Sec'y.; Jennie Bushnell, Treasurer; Vona Peek, Marshall; Allie Butler, Critic; Lucy Gard, Editress; Maggie Butler, Reporter.

PACIFIC COAST.

The condition of things in Northern Alaska is said to be alarming. Civilized Indians have armed against the authority of the Church of England Bishop, and refuse to receive the Indian Agent, saying their land was never paid for, and that they will defend it at all hazards. At Kitla, heathen Indians demolished the church.

Port Townsend claims to have a population of 1,800 people.

Two sawmills have gone into Coeur d'Alene mining district.

Commercial matters are active at Palouse City, W. T.

The ice harvest in Union county Oregon, is said to be ample.

Tumwater, W. T., has a Young Men's Temperance Association.

Father Wilbur, of Yakima, W. T., has raised money enough to pay the debt on the M. E. Church, at Pendleton, Oregon.

P. B. Johnson is writing a book entitled "The Pacific Northwest," which he is publishing by installments in the Walla Walla Union, prior to putting it between covers.

A petition to the President, favoring the re-appointment of Governor Newell was signed by 200 of Port Townsend's leading citizens, and mailed on the 23th of January.

Eastern Oregon fruit trees are unaffected by the frost.

Osborn is a new city in the Coeur d'Alene mines, two miles from Eagle City. J. A. Campbell, of this county, took out a $28 nugget recently. The snow is now so deep that it is impossible to get out logs for building material, and a difficult matter to get out or in the mines.

Tide flats near Tacoma are swarming with wild ducks.

Seattle has expended $100,000 in the way of water works since January 1883.

The piling, capping and planking of the last section of the Puget Sound Shore Line is about completed.

A large number of Scandinavians and Germans, from Minnesota, have recently come over the Northern Pacific and are taking up locations in the Big Bend country.

Since the last snow-fall in Coeur d'Alene mining district, flour has advanced to $85 per barrel; potatoes to $11 per bushel; eggs 50c apiece; butter $2.50 per pound, and meals $2.50 each.

Writing of the Indian school at Forest Grove, the Washington Enterprise says: There are in the school, at the present time, 152 pupils and fifteen employes in charge of the various departments. All of the children are required to attend school one-half of the day and work the other half. There is connected with the school a shoe shop where all shoes worn in the school are made by the boys; a carpenter shop where such furniture as is used in the school, such as tables, desks, etc., are made by the boys, any building needed is constructed by them; a wagon shop in which wagons are made for the government; a blacksmith shop in which the wagons are ironed and a general business done for customers; a printing office, in which a small paper is edited and printed by the Indian children. All clothing worn in the school is manufactured by the Indian girls.

Writing of the hop outlook in Puyallup valley, a writer in the Tacoma Ledger says: We can grow hops cheaply in this Territory, probably at an average cost of less than three cents per pound, but when we come to harvest and deliver to the consumer there is found to be not much difference in the cost between this Territory and New York State. We have one great advantage in the certainty of our crops. This is in part counterbalanced by our remoteness from market; by the plain fact be it said, because of the lack of a standing in the market, a character, so to speak, of our hops. On the one hand we have a full crop in high priced, while other localities have short crops, causing high prices. On the other side we have a prejudice to overcome with consumers, a taint of suspicion pertaining to all hops from the Territory, because of some poor qualities that have gone from here. The growers have in a great measure the future of this business in Washington Territory in their own hands.

The reason that all bids called by the O. R. & N. Co., for furnishing iron to the Company for the year, was that the shops in Albina will be running soon and the Company will get the work done there.

Boise City boasts of no snow and no mud.

Moscow, Idaho, market report: Chickens are worth 25 cents, eggs 27 cents, butter 37 cents and potatoes and other vegetables scarce at 5 1/2 cents per pound.

The project of a wagon road up Canyon creek and thence to Harney, is being revived.

The howl of the gray wolf and the whine of the coyote are nightly heard in the vicinity of Canyon City.

The prospective completion of the road to Yaquina Bay has given that place a boom. Men are forming "pools" on tracts of land a few miles from the prospective terminus of the road, and with the assistance of gilt-edged and highly-colored maps, the land is being gobbled up at prices ranging from $100 to $150 per acre, and even higher.

The Indians on the Rancho Chico predict a great flood which is to float away all the farm houses in the Sacramento valley. When asked the reason for their belief they refer to the red sunsets.

It is a fact worthy of note, says the Albany Herald that people from abroad are constantly coming into this valley with a view of settling and becoming residents. Within the past year several valuable farms in Linn county have been sold to parties from abroad, and no doubt the same state of affairs exist in other counties of this fertile State of Oregon.

There are now twenty-one newspapers published in Montana.

Butte was lighted with electricity, for the first time, one night last week.

Officers connected with the Special Treasury Agency at the Custom House visited the bark William Hales, which arrived this week from Hong Kong, China, and seized a general assortment of smuggled Chinese goods valued at $500. Among the goods were silk shawls, crapes, scarfs, fans, fancy cabinets, carved shells and dishes.

The canneries are preparing for opening the season.

Ice teams are very busy in The Dalles, hauling to the storehouse.

The old-fashioned pack trains, with sawbuck saddles, stacks of goods fastened on the same in a manner only known to the initiated, single file march and the hardy and devil may-care drivers have become common objects on our streets, says the Spokane Falls, W. T., Review. The new mines, with narrow and not overly secure trails leading in and out, have made a demand for this slow and primitive mode of transportation, and in response to this demand fresh pack trains are found and put in operation constantly.

The hop industry in this county, says the Silverton, Oregon, Appeal, is receiving its share of attention. The high price prevalent a few months ago has greatly stimulated hop raising. Old yards were carefully tended and enlarged and many new ones started.

EASTERN.

Wendell Phillips died in Boston, Feb. 2, at 6 o'clock. Phillips was ill just one week, but not until Thursday was his condition considered dangerous by his physicians. Thursday night he failed rapidly, but Friday rallied slightly and passed a fairly comfortable night. Saturday afternoon his illness took a critical turn, and he gradually failed and passed quietly away about 6 o'clock, in the presence of his wife and niece. Phillips was in his 73d year.

The Harvard University has accepted the rowing challenge of Columbia team.

The faculty at Yale College send their "second admonition" to parents or guardians in registered letters, to prevent their interception by the students or their interested friends.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs; none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me."

HORACE FAIRBROTHER.

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried."

A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL."

JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles."

E. BRAGDON."

Faustine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.
