard to the matter.

Repairing to the central office, he called up the Oregonian. It so happened that it was an hour when the editorial rooms of the great Portland daily were not occupied, and the amiable Harvey himself, happening to be present, answered the call. The questions propounded and answered were as follows: "Is Harvey Scott dead?" "What's that?" "Is Harvey Scott dead?" "Dead! Not by a d—d sight!" The reporter recognized the voice and dropped the telephone like a hot potato.

Middleburg Gazette: The bottom has dropped out of the market, growers are compelled to give their crops away, and the stuff fixed up in New York City by speculators and dignified with the name of a report, is simply rot of the most misleading and untruthful character. Sell your hops as quick as you can, for the most you can get, and for your own sake and that of your family, get out of a business in which you have no voice. This is the candid advice we feel like giving the grower, in whose welfare we are interested, and while he may not agree with us, we ask him to watch the future of the hop industry, and see who is right.

A Texas woman tried to convert a druggist with prayer, but failed. Then she tried a cow hide and succeeded.

Be "Stopped" the Paper.

A story told of Horace Greeley relates that an acquaintance of his became offended at one of his articles in the Tribune, went to his office and put an end to his paper. Later in the day he met the editor and said: "Mr. Greeley, I have stopped your paper." "Have you?" queried Horace, adding, "Well that's too bad," and the old white hat went its way. The next morning Greeley encountered his former subscriber again and accosted him with: "I thought you had stopped the Tribune." "So I did," "Then there must be some mistake," replied Horace, "for I just came from the office, and when I left the presses were running as usual, the clerks were busy as ever, and the compositor was hard at work, and the business was going on the same as yesterday and the day before." "Oh!" ejaculated the old subscriber, "I didn't mean that I stopped the paper; I stopped only my copy of it because I didn't like one of your editorials." "Pshaw!" retorted Greeley, "It wasn't worth taking up my time to tell me such a trifle as that. My dear sir, if you expect to control the utterances of the Tribune by the purchase of a copy a day, or if you think to find any newspaper worth reading that never expresses convictions at right angles with your own you are doomed to disappointment. The Tribune would not be deserving of respect if it could be coerced by the threat of the loss of one subscriber, or a hundred, or ten thousand, or every one it has to refrain from telling the truth as it sees it. My friend this is a free country, and the man that does not give freedom of opinion to others, does not deserve it himself. Goodbye."

Oregon Independent: During ordinary good times statistics show that each day's work produces two dollars for the workers and three dollars for the employers. The best estimates show at least 3,000,000 men out of employment all the time. Estimating that men work three hundred days in the year, at two dollars per day, the idle time represents $1,800,000,000 to the workers, saying nothing of what employers lose, which is $2,400,000,000. The gold in circulation being about six hundred million, the laborers could afford to throw all the gold in the ocean twice a year, and still have six hundred million left, without interfering with the employer's income at all; if we had money enough to do our business, saying nothing of the shrinkage in our real and personal property of one-third, or twenty billions of dollars. Who is the gainer by such an immense sacrifice?

A Canadian town recently had an example of the necessity of having good marksmen for policemen. A maniac had posted himself upon a street corner with his gun, and had already brought down one citizen before the policeman drew his bead upon him. But the policeman's aim was bad and he with five other men were shot before the maniac could be disarmed, a fact that plainly indicates that only good marksmen are fitted for police duty.

No Air, No Life.

Pneumonia suffocates, because the swollen tubes get solid, and keep air from the lungs. Dr. Acker's English Remedy reduces the inflammation, so the patient breathes freely, and is soon well.

The other day she glided into the office and gracefully and quietly approached the editor's desk. "I have written a poem" she began. "Well!" exclaimed the editor, with a look and tone intended to annihilate, but she wouldn't annihilate worth a cent, and resumed: "I have written a poem on 'My Father's Barn,' and—" "Oh!" interrupted the editor, with extraordinary equanimity, "you don't know how I am relieved. A poem written on your father's barn, eh? I was afraid it was written on paper and that you wanted me to publish it. If I should ever happen to drive past your father's barn I'll stop and read the poem."

