

OUR PREMIUM LIST.

As we are determined to double our subscription list to the CHRISTIAN HERALD during the next six or twelve months, and as we do not wish to ask any thing of our subscribers without giving them in return a fair equivalent, we propose trying the premium list for a short time. By this means we propose to pay every reader for the amount of work he does whether it be one name he sends or fifty. Hence we have placed nothing on the list but FIRST-CLASS, standard books, such as are in demand every day and that should be in the hands of every reader of the HERALD. This proposition is not intended to interfere with the appointment and work of any of our agents, but is made alike to all our subscribers. It will also give our agents an opportunity of procuring a good book for doing that which they would willingly do without a premium; but as they have been very faithful we shall not complain if they should be the fortunate ones. Let all our readers make a strong effort at once for this proposition is liable to be withdrawn on any day.

PLEASE REMEMBER

1. That the premiums are offered to none but subscribers and for none but new subscribers.

2. That the sum $2.00 must accompany every subscriber for one year. Two six months' subscribers will count one.

3. Your order must contain the money, the name and post-office address of each subscriber plainly written, and your own name and full directions for sending the premium.

FOR ONE NEW SUBSCRIBER WITH $2.00 we will send post paid direct from this office or the publishers either of the following books or tracts:

1. CONTRADICTIONS OF ORTHODOXY; OR, THE CHICAGO CONTROVERSY OVER SALVATION. It contains a history of the Controversy, the article on Modern Gospel Meetings, which aroused it, the reply of "Kaklem," the answers of the various Chicago clergymen to the questions of the Times interviewer concerning the mode of salvation, the most important sermons elicited by the agitation of the question, including those of Mr. Moody, Prof. Swing, Dr. Thomas, Rev. L. P. Mercer, Dr. Patton, etc., with a comparison of the whole with the Bible. It possesses the advantage of giving the views of leading men in the various denominations upon this important subject in their own words. Bound in cloth 50 cents.

2. THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL HELPER. By J. H. Hardin. A practical Hand-Book for all Sunday-School workers containing suggestions on all phases of the work, which should be read and consulted by all workers, and will result in giving new impetus and arouse more earnest zeal in teaching and leading the people to Christ. Also an excellent essay on "Christian Woman's responsibility in the religious education of the Young," by Mrs. O. A. Carr. 144 pages; price 50 cents.

3. MOODY'S THEOLOGY EXAMINED. By J. T. Walsh. This is a kind but searching inquiry into Mr. Moody's teachings concerning the terms of Salvation, designed to show that said teaching is imperfect and contradictory. Full credit is given to Mr. Moody for teaching much gospel truth with great plainness and power, but when tried by the teaching of Christ and his Apostles, his teaching is seen to be seriously defective. It is good reading—good in its aim, good in its spirit, and good in its freshness and piquancy. Altogether, it is a pamphlet that ought to sell, and should be extensively circulated. 106 pages; price 50 cents.

4. PROHIBITION VS. PERSONAL LIBERTY. By A. M. Collins. It discusses the following points: Introduction—The Liquor Traffic. 1. The Relation of the Liquor Traffic to other trades. 2. The Foundations of the Traffic. 3. The Despotism of the Traffic. 4. What the Traffic does for its Patrons. 5. The Revenue from the Traffic. 6. Rumsellers' and How we should treat them, etc. Price in cloth 50 cents.

The book is divided into two parts. Part I, containing the old standard hymns and tunes. Part II contains the popular hymns of the Gospel songs variety, and is specially adapted for use in Prayer Meetings, Sunday-schools and Protracted Meetings. The book is full of sacred songs selected from the vast treasure-house of Christian psalmody. It is meeting with the hearty approval of those who desire pure, fervent congregational worship. Word and Tune Edition. Bound in boards (wire stitched), single copy, by mail, 35 cents.

7. POPULAR HYMNS, REVISED. Note Edition; bound in boards,

Single copy, 30 cents. "I have examined the new edition of Popular Hymns with music, and I regard it as the best collection of songs and music for the Sunday-school that I have seen. It is also as well adapted to use in the Church as its limited range of church hymns will allow. In the adaptation of music to words, it excels all of our hymnals."—J. W. McGarvey, Lexington, Ky.

8. MODERN DANCING AMONG CHURCH MEMBERS, EXAMINED FROM A SCRIPTURAL POINT OF VIEW. By J. F. Floyd. Five copies, 10 cents per copy. "We think Bro. Floyd has done the Church of God a real service in the production of this tract. It is well written and full of the soundest and most wholesome food for Christians. We should be glad to see it in every household in the land."—Old Path Guide.