Salem Independent: Yes, Oregon wants immigrants, that's what! And we can take care of a good many who can take care of themselves. This is the best country in the world to come to. We have the climate and brains. We have the soil, the cereals, the vegetables, and the fruits. We do want more people, but we need no drones nor paupers. We want people with some snap. We don't want people we will have to board at the county's expense. The prosperity of Oregon farmers in the future is going to depend on their running small farms, doing lots of work themselves, raising a big variety, and making everything count, being economical and careful and not reckless and careless. To get along a man has got to keep both eyes peeled. Bring on your industrious immigrants, and let some of them have factories etcetera.

Asst. Astorians. After giving hundreds of thousands of dollars to get the road there are now raising another $5000 in cash to get the right depot site. DEATH TO FRUIT PESTS. To make the orchard pay you must spray. Winter and summer with Prof. Brown's Insect Extirminator. The only insecticide known that will kill all insect life without injury to Tree Fruit or Foliage. Entomologists, the State Board of Horticulture of California, Oregon and Washington, have issued many warnings and instructions. My winter wash is the only solution that will kill the Woolly Aphis, and all insects except Woolly Aphis, etc. My summer wash is a sure destroyer of the Codlin Moth eggs, and all insects except Woolly Aphis, etc. The ingredients used in my formula can be found in any drug store, cost much less than other washes. Full and explicit directions for mixing and using. Known to have a sure remedy, some unprincipled parties are now selling imitations. Knowledge of such parties has been concluded (for a short time only) to reduce the price of the three formulas to $2.50 by mail to any address. Formally published January 14, 1896. By W. H. BIRD, N. Cotnamologist. P. O. Box 237, San Francisco, Calif. Mention this paper.

BETTING ON THE LORD'S PRAYER.

Not one in a crowd of notable men at the Builders' Exchange Friday could write the Lord's Prayer correctly, and when it came to writing "Now I lay me down to sleep," they simply flunked. It cost some of them money. Lon Megargee started the thing at the Pen and Pencil Club by wagering a bottle of wine on the "Now I lay me down" proposition. Those who lost—oh, rather, all but one of the several who lost—wrote it "Thee" instead of "Thee." The one man who got "Thee" all right made it read "my soul to keep," instead of "take." On the Lord's Prayer they were all wrong, and Col. Frank Hough had money to burn. Since that time the thing has been going the rounds, and about every other clubman in town has been illustrating what he didn't know about the Lord's Prayer, at so much per illustration.

Yorkers Statesman: She—I hope, dear, you were not thinking of business in church this morning. You know your thoughts should be of higher things. He—Well, I was thinking of that $22 bonnet of yours. Is that high enough, thinking you?

S. F. Call: Out of 281 beef cattle shipped from Australia to England by the Angers only 32 reached that country alive and it is believed the disease has killed the trade even more effectively than the trip killed the cattle.

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of an Execution issued out of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the county of Lane on the 20th day of March, 1896, on a judgment rendered in said Court on the 7th day of March, 1896, in which Richard White was Plaintiff and R. K. Whipple and T. M. Hunt were Defendants, and to me directed, commanding me that out of the personal property of the said Defendants, or if sufficient could not be found, then out of the real property belonging to the said Defendants on the 7th day of March, 1896, and of so much thereof as I might see fit, I should satisfy the sum of Five hundred, four and 30/100 dollars, with interest thereon from said 7th day of March, 1896, at the rate of eight per cent per annum and the further sum of Forty-four and 40/100 dollars costs, also accruing costs and being unable to find personal property of the said Defendants to satisfy said judgment and costs and accruing costs, I did, on the 24th day of March, 1896, duly levy upon the following described real property, belonging to the said Defendants on the 7th day of March, 1896, and subsequently, to-wit: That mining claim known as the Lucky Boy mining claim, situated about 800 yards northwest of the foot of Hambletonville mountain, also that mining claim known as the Mattie mining claim joining the said Lucky Boy mining claim on the north-west side, also that mining claim known as the Hardacker mine or mining claim, all situated in the Bohemia mining district of Lane county, state of Oregon. NOW THEREFORE, in the name of the State of Oregon and in compliance with said writ, I will offer for sale at the right, title and interest of the said Defendants, in and to the above described premises, subject to redemption, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash at the court house door in Eugene, Lane county, Oregon on Monday, the 4th day of May, 1896, between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M. until 1 o'clock P. M. of the said day.
